PURCHASING AGENT HITS PUBLIC SERVICE BOARD

Purser of S. S. Boston Arrives in Lowell

CHARGES PUBLIC SERVICE BOARD WITH USURPING AUTHORITY

Purchasing Agent Donnelly Claims Public Service Board is Attempting to Exercise an Authority That Has Been Delegated by Law to His Office

Purchasing Agent Edward Donnelly charges the members of the public service board with attempting to usurp authority belonging to him in connection with the purchase of a 1½ ton truck for the water department for which bids were opened yesterday morning.

The purchasing agent's charge comes as the result of a letter which the board instructed to be sent to him stating that the "truck to be purchased for the water department must meet with the approval of the board before award is made."

Although the letter is dated July 23, the purchasing agent did not receive it until this morning and made immediate reply. In his letter he says he is willing to receive recommendations from the board but refuses to allow them to make the award, which they are attempting to do, he claims.

The letter from the public service board to the purchasing agent follows: "At a meeting of the board of public service, held Wednesday, July 23, 1924, it was voted that the truck to be purchased for the water department, and for which bids will be opened July 24th, must meet with the approval of the board of public service, before award is made."

Mr. Donnelly's reply in part follows: "In reply to your communication, I beg to inform you that under yesterday's date I wrote to Supr. Gardner of the water works department requesting his recommendations be made at as early a date as possible, so that this office may not be unduly delayed in making an award, as to which truck was best suited to the needs of his department. I did this in order to cooperate with this department."

"At this time I would inform the board of public service, through you, that although I am always willing to receive their recommendations regarding the purchase of materials or supplies for the department under them, provided these recommendations are made before the award of the contract, nevertheless, I must refuse to allow them to make the award, which is what they are attempting to do, as this power has been delegated by law to this office alone."

Divorce Action Scheduled for Court Today Halted By Husband's Bullet

Turns Revolver on Himself With Fatal Results After Shooting Wife

WATERVLIET, N. Y., July 25.—Henry Leroy Adams of this city today shot and killed his wife, Anna, and then shot himself through the heart, inflicting a fatal wound. The authorities were informed that Adams fired at his wife from a vantage point in the Seven Oaks Camp Prayer meeting grounds as she was waiting to take a trolley car to Troy and that he then pursued her to the home of Mrs. Marie Conchran, where he shot her to death, through the door of a clothes closet in which the woman had taken refuge.

Mrs. Adams was on her way to visit a Troy attorney relative to obtaining a divorce when her husband fired upon her, the woman's friends said. The couple's domestic difficulties had been before courts several times, and the divorce case was expected to come up today.

LOEB FAVORED HANGING PENALTY IN FRANKS MURDER CASE

Newspaper Reporter Testifies to Conversation With Rich Slayer on Day Body of Lad Was Found—Noose Tightens as Witnesses Are Called

CHICAGO, July 25.—(By the Associated Press) The weaving of flimsy threads of circumstantial evidence into the finely-meshed web which holds Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb guilty of the kidnapping and murder of Robert Franks, was recounted today by witnesses who helped bring wealthy young college students to "the mercy of the court."

Police officers, newspaper reporters, and a friend of one of the boys were called by the state in the hearing before Judge John R. Caverly in full of the first hint of suspicion directed against the pair and of the development of a chain of accusative evidence which led eventually to the confession and guilty pleas.

Reporter Called
Howard Mayer, a Chicago reporter and student at the University of Chicago with the two defendants, told of Loeb's effort two days after the murder to give him a scoop by suggesting the probable course of the kidnappers in collecting the ransom money from Jacob Franks, father of the slain boy.

"Don't use my name in the story," Loeb exclaimed to another reporter, to whom he had given a "hot tip," Mayer said.
Loeb's elude, given him on May 23, Mayer testified, suggested that he go to the drug store to which the ransom letter written to the elder Franks directed the parents to call for a "Mr. Johnson," who would give him instructions for depositing of the ransom money.

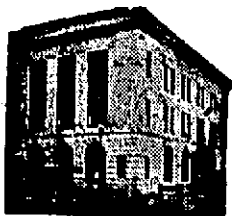

Loeb for Hanging
"Whoever committed that crime should be strung up," Loeb told Alvin Goldstein, reporter for the Chicago Daily News, on the day young Franks' body was found, the latter testified.
Two friends of Leopold earlier described "birding expeditions" in the vicinity of the culvert with Leopold and other students of ornithology, which was Leopold's hobby.

Interest Unabated
No abatement of interest was manifested when the third day's hearing against Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb, who have pleaded guilty to kidnapping and murdering Robert Franks, opened before Judge Caverly. Frank Blair, diver, who fished the

BOY FOUND ON ROAD IN SERIOUS CONDITION

A boy was found lying in an unconscious condition in the center of Rogers street near Rogers Hall school shortly after noon today by James Dugan of Andover, who was passing by in his machine.
The boy was taken by Dugan to St. John's hospital where he was identified as Walter Abbott, aged 15 years, of 19 Crosby street. While no definite information concerning the nature of his injuries was obtainable, it was said at the hospital that he is in a serious condition.

Dugan also reported the accident to police headquarters and advanced the theory that the boy had fallen from a truck, which he had passed a few moments before finding the lad.
A police investigation was started immediately but up to 1.30 p.m., no report had been made and the officer at the desk stated in his opinion Dugan's theory as to the boy falling from a truck was correct.

As Death Came Up Out of the Fog to Strike Happy Excursionists on the S. S. Boston

The picture in the upper right gives a clear idea of the damage to the "S. S. Boston" when the tanker, "Swift Arrow," lurched through the fog and darkness off Point Judith, R. I., and collided with the port side of the Boston-New York excursion boat. Through the stateroom can be seen two blood-stained pillows. Behind them one victim was wedged so tightly that acetylene torches had to be employed to cut away the battered structure to free him. To the left is Tommy Barbours, one of the youngest of those rescued. Below are (left to right) Agnes Keown, Frances McLaughlin, Rose McLaughlin and Gertrude McKeown, of Boston. They kept the life-preservers as mementoes of their thrilling adventure.

U. S. Treasury Department to Ask Permission to Board Vessels and Search—Letter Found on Motor Boat Exposes Sensational Activities Off Shore

NEW YORK, July 25.—Permission to board vessels of rum row to search for narcotics and aliens to be smuggled into the country will be sought by the U. S. Treasury department, it was announced today, following the seizure of a letter on a prisoner, indicating their presence on vessels anchored off shore.
The letter, written by a man on one of the boats to Robert Wylie, 3 Clay-born St. Glasgow, Scotland, stated that aboard the boats and also that an airplane was making six trips daily from the fleet with illicit cargoes of liquor. The letter bearing this information fell into the hands of the officials through the capture of power boat carrying 200 cases of liquor.

SPRINGFIELD GETS MILLIONS CHEAPLY

SPRINGFIELD, July 25.—The City of Springfield today floated a group of bonds totalling $4,134,000, the largest in its history, at a not interest rate for the entire issue of 3.56 per cent. A large amount of the loan was negotiated at the rate of 3½ per cent. a rate not equalled in 12 years. The loan was made by a syndicate of Boston and New York bankers. Of the total $4,794,000 will be used to pay the city's part in the cost of the Hampden county memorial bridge. The rest are school, sewer and park loans. The bonds run from one to 30 years.

S. S. BOSTON PURSER HOME

Harry G. Lawson Gives First Hand Word Picture of the Accident

Was Standing Within 30 Feet of Point Where Tanker Rammed Liner

At his home in Gorham street, Lowell, today for the first time since his boat, the Boston, was rammed in a thick fog off Point Judith last Monday night, Harry G. Lawson, the boat's purser, told the story of the collision as it looked to him at a spot not 30 feet distant from the point where the steel covered prow of the Swift Arrow gouged out a huge, gaping hole in the port side of the palatial Boston-New York liner.

Saying that he was dead tired, that last night, Thursday night, gave him his first sleep since the crash and that he had talked of the collision until he was hoarse, Mr. Lawson nevertheless went over it again for a representative of The Sun and made it possible for Lowell people to obtain a first-hand word picture of the accident.

Let Mr. Lawson tell the story: "The first thing I am inclined to say to you is that rumors of the actions of the boat's crew of 153 men at the time of the collision have been grossly misquoted," he began. "There has been criticism of the crew's inefficiency, but the fact that we landed nearly 200 passengers without serious injuries, that there was no hysteria, no panic, no stampede, is the answer to such criticism."

"Once a week on the Boston we have fire and boat drill. All the lifeboat equipment is tested and approved by government inspectors and it must be in perfect working order. It cannot be otherwise. The crew was well handled in the emergency and it did its work quickly and efficiently. No boats were dropped into the water one on top of the other. They were all properly lowered and were ready for use before passengers were ready to get into them."

"Now for the story of the crash," he continued. "I should say the time was about 11.40 p. m. There was a dense fog and I do not think the Boston was making any headway, at least, I was not conscious of the throttling of the engines. I had just made a round of the ship and had gone into the office on D deck. I heard the tanker blow once and in a few seconds blow again. The second whistle sounded so much nearer than the first that I thought whatever ship it was, she was traveling at a pretty fair rate. I went outside and looked over the rail. There were two men near me. Suddenly the Swift Arrow loomed up out of the fog, loomed up as big as the Woolworth building, and I hollered to the men."

NEW UNIFORMS FOR TRAFFIC OFFICERS

Traffic officers of the city will soon appear in new khaki uniforms similar to the ones worn by Boston traffic officers, according to a statement issued by the mayor today.

Decision to approve a requisition for these uniforms, the mayor said, was made after a conference with members of the public safety committee of the city council. The project met with general favor among the committee men.

There are 13 men on the traffic squad, 12 patrolmen and one traffic sergeant. The new uniforms will cost about $25 each and the city will pay one-half of the cost and the officers the other half. The mayor is ready for immediate action in this matter and will sign a requisition as soon as one is forwarded by Deputy Chief Downey, who is acting head of the police department during the illness of Chief T. R. Atkinson.

The new uniforms are to be of khaki mohair cloth, of military style, with Sam Browne belt and leather puttees.

COMPLETING PLANS FOR LABOR DAY

Trades and Labor council announces that Rev. Jones L. Corrigan, R.J., of Boston college, well known as a public orator and a student of social problems, will speak from the bandstand on South common, Labor day, in conjunction with the local observances arranged by organized labor.

Robert A. Bakeman of Fenbody, another invited guest, will speak on "The Abuses and Claims of Labor."

Entries for the baseball contests will be received from all teams playing in Lowell, and must be filed before Aug. 25. Thomas Crowe, secretary of the sports committee, 56 Fulton street, will receive entries. All other athletic events will remain open for entrants until Labor day.

COMMUNICATIONS

Editor of The Sun.

Dear Sir: In the event of having three Twilight leagues in the city, why could not Alumni field be opened to our Twilight leagues?

At the present time the Junior league is using "Academy" for home and home plate, with only two old seats for the fans. Conditions could be a lot better with little or no expense.

At the South common a 12-inch board, in fact the end of an egg box, is being used for home plate. Why not help the boys a little and keep sports growing in the city?

The fans of Lowell join us in asking: When will the First street oval be fit to use? 1924 or '30?

When will Washington park be made into respectable condition for ladies to witness baseball?

When will O'Donnell park have bleachers and be made suitable for ladies to attend?

When will the lawn tennis space be finished on the North common?

After July 1 it was promised to give the City Twilight league the right to use the South common for baseball games, to play two games a week, each team. Upon this statement the managers of the leagues spent $300 to $400 to outfit their teams, banking on the promise of the park department that the First street oval would be ready for the Lowell Twilight league to play ball. The managers of the City Twilight league are trying to produce clean sport and stimulate general interest in baseball, but support and co-operation from the park department is needed that this end may be reached.

This picture was taken immediately after the finding of the body. plays the part of a little Brooklyn shopgirl, who brings cheer into the home of a wealthy malron, whose life is just one of boredom, superinduced by too much money. The story is good, and its chief conveyor is past expression. "Don't Marry for Money," the picture which fills out the bill, is a whole of a picture. The management describes it as a story that fills the heart and fills the eyes. That description fits it. Don't miss this combination! And remember that at the Merrimack Square one can find coolness and comfort, two much to be desired conditions in these red-hot days and nights.

Marjorie Daw, Edward Earle, Hedda Hopper, Charlie Murray, Betty Francisco and Lee Moran are but a few of the stars who appear in "Gambling Wives," a modern drama that is now being shown at the Rialto theatre. "Gambling Wives" tells how both husband and wife are addicted to gambling, he with "the boys," and she "at bridge," with her friends. He loses the family savings, and she in trying to win it back gets all tangled up in a serious affair. How they both find themselves before it becomes too late forming the basis of this story. The picture is elaborately staged with both settings, and beautiful clothes. Neal Hart in "Butterfly Range," an

Baptist Minister Gives Tanlac Full Credit

No greater praise can be accorded a medicine than the voluntary testimony of a minister of the gospel. The preacher's high calling puts a grave responsibility on his every word, and he will not jeopardize his reputation by commending a thing without first assuring himself it is all right.

Tanlac has been endorsed by numbers of prominent ministers. They have put Tanlac to the test of personal service and their words carry conviction because they say what they know to be the truth.

One of the latest to speak out in behalf of Tanlac is Rev. B. E. Bell, a retired Baptist minister, 207 Elm St., San Antonio, Texas, who says:

"Before taking Tanlac I had suffered from stomach and nerve troubles for over 30 years and there were times when my condition was such that it required almost superhuman effort for me to prepare my sermons and go through with my Sunday services. Indeed, my work seemed like some great obstacle across my pathway—a burden too big to carry in my weak physical condition.

"But in six weeks' time Tanlac transformed my entire outlook, giving me what seemed like a new set of nerves and a brand new digestive system. My appetite became ravenous, my nerves steady, my liver action regular and I could sleep sound for the first time in years. Whenever I have the slightest symptoms of trouble now I always resort to Tanlac."

MANY UNEMPLOYED

Fewer Employed in June Than in May and for Lower Wages

(Special to The Sun)
BOSTON, July 25.—That there was no improvement in employment conditions in June, as compared with May, but that there was rather a less number of persons employed, and at lower average weekly wages, is indicated by reports submitted to the state department of labor and industries.

In accordance with its custom, the department collected from employers in Massachusetts statistics concerning their pay-rolls, taking in each month the figures for the pay-roll week ending nearest the 15th day. Eight hundred and fifty establishments, employing about one-third of all the workers in the state, reported in both months, and upon their figures the department bases its conclusions.

During the June week, there were employed in these establishments 193,261 persons, whose earnings aggregated $4,403,360, an average of $22.79 per person. For the May week, the total number employed was 193,014, their aggregate wages were $4,557,065, and the average wage per person was $23.60. Hence it will be noted that the number of employees dropped 5760, or 2.9 per cent; the aggregate pay-rolls were reduced $153,705, or 4.2 per cent; and the average weekly earnings fell off 31 cents, or 1.3 per cent.

In June, as compared with May, there were decreases in the number employed in 27 of the 36 industries reporting; and increases in nine. Average weekly earnings decreased in 20 industries, and increased in 16.

In the boot and shoe industry there was a decrease of 4506 employees, not confined to the principal centers, this figure representing 21.8 per cent. of the total number of employees in the establishments reporting. In cotton goods, there was an increase of 1474 employees, or 4.3 per cent. due to the resumption of operations in a large mill in Fall River. In woolen and worsted goods, there was an increase of 362 employees, or 4.3 per cent. due principally to increased activity in several of the smaller localities.

Fluctuations of more than $2 per week in earnings occurred in three industries, and there were four others in which the change was between $1 and $2. The largest increase was $1.81 per week in cars and general shop construction; the largest decrease was $2.87, in musical instruments.

Of the 860 establishments reporting, 240, or 28.2 per cent, were reported as operating on full time and at full capacity. The remaining 610, or 71.8 per cent, were not operating up to normal capacity. Of these, 241, or 28.7 per cent, of the total, were operating on full time, but at part capacity, and 369, or 38.5 per cent, were operating on part time and at part capacity. Thirty establishments were reported idle, these including eight in the boot and shoe industry, and seven in the cotton goods industry.

Normal operating schedules, it will be noted, continued to be the exception. In only six of the 36 industries included in the report did the number of establishments operating normally exceed the number operating below normal. These included bread and other bakery products; printing and publishing, book and job; printing and publishing, newspapers; rubber goods; slaughtering and meat packing; and tobacco manufacture.

For some of the leading cities, the statistics are as follows:

Establishments Reporting	Employed May, 1924	Employed June, 1924	Average Earnings May, 1924	Average Earnings June, 1924
Boston	178	25,544	$25.14	$26.38
Brockton	34	8,489	4,081	22.70
Cambridge	40	5,546	8,345	24.01
Fall River	20	6,597	5,993	20.05
Hingham	18	3,537	3,510	21.63
Haverhill	34	2,576	2,157	24.38
Holyoke	11	2,395	2,351	25.29
Lawrence	15	8,062	8,158	19.26
Lowell	16	8,206	3,182	17.40
Lynn	23	8,964	8,332	25.41
New Bedford	25	10,327	8,949	18.55
Peddy	15	2,618	2,177	25.05
Springfield	38	7,214	6,905	25.35
Taunton	18	3,034	2,395	24.49
Worcester	56	11,594	11,669	27.26

Comparing the month of June with the same month one year ago, it is found that the decrease in the number employed has been nearly 20 per cent.

Several of the leading industries, in fact, showed a decrease in excess of 20 per cent, these including cotton goods, boots and shoes, foundry and machine shop products, rubber products, and electrical machinery, apparatus and supplies. Those which reported decreases ranging between 10 and 50 per cent, were woolen and worsted goods, dyeing and finishing textiles, and paper and wood pulp.

Of the establishments reporting in June, 1924, 382 submitted figures showing separately the wages of male and female employees. In these establishments the average weekly earnings of male employees were $27.08, and of females $16.91.

Average weekly earnings in excess of $20 were paid to males in these industries: Women's clothing, printing and publishing, book and job and news paper; furniture and men's clothing. For females, average weekly earnings in excess of $20 were noted only in printing and publishing, those on newspaper work receiving $26.50, and on book and job work, $22.24.

Threatened to Kill Him

day, he said, when Gendreau, after accusing him of killing a pet dog, diverting water on his farm in Wigganville and erecting road blockades in the same locality, threatened to shoot him with a revolver. "For the sake of safety first," said Laporte, "I ran away from him."

Other witnesses who corroborated Laporte's testimony were Andrew Jones, Joseph Lamotte, Joseph A. Langlois, while the defense introduced as material witnesses, Mrs. Gendreau, defendant's mother, his brother, Arthur Gendreau and Arthur Barber. Upon hearing both sides of the case, Judge Enright said he felt satisfied that the whole affair was the outcome of family difficulties.

Laporte and Gendreau own adjoining tracts of land in Wigganville over which there has been considerable dispute. The case will be re-heard in superior court, defendant being released today in $300 bonds.

SOME PRANKS A TORNADO PLAYED

LA FOLLETTE BOOMERS HAVE MEETING

WASHINGTON, July 25.—The national executive committee of the La Follette presidential campaign was called together for its first meeting here today. Ten men and women, to whom the Wisconsin senator yesterday delegated practically complete authority, were summoned for the meeting, which promised to be prolonged. Among the committee's problems were questions affecting the selection of presidential electors, the endorsement of candidates seeking to run with the general La Follette endorsement for offices in several states, and plans for financing the campaign.

FRANK RIGGS GAVE THE COPS A RIDE

Violence of an early-morning holdup in the vicinity of the Middlesex street depot confronted the police today when a telephone message at 3:30 a. m. conveyed the news that a man giving the name of Frank Riggs of Lincoln street, had been robbed of $50 in cash, and a Boston and Maine railroad pass. Officers Charles Sharkey and Wilfred McDonald were detailed to investigate. While proceeding to the scene in an automobile, they picked up Sgt. Frank Maloney, but upon arrival at the depot, the hold-up theory was exploded by Riggs himself, who stated that everything was all right, and that he knew the man who had his money. As he stated that he did not want further police assistance, the cops returned to the station.

VOLTMETER HANDY

A voltmeter is especially useful to check up on the strength of the B and C batteries, where several tubes are used and the drain on plate voltage is high. The storage battery is tested by a hydrometer.

LA FOLLETTE TO HAVE NEW YORK TICKET

NEW YORK, July 25.—Two sets of congressional, state senatorial and assembly candidate to run on the presidential ticket, headed by Senators La Follette and Wheeler, will be placed in the field within the next fortnight following conventions of the two parties, it was announced today. The first convention will be that of the socialist party, beginning Saturday and lasting over Sunday. The second will be that of the American labor party to be held here early in August. In order to have a place on the ballot, the American labor party will use the emblem of the socialist party, the latter party being the only group affiliated with the American labor party which has legal standing in the state.

THREW MATCHES IN AUTO'S GAS TANK

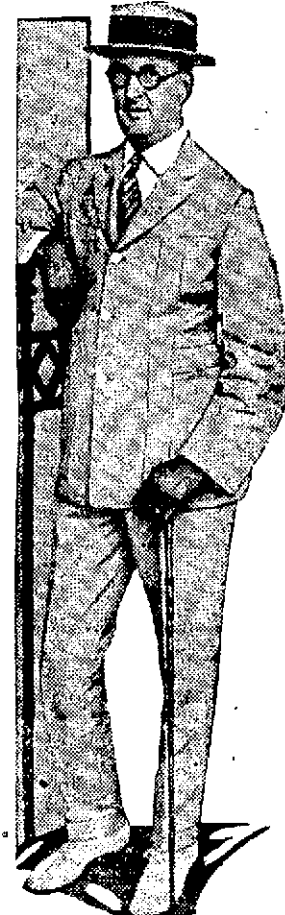

BROOKTON, Mass., July 25.—Dropping matches into the gas tank of an old automobile standing in a yard at 64 Plymouth street, may prove fatal to Alphonse Pilla, 14, of 65 Plymouth street, and Thomas Rodophe, 11, of 69 Plymouth street. The tank exploded and the two boys were badly burned about the face and body. The automobile was wrecked. Three doctors and the police ambulance responded to an emergency call. The accident occurred at 10:30 this morning.

SEVEN TIMES A WIDOW, PLANS TO TAKE 8TH MATE

BEAUVOIR, Miss., July 25.—Mrs. Mary Sanders, 74 years old, seven times a widow, will be married to her eighth husband Sunday afternoon. The bridegroom is to be A. J. Fuller, 96 years old. Six of her former husbands were Confederate soldiers. Mrs. Sanders and Mr. Fuller are inmates of the Jeffersons Day Soldiers' Home. Uncle Pat McLaughlin, a bachelor, 104 years old, and also a Confederate veteran and inmate of the home will act as best man at the wedding.

GOOD OLD DAYS!

"Them was the days!" sighs B. E. Terry of New York as he recalls the time this suit was new. It cost $4 then. But that was 30 years ago. "You'd have to pay $30 for it now," he sadly reflects.

Deadlocked on Dawes Resolution

Continued
American financiers over the sufficiency of the guarantees which must accompany the proposed $40,000,000 loan to Germany. The bankers insist that they are interested only in the proper security for the loan and that they will expect a formula embodying their outline to be produced before they will approve the loan.

France maintains her original stand, namely, that she will abide by the treaty of Versailles and that in the event of willful German defaults she will have the right to impose sanctions who matter whether the other allies collaborate or not.

Chief McAdoo Backer With Davis for Conference

vacation, a considerable amount of his time in the past few days has been taken up with conferences with party leaders. Besides William R. Patterson, democratic candidate for governor of Maine, and Fulton J. Redman, the democratic candidate for United States senator from this state, the nominee conferred yesterday with Andrew J. Peters, mayor of Boston at the time of the police strike there, and former Senator Willard Saulsbury of Delaware.

All of the visitors were said to have given him encouraging reports on the general political situation. Mr. Peters said there was a large independent vote in Massachusetts that would support Mr. Davis and that, in his judgment, there were good prospects that the democrats would carry Rhode Island and New Hampshire.

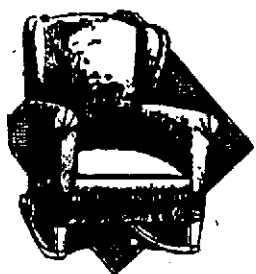

The mail reaching Mr. Davis here is daily increasing in volume. While no efforts have yet been made looking toward the financing of the campaign, some contributions are being received. Among the latest is one of $50 and another of $20, both from anonymous donors. Perhaps a dozen suggestions for the campaign slogans have been received and the first samples of Davis campaign buttons came in on the last mail steamer from Rockland.

PORTUGUESE FLIERS RETURN BEATEN

HONOLULU, July 25.—(By the Associated Press) The Portuguese aviators, Lieuts. Belros and Paes, who flew from Lisbon to Shanghai, near Hong Kong, damage to their airplane preventing their continuing to their destination, Macao, are returning to Europe by steamship and railway. A despatch from the governor of Macao to the Portuguese consul general here says the aviators are sailing from Hong Kong to Seattle.

COOLIDGE READY TO START ON SPEECH

WASHINGTON, July 25.—President Coolidge is gathering considerable information on the presidential situation in West Virginia, the home state of John W. Davis, his democratic rival in November election.

Republican leaders generally regard West Virginia as one of the battle-grounds of the campaign because it is Mr. Davis' home state. Hughes carried the state by about 3,000 against Wilson in 1916, and Harding had a plurality of about 60,000 votes over Cox four years ago.

Mr. Coolidge continues to devote the odds and ends of his time to working on his acceptance speech. He has not started actual dictation of the address but is engaged in assembling his material and in drafting the outline. He hopes to have it completed ten days in advance of the notification ceremonies on August 14.

CROWN PRINCE IS HAMBURG VISITOR

HAMBURG, Germany, July 25.—Former Crown Prince Frederick William is spending three days here inspecting the export facilities of various firms and viewing the large ocean liners.

He took luncheon today on board a Hamburg-American steamer after spending last night at the home of former Chancellor Cuno at Aumuehle, a suburb. He was cordially cheered wherever he was recognized.

TWO MAYORS RUNNING FLINT'S AFFAIRS

By N.E.A. Service
FLINT, Mich., July 25.—This is a city with two mayors.

And both are trying to run its affairs.

David R. Cuthbertson, recalled at a special election July 15, refuses to abdicate the mayor's office to Judson Transue, elected, with the aid of the Ku Klux Klan, to serve out the unexpired term of eight months.

With Cuthbertson still holding down the mayor's easy chair and still riding in the mayor's big limousine, Transue, duly sworn in, is walking to work and conducting the city's official business from the city clerk's office.

Betty Sturdivant, official secretary to the mayor, is having the busiest time of her career.

When anybody drops around to see the mayor, she is compelled to ask, "Which mayor?"

Transue, immediately after being sworn in, went to the mayor's apartment to take charge. Cuthbertson, however, still sat in the big easy chair at the mahogany desk. And he refused to budge a foot.

He asked Transue if he personally would undertake the putting out job. Transue replied he might, if it wasn't for the fact that he was suffering from sciatic rheumatism.

"You couldn't put me out, anyway," retorted the husky Cuthbertson, once a lumberjack.

"Don't be too sure about that," replied his rival. "I used to be a pretty good boxer."

Cuthbertson was swept into the mayor's office in April, 1923, largely through the women's help. But soon after he took up the reins recall rumblings began to be heard.

They materialized this spring. And after the recall had carried, Cuthbertson became a candidate to succeed himself. He received 10,024 votes against 11,483 polled by Transue.

Cuthbertson, however, contends there were irregularities in the election. In one precinct, more votes were cast than there were voters, he insists.

And he'll stay in office, he declares, until he is "thrown out."

SUMMER ACTIVITIES AT GIRLS' CITY CLUB

A meeting of the executive committee of the Girls' City Club under the chairmanship of Miss Helen Ryan, was held last evening at which time several matters of importance were discussed and disposed of. Since the acquisition of the new property known as the Green Lantern, various policies and methods of procedure in conducting the establishment have been tried. That a set program of activities with regular dates was needed was clearly seen by the management and last evening a tentative program for August was drawn up. September will mark the beginning of the winter for both clubs and recreation hall, and initial plans were made last evening and programs arranged. Among the more important rules compiled last evening was the dancing schedules including admission price. During the month of August, dances at the Green Lantern will be held on Friday evenings only. The subscription for both gentlemen and ladies will remain the same. Club members whose dues are paid up to date will be admitted for fifteen cents, the regular amount charged at winter parties. The charge becomes effective this evening.

Monday evening the ukelele and song clubs will meet at the Green Lantern.

Extensive plans are being made for the annual convention of the State League of Girls' Clubs which this year meets in Lowell. Programs of sports, songs, cheers and other entertainment are being arranged. Following a sumptuous banquet the entertainment will be enjoyed at the Green Lantern. The Green Lantern is open every evening for members desiring to enjoy the restful atmosphere and invigorating breezes of the Merrimack.

He will fly to Merselles, Lausanne, Rotterdam and London and then will follow the route of the American round the world fliers, when they start for Greenland.

ELECTROCUTED FOR STRANGLING GIRL

ROSSING, N. Y., July 25.—Jui Eugenio Lozada, a Philippine, was put to death in the electric chair at Sing Sing prison yesterday for the murder of Blossom Martin, whom he strangled to death a year ago in the home of a

New York physician by whom they were employed. A few hours before Lozada left his cell the keepers of the prison discovered in the barred chamber a home-made bludgeon with which it is thought Lozada might have intended to escape. It was fashioned from a paper tightly rolled and glued.

STATE'S CASE AGAINST CHICAGO YOUTHS NEARLY CONCLUDED

Every Indication That Prosecutor Crowe Will Sum Up On Monday—Thirty More Witnesses to Be Heard Before Confessions Are Read in Court

CHICAGO, July 25 (By the Associated Press)—Prospects of completing by Monday the introduction of evidence against Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb, loomed today as more witnesses added their stories to those already told in the judicial hearing which is to determine the penalty to be meted out to the two slayers of Robert Franks. Thirty witnesses were scheduled to take the stand today and tomorrow, if there is no delay, the confessions of the two millionaires' sons and university students who said they killed for an experiment, will be read. Monday is expected to see State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe close his case and the defense open its testimony, designed to mitigate the punishment.

DROWNING TRAGEDY NARROWLY AVERTED

A drowning tragedy was narrowly averted at Long pond, in Littleton, Wednesday afternoon, when Beatrice Bond of Wright street, North Chicago, a young girl, got beyond her depth and called for help. Lucy Potter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Justin Potter of Princeton street, North Chelmsford, a youthful swimming companion, came to the assistance of the helpless girl and managed to bring her ashore after a hard struggle. The girls had gone out on a raft some distance from shore where the water was over their height. The Bond girl became exhausted on the return journey.

MAN BITTEN BY ALLIGATOR

Moss-Picker Thought He Stepped on a Log But Learned Differently

Brother's Rifle Shot Kills 16-Footer and Saves Man's Life

MARKSVILLE, La., July 25.—Thomas Briggs of Little River, near here, was recovering today from attack yesterday of a 16-foot alligator he encountered while picking moss in the swamp.

In crossing a swamp containing about four feet of water Briggs stepped on something he thought was a log.

The "log" proved to be an alligator which caught Briggs above the knee, cracking the bone of his leg. After a struggle the alligator let go and made a vicious and unsuccessful attempt to catch Briggs' body.

Briggs' cries attracted attention of a brother nearby who shot and killed the alligator.

HELD BOX PARTY

The barn of St. John's parish house in Chelmsford was the scene last evening of a highly enjoyable box party and entertainment, largely attended by young and old, who gaily participated in numerous festivities of the season, and also partook of box luncheon.

"For two," Daniel E. Haley once more acted as auctioneer, arousing eager competition and securing good prices for the delectables sold in this manner. General dancing was enjoyed all the evening. During intermission, a splendid musical program by pupils of Colburn's academy of pianoforte was given. There were also solo dances by Miss Letendre. The committees in charge included Mrs. Emily Lillard, rector, chairman; Mrs. Robert Donahue, Mrs. H. L. Hisebe, Mrs. Georgianna Genest, Mrs. Lawrence Judge, Mrs. Joseph Woodhead, Mrs. Esther Rutner, Mrs. Henry Courtemarche and Messrs. Joseph L'Heureux, Cornelius Riley, John Keefe, Thadde Ducharme, James Sullivan and John White.

RUSSIA PREPARES TO MEET FAMINE

MOSCOW, July 25.—(By the Associated Press) The soviet government has appropriated $32,000,000 for the purpose of coping with the threatened famine in Russia according to an announcement just made by the central committee of the communist party.

Of this amount, $15,000,000 will be used for seed and the rest for the direct assistance of the peasants in the worst affected areas.

The central committee's announcement says that this year's shortage of grain will be 150,000,000 poods. A pood represents 61.3 pounds.

WIFE WANTS DIVORCE DECREE SET ASIDE

NEW YORK, July 25.—An interlocutory decree of divorce obtained against James McVickar by his wife, the former Mrs. William Disston of Philadelphia, has been set aside at her own request, it is announced by Edward W. McMahon, her counsel.

The decree, obtained in an uncontested action on May 7, was to become final on Aug. 7. Mr. McMahon said he appeared for Mrs. McVickar in the supreme court at Nyack, N. Y., on July 11, and when he gave reasons for not desiring the decree to become final, the court set it aside.

Mr. and Mrs. McVickar, who are both socially prominent, were married in December, 1922, in Jersey City. Mr. McVickar previously had been divorced, his first wife having been Mrs. Daisy Emerson Horner McVickar, daughter of a millionaire manufacturer of Baltimore. The present Mrs. McVickar's daughter is the wife of John Wanamaker, 2d.

ART EXHIBITION AT WHISTLER HOUSE

A summer exhibition of paintings under the auspices of the Lowell Art association has been opened at the Whistler House and until further notice the house will be open daily to visitors. The canvases now hanging are by Boston artists and in the group are many striking compositions, some of them more or less familiar to those persons who follow exhibitions of the Guild of Boston Artists and the Boston Art club. On the whole it is a showing that well depicts the work of some of the best known Boston painters and allows Lowell people to become more intimate with them.

Among the artists who have pictures in the exhibit are John Lavallo, W. A. Kirkpatrick, Leslie P. Thompson, Marjorie Danforth Page, Harley Perkins, Philip L. Hale, William W. Churchill, Stanley Woodward, H. Dudley Murphy, Mary Earl Wood, Rosamond Smith, J. H. Emerson and Jean Nutting Oliver.

The exhibition will at least continue through August and September.

ASKS ACTOR TO SUPPORT CHILD

Mrs. Martha Farrell has arrived in Chicago to insist that Billy Farrell, vaudeville headliner, who she says is the father of her son, aid in the boy's support. She had learned, she declares, Billy had married again because he thought she had obtained a divorce. He since has divorced his second wife. Farrell contends he was forced into marrying Martha, at the point of a revolver, when she was 16 and he was just 14. Martha says she will free him so he can wed his dancing partner, Nancy Reed.

Little Gifts From Conscience-Stricken, Add $600,000 to Uncle Sam's Coffers

He made a bet when a boy.

That he could send a letter without a stamp

He won, then his conscience hurt him

So he returned two cents to the Government

BY LARRY BOARDMAN
N. E. A. Service Writer

WASHINGTON, July 25.—Most people, at heart, are honest. Their conscience won't let them be otherwise. So believes Frank J. Thiel, assistant United States treasurer, who has charge of the federal conscience fund, now totaling more than $600,000.

The fund is made up of money sent to the government by individuals who have at one time or another defrauded the government. And their conscience will not give them peace.

Fear is in no way a factor, for in almost every case the money is mailed in long after possibility of deception has passed.

Started Fund

The fund was started in 1811. A contribution of $5 was sent in by a man who gave no name, but explained he owed the money to the government.

Treasury officials pondered long over the entry, finally deciding to put it down as "conscience."

Since that time anonymous contributions have totaled nearly $600,000, the largest item being a contribution of $30,000 in gold certificates.

Frank J. Thiel, assistant United States treasurer, keeps a watchful eye on the fund, partly because of official duty and partly because of personal interest.

"The conscience fund shows a wholesome condition," he says. "It indicates that people aren't so bad after all."

"A man will defraud the government. That, of course, is wrong. But the point is he knows it's wrong, and the thought won't let him rest. Years later, even after chance of discovery is past, his 'still, small voice' moves him to restitution.

FRANK J. THIEL

"We receive many remittances from ministers, who forward them in behalf of penitents. Once we received $14,250 from St. Paul's church in London.

"Once we published the fact that the fund's smallest remittance was 2 cents. Shortly afterward, we received a long letter from a Chicagoan, saying he was the individual who had sent it. 'It was conscience money,' he explained, for a bet he had made when a boy that he could send a letter through the mail without using a stamp.

"He won the bet—and his conscience hurt him ever since."

Another man once sent half of eight $1000 bills, which he had cut in two, explaining he owed the government $6000 and would mail the other half when he saw a notice in the newspapers that the first half had been received. He did.

FINE MAN WHO POSED AS MOVIE MAGNATE

Edward Moran, the self-styled ches who posed as a movie magnate and rode around town in a taxicab all day Wednesday, free of charge, was fined $25 in district court this morning when he was adjudged guilty of the larceny of $2 from Eldora Monaghan, owner of the cab. A charge of drunkenness was placed on file.

ROLL, DON'T FOLD

Large dollies and table covers should always be rolled, not folded.

TAIL-END MACKS BOAST TRIO OF THIRD BASEMEN

PHILADELPHIA, July 25.—While several major league clubs are sadly in need of a competent third baseman, the tail-end Athletics boast three good players at that position.

Jimmy Dykes, regarded as a coming star at the position about three years ago, stands about third in the line.

Evidently Connie Mack has decided that Dykes isn't cut out to be a third sacker, despite the fact that he has a great arm, a wonderful asset to a player at that position. He is used at second.

A year ago Sammie Hale was purchased at the reputed cost of about $50,000. He failed to live up to advance notices and was soon derelicted in favor of Dykes.

Meantime, Mack has apparently decided that Riconda, who has been playing substitute roles, is superior to the other two. He has the call at present.

CANDLERS AGAIN HALED TO COURT

ATLANTA, Ga., July 25.—Asa G. Candier, Jr., and Walter T. Candier, were made defendants in a $25,000 suit filed by attorneys for Clyde K. Byfield yesterday in Decatur, Ga., it was learned today.

The suit asked damages for alleged humiliation and damage suffered when the Candiers made an attempt to take forcibly a note for $20,500 from Byfield. The suit grew out of an incident alleged to have occurred aboard the steamship Berengaria, when Mrs. Byfield was alleged to have been attacked in her stateroom by Walter T. Candier.

CONSTANTLY IMPROVED BUT NO YEARLY MODELS

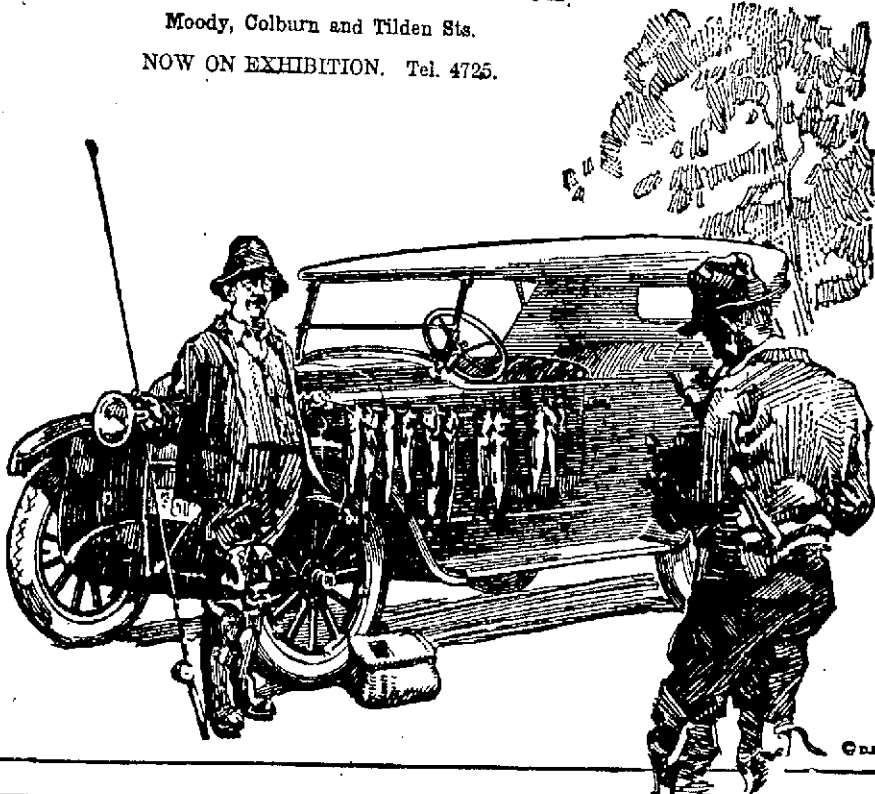

There are obvious benefits to the purchaser in Dodge Brothers policy of making constant, gradual refinements in their product instead of changing from one design to another year after year.

Chief among these is the fact that the car may be operated throughout the full limit of its usefulness without the extra depreciation loss which results from a rapid succession of radically different models.

TUNNEY DENIES FOUL

Carpentier Wants Return Match With American Light Heavyweight Champ

NEW YORK, July 25.—Gene Tunney today denied that the blow which crippled Georges Carpentier in the 14th round of last night's battle was foul, as alleged by Carpentier and his manager, Francois Descomps.

"It was an uppercut to the pit of the stomach," said Tunney. Carpentier has declared that he was struck low.

"I had been laying for that blow all through the fight," continued Gene Carpentier, for whom a defeat in last night's match had been expected to mean retirement from the ring, said he could not give up his career until he had avenged himself on Tunney.

P. A. C. TEAM TRIMS THE VICTORIAS

In one of the fastest and hottest games ever played on the old North common, the P.A.C. baseball team last night defeated the Victorias by the score of 3 to 2.

Each team played a superb brand of ball. The winning runs of the P.A.C. crowd were set up in the first frame by Belanger, McDonough and Smith. From then until the end of the game neither a hit nor a run was gathered by the winners.

The Victorias managed to connect with four hits during the fray but were able to score only two of them. The first Victorian run came over in the fifth when with three men on, White managed to get home on an out to first. Lemieux crossed the platter on a one-bagger and a pair of out-field errors in the seventh. Noel drove a hot one to Koponakes who threw to Gagnon, catching Arnaud out at second and ending the game.

Another Junior Twilight League game is scheduled for this evening when the Emeralds meet the St. Joseph Cadets, league toppers, at 6:15, on the North common.

There is a touch of yesterday in the ice barges that are tugged into New York these summer days. There is not enough artificial ice manufactured to meet demand and ice, taken from lakes in the Catskill mountains last winter and stored in ice houses, is shipped into New York on the ice barges every day.

Capt. Kidd, the famous pirate, lived on Pearl street in lower New York. Many of his descendants are said to reside in the neighborhood today.

SECRET SPIRAL STAIRS
IN COURTROOM

LONDON, July 24—In the central hall of the law courts there are staircases which wind round large pillars which are various court rooms. Few leading to corridors and galleries in the huge pillars also contain specially people climbing them are aware that built secret staircases for bringing down people who make themselves objectionable in court. They have been used on various occasions.

Once when a man flourished a revolver in court, reinforcements were hurried up by the spiral stairway and the man brought down in the same way. On other occasions disturbers who chained themselves in the gallery have been brought down quietly by the secret way.

IN NEW YORK

By Stephen Hannagan

NEW YORK, July 25.—Chinatown is wearing gala attire these nights.

The greatest Chinese grand opera company in existence is playing at Minner's Howerly theatre, where Weber & Fields once held sway and where persistent villains were thwarted from capturing the heroine every night by some hero of melodrama.

Chinatown is enjoying the sensation of its own theatre. Prices range from $1 to $5 and there are no vacant seats.

It has been ten years since the last Chinese company played in a theatre on Doyers street, played to a drama enacted in the audience while the paid performers watched in terror from the stage.

One night members of the Hip Sing and on Leong tongs staged a pistol battle in the midst of a performance. The Hip Sings occupied seats in the front and rear of the theatre. When the fight broke the On Leongs were the Sings.

Three died in the first volley and centre targets for the strategic Hip six more were dying before the reign of long terror subsided within the ghastly play house.

But today all Chinatown is serene as the inhabitants turn out to hear tunes written 1000 years ago. Princess Chan Wei Fong, the prima donna, is a direct descendant of the Manchus.

There are 36 principals and an orchestra of six, which plays native instruments, in the organization that has come from China to delight the colony in New York a colony of thrifty workers slaving to make the fortune that will enable them to live in comfort when they return across the sea.

Oscar Tschirky, maître d'hôtel who took up his position at the Waldorf six months before the hotel opened in 1893, is going to have his first vacation this summer.

He never has been away from the hotel longer than four days in succession.

Oscar, an international character, is a favorite with famous men. Charles Schenck would never consider a trip to the Waldorf complete unless he had a chat with Oscar.

Oscar, who is responsible for everything pertaining to the food at the famous hotel, also plays the piano.

GIRL DROWNS AT ROSELAND

Miss Marjorie M. Moore, 21, of Lawrence, Loses Life
in Merrimack

Makes Third Drowning Accident in That Vicinity in
As Many Days

LAWRENCE, July 25.—Marjorie M. Moore, 21-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Moore of 14 Wendell street, was drowned late yesterday in the Merrimack river, the third drowning in this district in the last three days. According to the Methuen police, Leonard Lagasse of 235 Broadway, Lawrence, told them the girl and her sister, Alice, 18, were swimming with him in the river, just over the Methuen line, near Roseland, a summer resort. Suddenly and without warning, he said, both girls seized him. He said he had great difficulty in shaking them off, but finally did so and then brought Alice to the shore, about 15 feet away. He then dived into the river to get Marjorie, but she had disappeared. The Methuen police and volunteers dragged the river for a considerable time and were getting ready to use dynamite when the body of the girl was recovered by George Clark and Wilfred Lacourse of this city.

"BOB" BARBERS THINK THEY ARE UNFAIRLY PAID

CHICAGO, July 25.—Bobbed hair is given as the cause of wage increase demands being made by the journeymen barbers' union, which threatens a strike vote next week if an agreement is not reached.

"With bobs ranging in price from $1 to $1.50 with the prospect of curling, marcelling and shampooing, with the barber having to go to school to learn how to do it, we want more money," W. S. Leidy, union president said. The present scale is $26 a week, with sixty per cent of all checks over a total of $38. The demand is for $38 salary and the same percentage of all over $50.

BRYAN'S TRIUMPHAL RETURN

NEW MEXICO EDITOR IS GIVEN FREEDOM

SANTA FE, N. M., July 25.—More than two days after he was sentenced to jail at Las Vegas for contempt of court and after Sheriff Delgado twice had refused to honor pardons for him issued by Governor J. F. Hinkle, Carl Magee, is at liberty under $2500 bond. The Albuquerque editor was released last night following hearing on a writ of habeas corpus before the state supreme court. In a session replete with charges and counter-charges the state tribunal granted the editor temporary liberty pending the outcome of the court's deliberations regarding the power of pardon vested in the state executive in case of direct contempt. Attempts by D. O. Askren of Las Vegas, appearing as attorney for Sheriff Delgado, to inject the question of validity of the pardons granted Magee, met with failure and the court also refused to entertain his motion that Magee be forbidden to publish anything concerning the trial in his newspaper, the New Mexico State Tribune.

BAY STATE CIRCUIT RACES ATTRACTIVE

GREENFIELD, July 25.—Jilly Fleming drove two winners on the second day of the Bay State circuit meeting yesterday, showing in front in straight heats with John Kyle in the 2:20 pace over the three-quarter-mile route and coming home in front with Guesswork in the 2:15 pace, a $2000 stake.

Fleming also won this race in straight heats. Sayde Worthing, in the money only once in her two previous starts, out-trotted the field in the 3-year-old trot and won handsily, after dropping the first heat to Clover Guy.

Canners of fruit and vegetables use great quantities of all kinds of boxes for shipping their products.

LAWRENCE BOY MISSING FOR HIS 20TH TIME

LAWRENCE, July 25.—Nine-year-old Stanley Sobolowski of 13 Archer street has just established a record with the police of this city that they say will be hard to beat. For the 20th time within the last year Stanley's wanderlust got the best of him and he is reported as having wandered away again. His last escapade of this character came on Saturday of last week. He was found on Sunday morning wandering around Lawrence common. Neither punishment nor kind words have had any effect on him, and the boy has been unable to offer any explanation for his desire to wander.

NEW CENTRAL BRIDGE NEEDED

We are glad to find the Centralville Improvement association taking up the question of a new Central bridge and the widening of Bridge street from Amory street to First street. That would call for a wider bridge; and if we are to have a new bridge, it must be at least as wide as Bridge street at Kearney Square so as to afford space for double car tracks and an auto driveway and sidewalk on either side.

This would necessitate the removal of a section of the Boot mill building on the west side and part of the Massachusetts company's building on the east side. It is not exactly determined by what right either company encroached upon the original roadway which was evidently laid out on the line of Bridge street from the square to Amory street, thus providing a street 65 feet in width. From Amory street to the bridge, the width is only 50 feet and the bridge itself is 55 feet wide. This is entirely too narrow to meet the demands of traffic over this route which is a section of the state highway through the Merrimack Valley to New Hampshire. The double car tracks are laid close to the easterly sidewalk on the bridge and the driveway on the other side is much too narrow to accommodate the great stream of traffic that is daily crossing the bridge in either direction.

The Sun nearly a year ago, pointed out the need of widening Bridge street from Amory to First street and the construction of a new and a wider bridge as part of the improvement. Some months ago the city council appointed a committee to investigate and report upon plans for a new bridge and the alternative proposition of repairing the old. As Engineer Kearney is a member of this committee, it is expected that the report soon to be submitted, will contain some very valuable information on the whole subject. It will then be incumbent upon the city council either to take steps to provide for the widening of Bridge street and the construction of a new bridge, or else to repair the old structure and leave the main task to some future city government.

The present bridge is wholly inadequate to the needs of our city and should, therefore, be torn down and a new structure provided in its place. It would be necessary to construct a temporary foot bridge across the river for public convenience during the work of constructing a new bridge, but all the vehicular traffic would have to detour to the Aiken street bridge. This improvement is practically imperative and the sooner it is undertaken the better for all concerned.

While it would be a costly proposition to widen Bridge street and construct a new bridge, yet most people who have studied the question, will admit that it would be a waste of money to repair the old bridge and that the widening of Bridge street and the construction of a wider and more substantial bridge to take the place of the present shaky, dangerous, inadequate and antiquated structure, offers the only proper solution.

DEMOCRATIC VICTORY INDICATED

Already some of the republican dopesters are figuring that President Coolidge will carry New York state, their chief reason for such a claim being that with the La Follette defection, President Coolidge cannot be elected without the vote of New York. But there is absolutely no reason for assuming that he can carry the Empire state. Governor Smith is the recognized leader of the democracy in New York. He is extremely popular, and as he will stump that state and others for Davis, it is difficult to see where Coolidge will gain the strength which his adherents claim for him. With the loss of republican states, to La Follette, it is plain that the republicans cannot win without New York, nor, making every concession to their claims, could they win with New York if La Follette carries even one-fourth of the states he claims to be favorable to his candidacy.

Despite the fact of Senator Wheeler's appeals, the main strength of the La Follette candidacy will be drawn from the republican party; and for this reason the defeat of that party is already a foregone conclusion. All the talk about a sweeping victory for Coolidge is sheer hot air. The people are tired of the dull business they have had under the republican administration and they want a change. The choice is between Davis and La Follette; and we do not believe the electorate will have any difficulty in deciding between a real statesman and a political insurgent in the role of dictator.

FREE STATE BOUNDARY

The Irish Free State has thus far carried out its part in the observance of the treaty under which the government was founded. That treaty provided for the settlement of the boundary line between the Free State and Ulster by the appointment of a commission in which the parties concerned would each be represented by a commissioner, and the British government by a third. Ulster refused to appoint a commissioner as provided for in the treaty and now the question of compelling her to comply with the provisions of the treaty is being considered by the privy council in session in London. Premier MacDonald wishes to know whether the provision of the treaty requiring Ulster to appoint a representative on the boundary commission is legal. If the privy council so decides, he will then proceed to enforce the treaty against the protests of Ulster.

Should Ulster be allowed to have her way in this case as she did in 1914, when she set up a form of dictatorship and defied the empire to give Ireland home rule, the result would be that the republican movement in Ireland would receive a great impetus, inasmuch as it would appear that the imperial government refused to enforce the provision of the treaty as affecting Ulster in relation to the boundary question. The matter is a very serious one and unless the British government takes a stand in favor of enforcing the treaty, her attitude will be denounced as another betrayal of Ireland; and this epithet as applied to the situation would be fully justified.

It was provided in the treaty that within the first 30 days Ulster would have the option of voting herself out of the Irish Free State. That she did vary promptly; but the treaty at the same time provided that certain counties of Ulster would have the privilege of deciding by a referendum vote whether they should be under the government of Ulster or that of the Free State. In refusing to take any part in the settlement of the boundary question, Ulster is denying the people the right thus granted them under the treaty.

The Net Weavers

Business men of Franklin, N. H., who used to sell great quantities of hair nets are getting a ray of hope for a revival in the hair demand for that article since they have seen among the motor tourists reaching that place quite a few men wearing hair nets. The tourists claim that the nets preserve the "part" while motoring.

Scrap Iron Armor

A great tournament was being held. The field was gay with silken banners and costly raiment. The flower of the kingdom's chivalry slowly rode past the king. Suddenly he espied a knight whose ancient armor contrasted strangely with the splendor of the scene. "Sir knight, prithee tell me of what that marvellous shiny and rusty-looking armor of thine is made?" "Oh, king," answered the knight, "seeing that we are about to engage in a big fight, I would call it scrap iron, wouldn't you?"

Fishless Outlook

It was very cold, but still the angler sat patiently by the side of the stream waiting for the bite that did not come. An angler man approached and took up a strategic position behind him. The angler, looking over his shoulder. The aged man shook his head. "No," he said. "Then it won't be a crime if I land a fish!" pursued the sportsman. Again the aged man shook his head, till his gray locks, fluttered in the breeze. "No," he said. "It would be a miracle!"

In the Hymnbook

The superintendent of a Sunday school in the East End of London tells the following story. Each Sunday a scholar is invited to select his favorite hymn to be sung by the whole class. One small lad, when asked to make his choice, perplexed the teacher by announcing that he wanted the hymn about "the little Yiddisher boy pinching the old man's watch." On being asked for an explanation he turned up his hymnbook and pointed out the verses which the ancient Hebrew kept.

The Ingenious Freddie

Teacher glanced at the clock and saw that the hands pointed to five minutes before 10 o'clock. Looking around the room, he noticed that Freddie, the lad boy, was late as usual. "Has anybody seen Freddie this morning?" she inquired, and at that moment the trumpet, looking rather startled, entered the room. "Why are you late again, Freddie?" asked the teacher in stern tones. "Well, ma'am," replied Freddie, the ingenious, "just as I was coming along to school at half-past 8 a policeman shouted out to me. 'Hi, sonny, mind that steamroller!' So, of course, I stayed there and did as he told me."

Had Plenty of Wind

There is nothing shiffling about having a reasonable pride in one's belongings, and estate, but when a man has not the sense to keep his mouth shut about them he becomes a general nuisance. A farmer of this order had met a few of his acquaintances on the market day, and as usual, soon monopolized the whole of the conversation, talking about his steam thrasher, his reaping machine, his barn, his this and his that, until they were all heartily tired of listening to him. He was the first to go, however.

"Aye," says one of them. "and has ye a windmill?"

"Na, that's what ah hae nae."

"Well, man, it's a pity ye hae nae, for ye could blow it yourself."

The Old Story

"Tomorrow," he promised his companion, "tomorrow I mean to be good."

Tomorrow I'll think as I ought to; tomorrow I'll do as I should; tomorrow I'll conquer the habits that hold me from heaven and hell. But after his conscience repeated one word and one only, "Today."

Tomorrow, tomorrow, tomorrow—thus day after day it went on. It went on, till age and his passions had written the message of fate on his brow. And then, from the shadowy room, Death with the pitiless syllable, "Now."

MAN ABOUT TOWN

Statistics concerning Henry Ford are always interesting, because the man has in less than 20 years risen from an ordinary small-business man to the richest man in the world and his name has become, in the same period, known in every corner of the earth.

Henry Ford is a very large employer of labor, having 162,792 names on his payroll. They do not all work in Detroit, however, as 121,214 are employed in manufacturing plants of the company at Detroit and elsewhere in the United States; 21,223 in the American branches, and 11,028 in foreign lands. In addition to these employed by the Ford company—a total of 162,792—there are 5228 men employed by the Ford D. T. and F. plant, 232 workers in Fordson coal mines, 720 men at work at the Henry Ford trade school and 500 employed at the Henry Ford hospital at Detroit, according to the latest available figures.

Just think what these figures mean. Henry Ford, a man and nothing more, having in his employ as many persons as live in the cities of Lowell and Haverhill, income for a moment how the lives of these 162,792 depend upon Ford and the influence which he has upon them!

And then, reflect upon Ford's financial status. He has an income, in so far as is known, of over $1,000 a minute, day and night, $1,440,000 for every day of the year. What do banks or industries mean to him? If he wants a bank or a manufacturing plant or any sort of an industry he has the money to purchase or build one, to suit himself. Nothing that money can buy is beyond his reach, for he is the richest man the world has ever known. And the end is not yet—day by day he is spending his money wisely. It is not dead capital stored away in a safe deposit box, and wisely

SONNET

Since there's no help, come, let us kiss and part—
Nay, I have done, you get no more of me,
And I am glad, yea, glad with all my heart,
That thus so clearly I myself can free;
Shake hands forever, cancel all our vows,
And when we meet at any time again,
Be it not seen in either of our brows,
That we one jot of former love retain.
Now, at the last gasp of love's latest breath,
When his pulse failing, Passion speechless lies,
When Faith is kneeling by his bed of death,
And innocence is closing up his eyes,
Now, if thou wouldst, when all have given him over,
From death to life thou mightst him yet recover.

—Michael Drayton.

Undoubtedly the semi-convertible type of electric car now in general use is an improvement over types of other years, but do you ever wish for another ride on the old type "open car" that annually made its appearance in May or June and stayed on the roads until some time in September? Memories are very fresh of headlong rushes for a place on the front seat or preferred "end" positions. A car ride to Tewksbury Centre was a treat, yes, a real treat on a hot evening and it did not cost much more than a nickel to go all the way to Tyngsboro square. New methods of transportation are an improvement, we have no doubt, but the old car was very good, and pretty cool and pretty much of a treat to youngsters 15 or 20 years ago.

Automobilists who have viewed the completed section of the new Princeton boulevard in the vicinity of Pine street express great satisfaction with the pavement being laid there. Where the shoulders of the road have not been laid, spectators have an opportunity to see a cross section of the new road, which is over a foot in thickness and appears to be solid cement. This section of the road is of the new pneumatic block-paving type and from appearances it would seem that it would be many years before any appreciable wear would show. If the road is as good as it appears to be, the state will not have to worry about it once it is completed for many, many years, and local automobilists will be assured during a like period, of a splendid travel artery to New Hampshire and the White mountains.

BETTER WIVES AND MOTHERS

The emancipation of women as evidenced by the evolution in dress from steel stays that made a twenty inch waist and the long street sweeping skirts to the sports clothes of the present day has certainly had its effect upon the health of women. With proper attention to diet and exercise a race of better wives and mothers is assured by it. If, however, ailments develop as evidenced by irregularities, backache, headaches, nervousness and irritability, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound may be depended upon to overcome them. Thousands of women testify to its success.—Adv.

Trash

Consider the things that are packed in a trunk. No doubt, you would call them, just trash. The junkman might purchase the outlay for junk, yet he couldn't buy them for cash.

A wee pair of shoes that are brownish with age are packed in some cotton; with care. They've rested since time has turned many a page; since a wee baby's Mom put them there.

A box full of lace that has never been used. Another that's packed full of braid. Just memories sweet that must not be abused; just things that a grandmother made.

An old photo album that's faded and torn, with pictures of Dad, as a lover. It may be all ruffled, but ne'er can be shorn of the memory that's held neath its cover.

Just trash, you may say. Things away out of date. But, after their story is told, you'll know that, to someone, they're well worth their weight, a hundred times over, in gold.

KILLARNEY, Ireland, July 24.—An American heiress with a large income and a few million dollars for the restoration of the mansion on the estate of the Earl of Kenmare would be highly appreciated by the entire population of the village of Killarney.
The Kenmare mansion was destroyed by fire many years ago and the village sighs for the return of the days when the dwelling ranked as one of the most magnificent in the British Isles.
Killarney has had lean years since the opening of the great war but now tourists, the source of the chief income of the village of 5,000 which is better known abroad, perhaps, than any other scenic spot in Ireland, are beginning to come again.

SEVERAL FAST BALL GAMES ON CARD FOR LOCAL FANS TOMORROW

Abbot Worsteds, Crack Graniteville Outfit, Meets Dilboy Post at Alumni Field—Silesia Clashes With Ware at Ware—Other Games

Choose your ball park tomorrow afternoon and then go to it. For the entertainment of local fans, an interesting list of games is scheduled for this city and vicinity, foremost of which, perhaps, is that between the Abbot Worsteds and Dilboy Post, Greater Boston Twilight League, at Alumni field. This clash will get under way promptly at 3.15 o'clock, with Eddie Boyce as the probable Abbot pitching selection, and the strongest available Abbot lineup to counter the expected heavy attack of the visitors.

Encouraged by the success of the venture of last week in holding Saturday afternoon Class B baseball at Alumni field, the Abbot management hooked the Dilboys for tomorrow. The Boston gang claims ownership to several of the classiest performers in the circuit and will endeavor to prove their contention against the Abbot in their Alumni field parley.

There is a great amount of rivalry existing between the Graniteville and Hub aggregations because of the fact that both clubs are fighting a nip-and-tuck race in the league standing, only a few fractional points separating them in the official rating of the league clubs. For this reason, they will go at it hammer and tongs tomorrow and a record-breaking crowd is expected to look on.

The Abbot will probably use the following classy lineup: E. Urann ss, Kroh or Williams 2b, St. Angelo cf, Walker cf, Dameron 1b, G. Urann 3b, Cronin 3b, Dee c, Boyce p. The likely Dilboy lineup will be: Marcotte 2b, Freeman cf, O'Leary 1b, Weafer 3b, Gregg rf, Taylor ss, McGrath 3b, Carlgan c, O'Connor p.

RED SOX BEAT CLEVELAND NINE

Win By 10 to 9 in 10-Inning Game—Detroit Still Tops Standing

Walter Johnson Blows Up But Senators Take Fourth From Chicago

NEW YORK, July 25.—Detroit, New York and Washington change positions so rapidly in the American league that they scarcely can keep tabs on their own standing. The Tigers' farwell victory over the Yankees yesterday elevated them to the head of the list again, half a game in the van of the world champions and Senators, who today are tied for second place.

In another game Detroit put over the deciding tally just in time to annex a 5 to 4 finish before hostilities were stopped at the end of eighth inning to enable the Yanks to catch a train for the west.

In spite of Walter Johnson's blow-up in the 5th inning Washington finally emerged victorious over Chicago for the fourth time in the five-game series by a score of 7 to 5. Russell held the White Sox safe during the remaining four sessions.

St. Louis dropped last game of the series with Philadelphia, 5 to 0. B. F. Swisher twirled heady ball for the Athletics.

Boston staged a successful offensive against Cleveland in the battle for sixth place and drew up on even terms with the Indians by virtue of a 10 to 9 triumph in ten innings.

Baseball in the National league was confined to Pittsburgh, where Brooklyn lost the last game of its western trip to the Pirates by 8 to 1.

RAZE ANCIENT WALLS FOR PLAYGROUNDS

COLOGNE, Germany, July 25.—Some of the ancient walls of Cologne, which date back to the days of the modern Romans, are to give way to modern sport fields which are provided for in the city's plans for expansion as announced recently by Dr. Max Adam, chief burgomaster. A great sports stadium, built chiefly by men classed as among the "unemployed," has already been completed, and 50 football fields, golf links, and space for other games have been provided for in the rearrangement of the districts on the edge of this ancient city. Preliminary steps have been taken to demolish Cologne with a great green strip some 25 miles in length and averaging five-eighths of a mile in width. It is within this strip that space will be left for sport grounds of various kinds.

Little two-year-old Dessi Bujarski may thank Officer Morris Shapiro for saving her life. Wednesday night, when he snatched her from the path of an automobile which she stepped in front of in Hale street. Without regard to his own personal safety, Officer Shapiro rushed to the street and brought the little tot to safety just as a powerful automobile sped past the spot where she had been standing.

CITY TWILIGHT LEAGUE GAME THIS EVENING

Marie's Americans and the Bellevue, veteran City Twilight League rivals, will clash on the South common at 6.15 o'clock this evening. The game should be one of the best of the season, as both teams are anxious to annex the verdict and will put their best lineups on the field. Snubber Trask of one-hit fame, will work in the box for the Bellevue, while Herb Mulino or Wayne Peterson will receive the pitching assignment for the Americans.

The City league has two games scheduled for next week. Tuesday night, the Centralville East Ends will meet the Americans, and on Thursday night, the big Pawtucket A.A.-Bellevue classic will be staged.

IN GREAT DEMAND
Frankie Hebert, local boy and newly crowned N. E. flyweight champ, is in great demand. His manager, Punch Mayo, has taken him to Washington, D.C., where he will engage in a feature number next Monday night. Several other promising bouts are in store for the classy local performer.

KNOCKS FRENCH IDOL TO RANKS OF PUGILISTIC SECOND-RATERS

Technical Kayo for American Fighter in Final Frame of 15-Round Mill—Carpentier, Groggy But Game, Takes a Terrific Lacing

NEW YORK, July 25 (by the Associated Press).—Georges Carpentier, colorful French light heavyweight, war hero and idol of France, stands today a retired pugilist, figuratively knocked out of the ring by the stunning left hand of Gene Tunney, American light heavyweight champion. Taps was sounded on Carpentier's career last night at the Polo grounds when he was technically stopped by Tunney in the 15th round of a scheduled 15-round match.

Knocked down four times in that hectic 10th round, battered into virtual submission, Carpentier stood up to his punishment as only a game man can, displaying the white flag of defeat only after a blow, which he alleged was foul, doubled him to the floor in writhing pain and made further participation impossible. The goddess of victory never once smiled upon the plucky brow of Carpentier during those 14 furious rounds of milling. Yet, even in the face of certain defeat, Carpentier kept on, making his last endeavor to be remembered.

The fight was a comparatively tame affair up to the 10th round, which opened furiously. The American poured rights and lefts at the groggy Frenchman, who groped around with arms outstretched, endeavoring to catch Tunney's body and hanging on all the storm had abated.

During the 11th, 12th and 13th rounds Carpentier's combat was amazing. He traded punches with Tunney, fought at long range with him and appeared to be well on the road to recovery from the hectic 10th round.

In the 15th round he tried to fight from a semi-crouched position but the effort was too great and he sank to the floor, completely out.

If Carpentier keeps his pre-fighting promise, his days in the ring are over. It was to beat Tunney or retire for him, and his defeat leaves no path for him.

C. M. A. C. WINS TWILIGHT LEAGUE GAME

In a Lowell Twilight league game on the South common last evening, the C. M. A. C. trounced the Centralville Princetonians by a count of 9 to 2. Umpire Abe Buckley called the game on in the sixth after the C.M.A.C. had gone on a hitting rampage and registered 13 or more runs. As the final half of the inning was not played, however, the score reverted to even innings, making the count 9 and 2.

In an effort to stem the relentless onslaught of the C.M.A.C., the Princetonians used three pitchers, McKenzie, Moylan and Noel. All met with unwelcome receptions, while Cornellier was holding his own for the C.M.A.C.

All kinds of hits exuded from C.M.A.C. bats. There were several of them in a row, and these, added to a few conspicuous errors on the part of the Centralville gang, aided materially in piling up the huge score.

The feature of the game was a pretty one-hand stop by Lavoe in left field. The score:

Billy Evans SAYS

Apparently football and baseball have nothing in common as far as the college athlete is concerned. A goodly number of the college gridiron stars also dabble in baseball. In late years the majors have been giving the college fields much consideration.

During the fall months, the football prestige of certain star athletes causes them to become national characters in this world of sport.

In all probability football fame has had more to do with a number of college stars getting a big league baseball trial than natural ability.

Of course, there are exceptions to every rule. Two of the game's greatest second basemen, Eddie Collins and Frankie Frisch, started in college football.

Collins won fame in the old days when the forward pass was unknown, when football was a survival of the fittest. Frisch won his gridiron honors at Fordham.

For these two who have become major league stars, it is possible to point out any number of failures.

It seems a decree of fate that only a very few athletes are permitted to become outstanding stars in more than one sport.

Football is a strenuous game. It takes a lot out of a player physically. It is possible that football so uses up the contestants that many an athlete who would have starred in baseball is seriously handicapped.

The recent decision of Hinkle Haines, former member of the New York Yankees, to give up baseball and go into the tobacco business with his father, is the latest example of the college football star to fail at baseball.

I've Made the Best Purchase in Years and I've Got the Goods to Prove It

SAMPLE LINE FROM THE RIVERSIDE MILL of R. I., AROUND THIRTEEN HUNDRED YARDS and over a hundred different styles, as the term samples would imply. These goods are principally suit lengths of different patterns, and in no case does the yardage contain more than four or five samples.

Bought through the Commission House of Schiller & Sons, 52 Chauncy St., Boston. I had first pick on this line and I don't mind telling you it wasn't through any friendship for me that I was honored by first choice. It's because I paid spot cash for goods purchased, and have them on my tables and win dows.

This mill catered mostly to high-class tailors, who get anywhere from $45 to $75 for a tailored made garment. Being a critical trade they handle only the finest woollens money can buy. The patterns and fabrics are really excellent. They were made by one of America's best mills. I have secured choice patterns. In fact a complete tailoring woolen stock, as you know this is my dull season—yet I made this purchase because I know a real honest-to-goodness saving of hard-earned dollars is welcomed by the best of us. During the dull season this sale is the best advertisement I could give to a business that has stood the acid test for fifteen years in Lowell and is hale and hearty and growing to manhood.

Riverside Mills Sample Ends, $40 to $65 Value Made to Order . . . $27.50

This is an excellent opportunity for my old customers to take advantage of these values which I consider to be the best ever offered in this city. MAIL ORDERS to old customers only, whose names appear in our card index.

Big League Recruit Pines for Sand-Lots Back Home

By N.E.A. Service
CHICAGO, July 25.—In pitcher George "Sarge" Connolly, the Chicago White Sox have not only a great prospect but a most unique character.

With every chance to become a big league star, Connolly doesn't get the slightest thrill because he is in the big show.

"Send me back to Texas, to good old Galveston town," is Connolly's favorite song, words and music by the same Mr. Connolly.

Has Fears of Star
Connolly has already proved that he is of big league caliber. He needs only a little more seasoning to make him a finished pitcher, a consistent winner.

It would seem that a "husher" could ask no more, but Connolly is far from satisfied. Here is his line of reasoning:

"This big league stuff is all right, but I'll take the small towns.

"When I go out to pitch for the Sox, the first thing I hear the fans say is, 'Who is that husher?'

"In the Texas league, where I played last season, it was always 'There goes Connolly. He's tough to beat.'

"When I walk down State street or talk to yourself in Chicago, I don't get a rise out of the thousands who pass me.

"Now in Texas, it was different. I had friends in every town in the circuit, and when I walked down the street lots of people spoke to me just as if I was a regular human being.

"Pay day is the one happy day in the majors. Every day was Christmas in the Texas league.

Misses His Old Friends
"In the big league you have to learn the deaf and dumb language so you can talk to yourself. In the Texas circuit it was just like being on a lecture tour."

Last season with Galveston, that finished seventh in an eight-club circuit, Connolly won 16 and lost only 9 games, a most remarkable record with a near contender.

Connolly was a star in the Texas league. He is a big, husky right-hander and may some day win such fame as a big league star when he walks down State street the fans will make as much of a fuss over him as they did in Galveston.

BIG GAME HUNTING MAY BE BANNED

TUCSON, Ariz., July 25.—The American big game hunter may find himself in a tight spot. It was stated by Ben Tinker, who guards Mexican game by appointment of the Mexican government and is back at his home here.

Tinker said there was a growing sentiment in Mexico against foreign hunters. He attributed this to the alleged ruthlessness of some of them in slaughtering deer and other game. He declared Mexican officials are determined to prevent Americans from enjoying the big game hunting afforded in the mountains and plains of the northwestern states. Tinker predicted that with the opening of the hunting season no hunters would be allowed to cross the border.

Big game has been diminishing rapidly in Mexico, Tinker said, and President Obregon has determined to put a stop to wanton and useless destruction. A ten-year closed season on big horn and sheep was started more than a year ago. At the next session of the measure will be passed limiting the killing of all classes of game to a few months each year, with bag limits on deer, turkey and javali hogs.

EVANS ELIMINATED IN CHICAGO GOLF
CHICAGO, July 25.—Chick Evans having been eliminated from a chance of winning the western amateur golf championship this year, the semifinals of the event were played at Hinsdale today with James Manion of St. Louis and Albert Snicket of Chicago constituting one match and H. R. Johnston of St. Paul, Minn., and Burton Mudge of Chicago making up the other.

Manion was the favorite in his match, not only because of his 8 to 7 victory over Evans yesterday, when he shot unbeatable golf, well under par, but because he has been scoring well all week including qualifying rounds of 71 and 72.

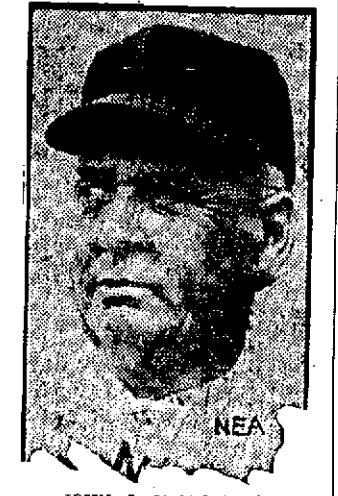

When the Bible speaks of an "outlandish woman" it means a foreigner.

McCloskey IS DADDY OF THE CATCHERS

NEWTON, Kas., July 25.—The man who introduced the padded mitt is still active in professional baseball. John J. McCloskey, now owner and manager of the Newton (Kas.) club of the Southwestern league. The "grand old man of the minors" has been in the game since 1887 and it keeps him young, though he's past 55.

He was born in Louisville in 1869 and won prominence as the "father of the Texas league," which he organized in 1898.

The years before he was catcher on the Houston Independents and it was that year he introduced the catcher's mitt, which at the time, brought down ridicule of the country. But in due time the padded mitt was generally adopted. Eventually it did much to speed up the game.

McCloskey organized the Union association and managed the Butte team of that circuit. He has been connected at various times as player or manager with St. Joseph, Austin, Sacramento, Houston, Montgomery, Savannah, Louisville, Dallas, Great Falls, Tacoma, San Francisco, Vancouver, St. Louis and Milwaukee.

Truly he is one of the old war horses of the game—and he is still going strong.

The Nut Cracker by Joe Williams

This is a bad year for white Indians in America. Look what a tough time Mr. Speaker's white Indians are having in the American league.

Bobby Leach is going over Niagara in a rubber ball. If it works, pedestrians will try it crossing downtown streets.

What boxing needs is someone, like Mr. Ford, to get the boys out of the clinches by Christmas.

Into each life a certain amount of cold soup shall fall. For instance, America didn't score a single point in the individual saber competition at Paris.

McCloskey IS DADDY OF FAMOUS LOWELL SKELETON OF JERSEY WILL BE MOUNTED IN SMITHSONIAN INSTITUTE

WASHINGTON, July 25.—When Massachusetts' famous Jersey cow, Sophie Nineteenth, of Hood farm, closed her career as an active producer of dairy products, her owner, Mrs. C. I. Hood of Lowell, preferred that instead of allowing her to be sold at auction and falling into unfeeling hands when the herd of which she was a member was dispersed a year ago in April, she should continue to add to the world's good through her contribution to scientific research and, accordingly, donated her to the United States department of agriculture.

On May 13 Sophie Nineteenth held the world's record for butterfat production in the Jersey breed from January, 1914, to November, 1918, with a production of 17,587 pounds of milk and 99 pounds of butterfat in a year. During 11 lactation periods she produced over 7,500 pounds of butterfat. This is the long-time production record for all breeds.

THE BIG QUESTION NOW BEFORE THE LONDON CONFERENCE

Entire Home, Not Room, Unit in Furnishing

THIS WIDE OPEN DOORWAY BETWEEN THESE ROOMS REQUIRES A UNIFIED SCHEME OF DECORATING IN BOTH.

The unit in furnishing a home is not a single room, but the entire house. This means that the whole home from cellar to attic must be kept in mind when furniture, or draperies, or other accessories are sought for a single room.

First there is the exterior architecture. The interior should conform with it in some general way. There must not be a sudden change in design or atmosphere as soon as a person steps into the vestibule.

Then, as a person walks from one room into another, it would be annoying and nerve-racking to meet a sudden change every time a doorway was crossed.

Yet there should be variety in furnishing a home. Especially should this variety pertain to the use of colors in the various rooms.

Basic Scheme

Similarity and variety in furnishing may be noted, homes with such period can be compromised by the attempt to establish a basic color scheme or this distinctive change by introducing him or her to period furniture right at the start—in the living and other rooms downstairs.

Period furniture is the unit in such a home. Similarly the same colors that are continued upstairs. But not in the same manner. Their combinations should be different. That is what furnishes the variety.

There should not be too much repetition of the same designs or colors or anything. Repetition tends to monotony and drabness.

THE DUNCANS IN COURT

Here are the Duncan Sisters, Vivian (left) and Rosetta and their brother, Harold, in court in Evanston, Ill. Rosetta's nose, broken in a run-in with Cicero (Ill.) police, following her brother's arrest for a traffic violation, still is bandaged and one eye still is discolored. The Duncans were all fined $1 and costs for disorderly conduct. They had carried their case to Evanston on a charge of venue. Indications now are the Cicero policemen, especially Charles Widlock, shown in inset, also will have their day in court, for the Duncans have preferred charges against them.

FILE LIBELS ON RUM ROW SCHOONERS

BOSTON, July 24.—Federal officials today filed libels against the British schooner Frances and cargo of 42,000 gallons of alcohol. The schooner was seized recently about 15 miles off Cape Cod, after the capture of a motor boat which the authorities charged had been landing alcohol for her. The schooner was the first capture under the new treaty with Great Britain, the government contending that the schooner was liable to capture because the transferring boat was capable of reaching shore within an hour. The first charge that the schooner loaded the alcohol at Havana, carried it to Lunenburg, N. S., and then to its station off the Massachusetts coast.

DRY PATROL SEIZES FAST MOTOR BOAT

NEW YORK, July 24.—The "Dennis B." the fast motor boat which was released last week by customs officers after it had brought ashore Dr. Royce Poulks and an injured man from the rum fleet, today was seized by the customs marine patrol near Rockaway Point. Two hundred cases of whiskey were found on board and the crew of three, including Captain Matthew Hanson, was arrested.

AMERICANS CINCH YACHTING VICTORY

MARBLEHEAD, July 24.—The Eastern Yacht club clinched its victory over the Royal Canadian Yacht club of Toronto, by taking first and third places in the races of today. This brought the point score to Americans 30, Canadians 20. A Canadian victory in the last race this afternoon would leave the Americans still in the lead.

VANCOUVER BANK ROBBED OF $19,000

VANCOUVER, B. C., July 24.—Three robbers escaped from a branch of the Canadian bank of Commerce here today with $19,000, after one of them had laid open the head of G. A. Bonallie, manager.

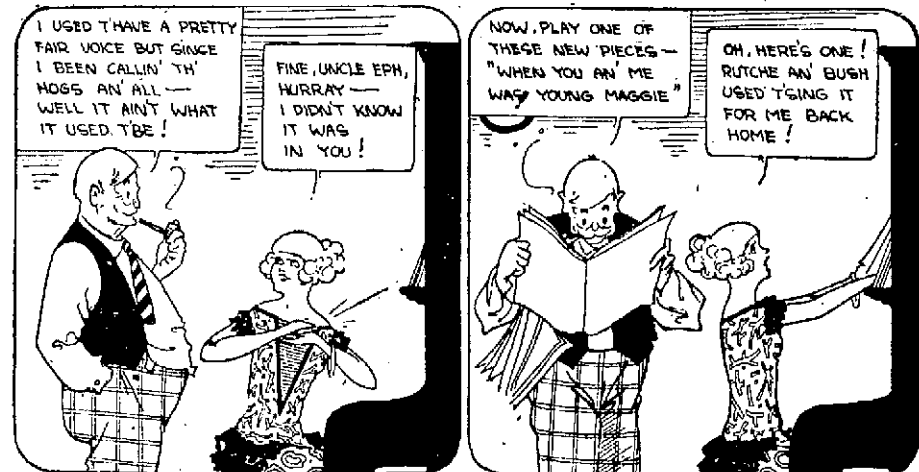

HAD ALE IN CAR

BATAVIA, N. Y., July 24.—Willis Dickinson, Elmira, and Lafayette New, Corning, were arrested by state troopers near Caledonia today, and twenty cases of Canadian ale, reported by the troopers to have been found in their car, confiscated. The men were remanded to jail in default of $7000 bail each.

Jack Daw's Adventures. Chapter 5

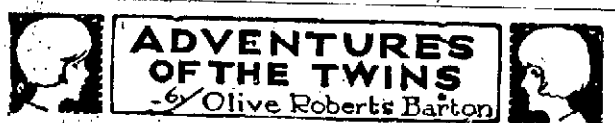

After a few moments more, the little adventurer realized he had reached the level place. He put out his hands and feet and gradually brought himself to a stop. Then he stood up on the ice and, putting his hands to his mouth, called out loudly so the sailors would know where he was.

Jack waited but a short time when he heard a reply to his call. Then, very cautiously, the two regaining sailors appeared. They had long sticks with them and with these they had managed to stay on their feet. Jack was mighty glad to see these two members of the good ship "Betsy Claire."

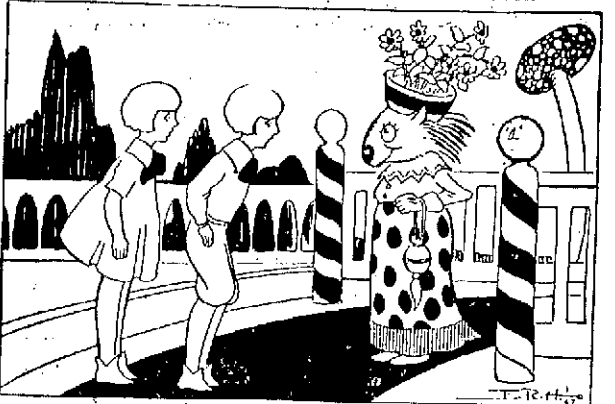

"Well, sonny," said one of the men, "do you want to go right back to the ship, or would you rather explore around on the ice for a while?" "Oh," replied Jack, "let's look around and see if there are any polar bears here. I have heard that polar bears live wherever there are icebergs." (Continued.)

MRS. PORCUPINE AND THE ROLLER COASTER

HELLO, MRS. PORCUPINE, CALLED NICK

Mrs. Porcupine came to Happy Go Lucky Park one day all dressed up in her Sunday best. "Hello, Mrs. Porcupine," called Nick. "How nice you look!" "I should say so," remarked Nancy. "Where in the world did you get such a becoming hat?" "Why, I got it at the store," said Mrs. Porcupine modestly. "But really, I couldn't make up my mind whether to take it or not. Yellow never was becoming to me and those brown-eyed Susans on the hat make me look sallow, I think."

"Oh, no, they don't," said Nancy. "They look lovely on your straw hat. Really they look exactly as though they were glowing right out of a flower pot."

"Well, I'm glad of that," said Mrs. Porcupine. "In a relieved voice, she came to Happy Go Lucky Park. 'Well, I haven't seen you here much.' 'No, this is my first visit,' said Mrs. Porcupine, looking around. 'I didn't want to come until I got my new hat. I just got it this morning.' At that Mrs. Porcupine said how becoming it was to her. 'I do hope she saved enough money to spend." For Mister Zip liked to have people spend money in Happy Go Lucky Park. The more they spent the quicker he would make his fortune.

"Show Mrs. Porcupine around, Nancy," he said out loud. "And see that she has a good time." "What's that thing?" asked Mrs. Porcupine when they came to the roller coaster.

"That's the roller coaster," said Nancy. "You pay 10 cents and get into one of those little cars and it takes you for a lovely ride on a track."

"I think I'll take a ticket," said the porcupine lady, frowning around in her pocketbook for a dime.

Nancy got her a ticket and put her into one of the cars and away went Mrs. Porcupine all adrift with excitement.

She didn't notice the sign which said "Hold your hats."

Indeed, when the little car began to shoot around curves and whirl through tunnels and dip into hollows and leap over bumps, it was all she could do to hold herself in. She grabbed the sides of the car with both hands and held on for dear life. "My goodness! Merry me!" she cried. "Oh dear me!"

And suddenly off went her hat. "Help! Help!" she screamed as it disappeared over the edge of the roller coaster. And she was still screaming "help" when the little car brought her back to the starting place.

"Why, where is your hat?" cried Nancy.

"That's what I'd like to know!" declared Mrs. Porcupine tearfully. "It blew off."

"We'll go and look for it," said Nick. "It can't be far away."

"A hat!" cried Bossy Cow, who was eating grass over in a field. "No, I didn't see any hat. A bunch of straw and some brown-eyed Susans fell out of the sky and I ate it. That's all I saw."

"Oh, dear me!" wailed Mrs. Porcupine. "I'll pay you for the hat," said Mister Zip kindly. "Don't cry."

"That was luck," said Mrs. Porcupine to herself on her way home. "I didn't like that hat and I couldn't take it back. Now I can buy a new one."

IDENTITY OF CORPSE PUZZLES POLICE OF THREE CITIES

All Ready for Burial as Herman Peterson When Herman Advises Family Over Phone That He Can't Attend the Scheduled Funeral

CHICAGO, July 25.—Police of Chicago, Cleveland and New York are endeavoring to identify the body of a man, sent Tuesday to New York by Charles Peterson, chief petty officer at the Great Lakes Naval Training station, who thought it was his brother Herman, since found here alive and well.

Last Sunday, Charles Peterson was notified by telephone from Cleveland that his brother Herman was dead and the body was being sent to Chicago. When the coffin arrived he refused to sign it to his parents in New York, where it arrived yesterday.

The relatives were about to remove it from the station when a young woman, cousin of the supposedly dead Herman, telephoned a hotel here, where Herman and a vaudeville partner were registered to inquire regarding the manner of Herman's death. Herman himself answered the call.

One theory of police working on the mystery is that the body is that of a highwayman who held up Herman several months ago in Cleveland and took from him a letter written to him by his brother at the naval training station. They believe that the body was erroneously identified through the stolen letter.

WAS BURNED TO DEATH

Edward Cunningham Pinned Between Trap Door and Heavy Beam

Was Employed as Clerk in Near-Beer Establishment in Bridge Street

Edward Cunningham, 30, of 123 Chapel street, was burned to death in a fire last night in the near-beer establishment at the corner of Bridge and French streets, for many years known as the Andrew F. Roach saloon. Firemen found Cunningham pinned between a trap door and a heavy ceiling beam in the cellar and while death may have been due to suffocation, his body was badly burned when extricated.

Cunningham was employed as a clerk in the establishment. What led him to go to the cellar when fire was discovered is not known and no explanation could be given of why he should have been astride a ceiling beam, several feet above the floor level. His body was so tightly wedged in the narrow space that firemen were forced to chop away considerable woodwork before being able to take it out. The trap door was resting on his back and he was lying prone on the beam with his legs hanging down on either side.

Although the fire was discovered at 8:15 o'clock, it was three-quarters of an hour later that Cunningham's body was removed from the building and was taken in charge by Undertakers James P. O'Donnell and Sons.

Housemen and threw off heavy clouds of smoke, it soon was washed out by hose lines. Persons in the saloon discovered the fire when smoke was seeping up through cracks in the plaster on the main floor. An alarm from Box 25 was turned in by Patrolman Owen S. Conway.

The victim of the tragedy had been a resident of Lowell for the past 13 years and was much respected by those with whom he came in contact. He leaves a wife, Helen, and two children, Margaret (Nicholl) Cunningham, four years old, and Patrick, two years old, both of Lowell; two sisters, Mrs. John Brien of Boston and Miss Mary Cunningham in Ireland. Deceased was a member of Lowell Athletic of English and Dr. S. A. O'Brien. He was taken to his home, 132 Chapel street, by Undertakers James P. O'Donnell and Sons.

SUPERINTENDENT WILL GET PAY INCREASE

The salary increase of $1000 a year, voted Superintendent Hugh J. Molloy at a meeting of the school committee Wednesday evening, is legal and went into effect at that meeting despite Committee member Thomas B. Delaney's notice to ask reconsideration, according to men who have studied the present committee rules of procedure.

Their belief is based on Part 4 of Section 4 of the rules adopted only recently, which reads as follows: "When a question has been decided, any member voting in the majority may move reconsideration at the same meeting, and any members voting in the minority may at the next meeting. Such notice on a given question shall be in order only at the meeting at which the question was first decided."

Mr. Delaney was among the members who voted in favor of the increase Wednesday. He immediately gave notice that he would ask reconsideration at the next meeting.

From the above rule it is seen that the only way he could secure reconsideration would be to ask for it at the same meeting at which the question was first decided.

Following the vote Wednesday evening Superintendent Molloy said the increase was legal and he would collect it, regardless of the motion to reconsider, and it is believed it was on the above rule that he based his decision.

As the city solicitor was not in his office, no opinion could be had from him concerning the question but attorneys concurring with the rules of the department believe his decision will be in favor of the superintendent.

PUBLIC SERVICE BOARD

Busy Meeting Held Yesterday—Much Routine Business Transacted

Board Takes Vote on Gorham Street Paving—Middlesex Street Work

The public service board, at a meeting yesterday afternoon, voted unanimously to have the section of upper Gorham street from Cosgrove street to the city line, paved between the car tracks as well as from the car tracks to the gutters, as previously voted.

At the present time a street department crew is working on this street and residents of the district have, opposed the proposition of only paving the part of the street outside the car tracks. At yesterday's meeting, Councilor Thomas McFadden brought the matter to the attention of the board and on motion of Chairman Denis J. Murphy it was voted unanimously to do the whole width of the street.

It was also voted that the section of Middlesex street used as a detour by Lowell-North Chelmsford traffic, be patched and oiled. This matter has been before the board several times, proponents of the plan, residents of the section claiming that their houses are filled with dust from the street.

The meeting was long and a considerable amount of routine business was transacted. Chairman Murphy called the meeting to order at 4:10 o'clock, all members being present.

Several requests for abatement of water bills were made and taken under advisement.

C. L. Cushing appeared before the board in connection with a request by Middlesex street residents for repaving and oiling of the upper part of the street. The board voted that the section in question be patched and oiled at once.

Supt. Moynahan of the lands and buildings department requested the street department be instructed to lay sidewalks about the Oaklands fire-house, his department to pay for such work. This was voted.

Councilor McFadden asked that the section of Gorham street from Cosgrove to the city line be relaid between the rails as well as from the rails to the gutters. On motion of Chairman Murphy, the board voted to have this work done.

Edward W. Trull asked that a light be installed in Arbor road and that the road be accepted. The matter was referred for view and survey.

A salary increase for James McGreevey, an engineer working as fireman at the West Sixth street pumping station, was requested by Michael Ready, representing the steam and operating engineers' local. McGreevey is receiving $32.50 and asks for the union wage for firemen, $35. The matter was taken under advisement.

A number of light and pole petitions were read and disposed of. Among the light petitions favored was one requesting that type A, white way lights be installed in Middle street and in Market street from Central street to Cardinal O'Connell parkway.

A report on the Lowell Electric Light corporation's work in preparing to change over the lights on main arteries from incandescents to type B, white way was submitted by City Engineer Kearney and he was instructed to go ahead with the work.

A communication from Theodore Parker asking for the repair of Chestnut street from Nesmith to Park streets was referred to the superintendent of streets. A similar request concerning Whitney avenue, from E. L. Kimball, was also referred to the superintendent.

A communication from Councilor Arthur Genest concerning lights in Pawtucketville was received and acted upon favorably.

The board found fault with the method of removal of sweepings on downtown streets, especially Central street, and requested the superintendent of streets to have the matter remedied.

The board favoring a contract for a 3 1/2 inch truck for the water department, for which bids were opened yesterday. It was voted to ask the purchasing agent to make an award until the board considers the bids and makes a recommendation.

Adjourned at 6:20 to next Thursday afternoon at 1:45 o'clock.

ventured out in the stream and walking behind a large rock slipped into a "man-hole" which is about ten feet deep. She immediately disappeared. None on the shore noticed her plight because of the rock that obstructed the view of the river at that point.

Young Connolly was swimming far out in the stream with a smaller companion when he noticed the disappearance of the girl. Shouting for help and commanding his friend to go for assistance he swam with all speed to the spot where he had seen the girl go under. The water had closed over her head and she was not to be seen. Without a moment's hesitation Martin dove and found the girl resting on the bottom of the river in 10 feet of water. Although the young lady is three inches taller and several pounds heavier than himself, the boy seized her by the shoulder and fought valiantly to get her to the surface. Miss Gargan, who was half conscious, made no struggle, but allowed her rescuer to bend all his efforts toward reaching safety.

As soon as his head broke water, Connolly called desperately for help. He was almost spent.

The shallows of the river were thronged with bathers, but none dared to go to the couple's assistance. Frank Evans, of 20 Saratoga street, was sitting on the bank when he heard the cry for help. Kicking off his shoes, but otherwise fully clothed, he dove into the water. Mr. Evans is an experienced swimmer and he reached the boy and girl when they were half-way ashore. He bore the girl to the bank, while young Connolly came in unassisted.

Under the direction of Mr. Evans the girl's lungs were emptied of water and in a short time she was able to proceed to her home. This morning when interviewed by a Sun reporter, she declared that she suffered no ill-effects from her narrow escape. Miss Gargan said that she had a rather hazy remembrance of stepping into a hole and of someone diving after her. She did not know who it was that had saved her for she remembered nothing from the time that young Connolly seized her shoulder until she opened her eyes and found herself stretched on the bank with somebody working over her.

When the Sun reporter visited the Connolly residence this morning it was the first that any of the family knew that young Martin had played the role of hero. Mrs. Connolly was in complete ignorance of the fact, and it was not until Martin was questioned that she learned of it.

Martin Connolly is 14 years of age and weighs about 110 pounds. He is a member of the O.M.L. Cadets of the Sacred Heart church and a pupil of the Sacred Heart parochial school. He declared that he had been the only one about, except his young swimming companion and he allowed it was up to him to save the girl.

Mr. Evans disclaimed all credit for the rescue, attributing everything to the heroism and ability of Martin Connolly.

"I had nothing to do with the rescue," he said, "I simply carried the girl ashore. The boy deserves all honor because he saw her go down, dove after her and brought her to the surface. If it hadn't been for him, she would have drowned surely. Don't mention me at all."

Spectators are urging that young Connolly be awarded a medal for heroism. All are loud in their praise of the coolness and courage of the young lad.

near me to go over to the other side of the deck. I stepped back and then the crash came. It was not a terrific impact, but more in the nature of a muffled crash, a grinding, dull thud.

Orders began to issue immediately and everyone went to work. Almost at once the ship began to list perceptibly to port and the engine room was flooded. Our lights did not go out until about 40 minutes later."

Asked whether most of the passengers were in bed at the time, Mr. Lawson said quite a few were still up, but that the majority had retired. When they appeared, ready to take to the boats, practically everyone was dressed.

"I heard of one man who was running around in a suit of pajamas, but I did not see him," he said.

"As I said before, the boats were lowered at once and as far as I know, and personally I inspected six of them, they all were in perfect condition, with sea cocks or plugs in place."

"On a dark, foggy night, in such an emergency, some persons will show signs of nervousness and hysteria, but there were no marked cases and the passengers and crew both handled themselves admirably."

"Once a decided list to port was apparent, a heavy consignment of pig iron in the hole was moved over to the starboard side and later as much of the cargo as possible was moved to correct the list."

"The Swift Arrow, with a big slit in her bow, backed away from us and stood by and eventually took all our passengers. Some later were transferred to other ships as you already know. The New York, our sister ship, had passed us earlier in the evening. Boston-bound, but on receiving our radio calls for help turned around and sped back to us at an average speed of close to 22 knots an hour, better than her trial last June. I think the New York and the Pricilla, the latter of the Wall River line, were the first ships to reach us after the crash, but all our passengers had been transferred before they arrived alongside."

"There is not much more I can say about it. The Boston will be towed from Newport to New York tomorrow and ought to be back in service before the end of the season. Once they get her in drydock they will make short work of her repairs."

"How far did the Swift Arrow plough through us? About one-quarter of the way through and almost exactly at midships. The Swift Arrow was heavy and had a tremendous amount of forward momentum despite the fact that her skipper reversed his engines when he saw us ahead of him."

"Our watertight compartments undoubtedly kept us afloat and at no time after the crash was the Boston in any danger of going down."

Mr. Lawson has been transferred as purser of the Calvin Austin which will take the place of the Boston on the New York run until the latter is ready for service again. He made his first trip on her last night and will go back to New York tonight at 5 o'clock.

Underwood portable typewriter from the Jackson park lagoon, was the first witness. It was the machine on which the Franks ransom letters were written.

Blair said the type keys were gone when he found the machine.

Perer Van de Bokart, a clerk in the drug store where two telephone calls were received May 22, asking for Mr. Franks, father of the victim, told of that incident, which was part of the attempt to collect ransom from Franks senior.

Howard Mayer, a university of Chicago newspaper correspondent, testified he had known Leopold for a year. "I was to pick up whatever I could on the Franks case," said Mayer. "I met Richard Loeb on the campus, and we talked about the case."

Mayer said he and Loeb found a porter who remembered the drug-store call for Mr. Franks. There I told you we could find this. Now you have a scoop," Mayer testified Loeb said.

Walsh Explanation

Mayer said he explained this would not be ethical and they called the others in, questioned the clerk and porter and telephoned the stories to their newspapers.

"That is what comes of reading detective stories," Loeb exclaimed to Mayer as they left the place. Alvin Goldstein, who works for the Daily News and is a University student, corroborated Mayer's testimony as to the incident.

An officer told of the defendants leading a searching squad to Ivesville, Ind., where shoes, belt, buckle and class pin, all previously identified by the parents as the belongings of Robert, were found.

Fourteen state witnesses were examined at the morning session, bringing to 61 the total called in two days and a half of court procedure.

They moved so rapidly through the witness stand that luncheon recess came half an hour ahead of schedule to permit the state to prepare more witnesses for the afternoon session.

James Mulroy, another reporter for the Daily News, told how Loeb had introduced the subject of the Franks case and offered to get Mayer and his car for the trip to the drug store.

"Dick and Howard went into the store," said Mayer, "Alvin and I were arguing over some theory in the case and Loeb came running out. When I started to telephone the office, Loeb said 'Don't use my name.'"

Defendants' Hanger

Loeb and Leopold lingered in court for a few minutes exchanging assurances with relatives at recess.

Loeb spoke briefly with his aged father.

Leopold, his arm across his brother's shoulders, while the latter clasped the defendant's waist, whispered for several minutes, then nodded and patted his brother's back as he turned to submit himself again to the custody of his jail escort.

Joseph Baronsky, a sergeant in the city detective bureau, was questioned as to finding Gary, Ed, the shoes, belt, buckle and class pin belonging to young Franks. He said he and Sergeant R. St. Germain and M. Hackett worked together in searching the lake shore.

Leopold, State Attorney Crowe, Chief Hughes and Captain Shoemaker also were present, he said.

"I heard Leopold say: 'There is the blanket,'" said Baronsky. "He pointed out a partly burned object I helped wrap up in paper."

Baronsky identified the automobile robe on which coroners' chemists found human blood. He said the next step on the search was at Ivesville, Ind., where Leopold pointed to places where the belt and shoes had been thrown on either side of the road.

of about 25 hundred feet, an elephant of sausage observation balloon drifted over this city just before 8 o'clock this morning. It was moving in a direction well north of east and disappeared in the haze to the eastward about 8:20.

Observation through glasses failed to show signs of life, although the rigging under the balloon and the observers' basket were clearly visible. The balloon did not appear to be losing any altitude.

Its flight was steady.

The Scituate coast guard reports the lost balloon going northward out to sea. It passed to the northeast of Minots ledge at an altitude of about 2000 feet. She was marked "U. S. Navy" but no other distinguishing marks could be observed. The mooring cable, basket ladder and other rigging were hanging down, but no signs of life on board were observable.

LAKELAND, July 25.—Naval air station officer said today that the drifting balloon which went out to sea at Scituate, Mass., doubtless was the observation craft which broke away from here early today, while unaccounted for. The craft was trailing about 1500 feet of rope which it disappeared into the darkness and bore the identification "U. S. Navy."

The craft was 150 feet long and valued at about $50,000.

Thomas L. Chadbourne, New York Lawyer, Maine Visitor—Former Mayor Peters of Boston Gives Candidate First-Hand Information on Police Strike

DARK HARBOR, Islesboro, Me., July 25.—John W. Davis, democratic presidential nominee, had an engagement today to confer with Thomas L. Chadbourne, New York lawyer, who was one of the principal backers of William Gibbs McAdoo for the nomination at the New York convention.

Mr. Chadbourne, who is visiting at Bar Harbor, 50 miles away, told Mr.

Davis that he would arrive at the Gibsons home on Seven Hundred Acre island early in the day. It was understood that one purpose of his call was to move his personal assurance of support of the national ticket.

IN TRENCHES AT SAO PAULO

Rebel and Federal Troops Apparently Expect Long Period of Fighting

Government Communique Asserts Federal Troops Are Improving Position

SANTOS, Brazil, July 25.—An official government communique issued last evening says:

"Since yesterday our left wing has made an appreciable advance, taking many prisoners. Advantageous positions at Villar Mariana and Perito have been occupied. Our artillery, preparing for infantry action, dislodged redoubts of the rebels who are losing ground."

BUENOS AIRES, July 25.—(By the Associated Press) The impression is growing stronger here daily that the Brazilian Federal forces near Sao Paulo are making formidable resistance. It is becoming clear from scraps of information reaching here that the fighting between the federal troops and the rebels has resolved itself into trench warfare.

The rebels' main defenses are reported to have been constructed under the direction of former Italian and German officers who served in the European war and who have been residing at Sao Paulo. Indications are that the federal troops east and north are at a considerable distance from Sao Paulo, but in the south have taken some suburbs and are well within bombarding distance of the city.

WATER CONSUMPTION REACHES NEW LEVEL

Water consumption in this city, according to today's official figures, when a total of 7,700,000 gallons was recorded as passing through the city's mains. The average consumption is six million gallons, the amount varying slightly according to weather conditions.

The reason for the increase was the extreme heat, for in many houses the water was allowed to run steadily all day so that residents might have a good drink when they pleased. A large amount was also used watering down property adjoining houses in an attempt to defeat the heat wave.

While the amount consumed yesterday is way above the average, there is no danger of a water shortage even if similar amounts were drawn for several days. Supt. Gardner has great faith in the city's sources of water supply and believes there is plenty of water to serve the city's needs for a long time to come.

PURCHASING AGENT HITS PUBLIC SERVICE BOARD

Noose Draws Tighter About Chicago Slayers

CHARGES PUBLIC SERVICE BOARD WITH USURPING AUTHORITY

Purchasing Agent Donnelly Claims Public Service Board is Attempting to Exercise an Authority That Has Been Delegated by Law to His Office

Purchasing Agent Edward Donnelly charges the members of the public service board with attempting to usurp authority belonging to him in connection with the purchase of a 2½ ton truck for the water department for which bids were opened yesterday morning.

The purchasing agent's charge comes as the result of a letter which the board instructed to be sent to him stating that the "truck to be purchased for the water department must meet with the approval of the board before award is made."

Although the letter is dated July 23, the purchasing agent did not receive it until this morning and made immediate reply. In his letter he says he is willing to receive recommendations from the board but refuses to allow them to make the award, which they are attempting to do, he claims.

The letter from the public service board to the purchasing agent follows: "At a meeting of the board of public service, held Wednesday, July 23, 1924, it was voted that the truck to be purchased for the water department, and for which bids will be opened July 24th, must meet with the approval of the board of public service, before award is made."

"In reply to your communication, I beg to inform you that under yesterday's date I wrote to Supt. Gardner of the water works department requesting his recommendations be made at as early a date as possible, so that this office may not be unduly delayed in making an award, as to which truck was best suited to the needs of his department. I did this in order to cooperate with this department.

"At this time I would inform you that although I am always willing to receive their recommendations regarding the purchase of materials or supplies for the departments under them, provided these recommendations are made before the award of the contract, nevertheless, I must refuse to allow them to make the award, which is what they are attempting to do, as this power has been delegated by law to this office alone."

LOEB FAVORED HANGING PENALTY IN FRANKS MURDER CASE

Newspaper Reporter Testifies to Conversation With Rich Slayer on Day Body of Lad Was Found—Noose Tightens as Witnesses Are Called

CHICAGO, July 25.—(By the Associated Press) The weaving of flimsy threads of circumstantial evidence into the finely-meshed web which holds Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb guilty of the kidnapping and murder of Robert Franks, was recounted today by witnesses who helped bring wealthy young college students to "the mercy of the court."

Police officers, newspaper reporters, and a friend of one of the boys were called by the state in the hearing before Judge John R. Caverly to tell of the first hint of suspicion directed against the pair and of the development of a chain of accusative evidence which led eventually to the confession and guilty pleas.

Reporter Called

Howard Mayer, a Chicago reporter and student at the University of Chicago with the two defendants, told of Loeb's effort two days after the murder to give him a scoop by suggesting the probable course of the kidnapers in collecting the ransom money from Jacob Franks, father of the slain boy.

"Don't use my name in the story," Loeb exclaimed to another reporter, to whom he had given a "hot tip," Mayer said.

Loeb's club, given him on May 23, Mayer testified, suggested that he go to the drug store to which the ransom letter written to the elder Franks directed the parents to call for a "Mr. Johnson," who would give him instructions for depositing of the ransom money.

Loeb for Hanging
"Whoever committed that crime should be strung up," Loeb told Alvin Goldstein, reporter for the Chicago Daily News, on the day young Franks' body was found, the latter testified. Two friends of Leopold earlier described "birding expeditions" in the vicinity of the culvert with Leopold and other students of ornithology, which was Leopold's hobby.

Interest Unabated

No abatement of interest was manifested when the third day's hearing against Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb, who have pleaded guilty to kidnapping and murdering Robert Franks, opened before Judge Caverly.

WASHINGTON, July 25.—Luis Angel Firpo was received today by President Coolidge, who greeted him cordially in a brief interview. Firpo shifted from one foot to the other, but apparently did not trust his English sufficiently to reply.

BOY FOUND ON ROAD IN SERIOUS CONDITION

A boy was found lying in an unconscious condition in the centre of Rogers street near Rogers Hall school shortly after noon today by James Dugan of Andover, who was passing by in his machine.

The boy was taken by Dugan to St. John's hospital where he was identified as Walter Abbott, aged 15 years, of 19 Crosby street. While no definite information concerning the nature of his injuries was obtainable, it was said at the hospital that he is in a serious condition.

Dugan also reported the accident to police headquarters and advanced the theory that the boy had fallen from a truck, which he had passed a few moments before finding the lad.

A police investigation was started immediately but up to 1.30 p.m., no report had been made and the officer at the desk stated in his opinion that the boy had fallen from the back of a truck was correct.

The picture in the upper right gives a clear idea of the damage to the "S. S. Boston" when the tanker, "Swift Arrow," lurched through the fog and darkness off Point Judith, R. I., and collided with the port side of the Boston-New York excursion boat. Through the stateroom can be seen two blood-stained pillows. Behind them one victim was wedged so tightly that acetylene torches had to be employed to cut away the battered structure to free him. SPRINGFIELD GETS MILLIONS CHEAPLY

SPRINGFIELD, July 25.—The City of Springfield today floated a group of bonds totalling $4,134,000, the interest in its history, at a net interest rate for the entire issue of 3.55 per cent. A large amount of the loan was negotiated at the rate of 3½ per cent, a rate not equaled in 12 years. The loan was made by a syndicate of Boston and New York bankers. Of the total $3,794,000 will be used to pay the city's part in the cost of the Hampden county memorial bridge. The rest are school, sewer and park loans. The bonds run from one to 30 years.

S. S. BOSTON PURSER HOME

Harry G. Lawson Gives First Hand Word Picture of the Accident

Was Standing Within 30 Feet of Point Where Tanker Rammed Liner

At his home in Gorham street, Lowell, today for the first time since his boat, the Boston, was rammed in a thick fog off Point Judith last Monday night, Harry G. Lawson, the boat's purser, told the story of the collision as it looked to him at a spot not 30 feet distant from the point where the steel covered prow of the Swift Arrow gouged out a huge, gaping hole in the port side of the palatial Boston-New York liner.

Saying that he was dead tired, that last night, Thursday night, gave him his first sleep since the crash and that he had talked of the collision until he was hoarse, Mr. Lawson nevertheless went over it again for a representative of The Sun and made it possible for Lowell people to obtain a first-hand word picture of the story.

Let Mr. Lawson tell the story. "The first thing I am inclined to say to you is that rumors of the actions of the boat's crew of 183 men at the time of the collision have been grossly misquoted," he began. "There has been criticism of the crew's inefficiency, but the fact that we landed nearly 900 passengers without serious injuries, that there was no hysteria, no panic, no stampede, is the answer to such criticism."

"Once a week on the Boston we have fire and boat drill."

"All the lifeboat equipment is tested and approved by government inspectors and it must be in perfect working order. It cannot be otherwise. The crew was well handled in the emergency and it did its work quickly and efficiently. No boats were dropped into the water one on top of the other. They were all properly lowered and were ready for occupancy before passengers were ready to get into them."

"Now for the story of the crash," he continued. "I should say the time was about 11.40 p. m. There was a dense fog and I do not think the Boston was making any headway, at least, I was not conscious of the throbbing of the engines. I had just made a round of the ship and had gone into the office on D deck. I heard the tanker blow once and in a few seconds blow again. The second whistle sounded so much nearer than the first that I thought whatever ship it was, she was traveling at a pretty fair rate. I went outside and looked over the rail. There were two men near me. Suddenly the Swift Arrow loomed up out of the fog, loomed up as big as the Woolworth building, and I hollered to the men

RAILROAD WANTS ORDER ANNULED

BOSTON, July 25.—The Boston and Albany Railroad company in a petition filed in the state supreme court today, asks the annulment of an order of the state department of public utilities issued on July 1, authorizing the issue of $1,500,000 of bonds of the railroad company. The order was issued at the request of the Central Railroad, lessor, the proceeds of the bonds to be used for permanent improvements.

The Boston and Albany asserts that the department has not jurisdiction to compel issuance of the bonds without the approval of the directors of the Boston and Albany and that the order impairs the obligations of the lease.

NEW UNIFORMS FOR TRAFFIC OFFICERS

Traffic officers of the city will soon appear in new khaki uniforms similar to the ones worn by Boston traffic officers, according to a statement issued by the mayor today.

Decision to approve a requisition for these uniforms, the mayor said, was made after a conference with members of the public safety committee of the city council. The project met with general favor among the committee men.

There are 13 men on the traffic squad, 12 patrolmen and one traffic sergeant. The new uniforms will cost about $26 each and the city will pay one-half of the cost and the officers the other half. The mayor is ready for immediate action in this matter and will sign a requisition as soon as one is forwarded by Deputy Chief Downey, who is acting head of the police department during the illness of Chief T. R. Atkinson.

The new uniforms are to be of khaki, with a military style, with Sam Browne belt and leather puttees.

COMPLETING PLANS FOR LABOR DAY

Trades and Labor council announces that Rev. James I. Corrigan, S.J., of Boston college, well known as a public orator and a student of social problems, will speak from the banded stand on South common, Labor day, in connection with the local observance arranged by organized labor.

Robert A. Bakeman, of Peabody, another invited guest, will speak on "The Aims and Claims of Labor." Entries for the baseball contests will be received from all teams playing in Lowell, and must be filed before Aug. 25. Thomas Crowe, secretary of the sports committee, 54 Fulton street, will receive entries. All other athletic events will remain open for entrants until Labor day.

COMMUNICATIONS

Editor of The Sun.
Dear Sir: In the event of having three Twilight leagues in the city, why could not Alumni field be opened to our Twilight leagues?

At the present time the Junior League is using "newspaper" for bases and home plate, with only two old seats for the fans. Conditions could be a lot better with little or no expense.

At the South common a 12-inch board, in fact the end of an egg box, is being used for home plate. Why not help the boys a little and keep sports crawling in the city?

The fans of Lowell join us in asking: When will the First street oval be fit to use? 1924 or '30?

When will Washington park be made into respectable condition for ladies to witness baseball?

When will O'Donnell park have bleachers and be made suitable for ladies to attend?

When will the lawn tennis space be finished on the North common?

After July 1 it was promised to give the City Twilight league the right to use the South common for baseball games, to play two games a week, each team. Upon this statement the managers of the leagues spent $300 to $400 to outfit their teams, banking on the promise of the park department that the First street oval would be ready for the Lowell Twilight League to play ball. The managers of the City Twilight League are trying to produce clean sport and stimulate general interest in baseball, but support and co-operation from the park department is needed that this end may be reached.

Sincerely,

JOHN GOLDEN,

JOHN M. BELL,

"Happiness," now playing at the Merrimack Square theatre, resembles "Big of My Heart," in that both stories point out a similar moral—optimism pays. Laurette Taylor, comedienne par excellence of both stage and screen,

FAMILY OF MURDERED BOY

Here are the parents, younger brother and baby sister of Francis McDonnell, 8-year-old boy, assaulted and murdered in the woods at Port Richmond, Staten Island, N. Y. This picture was taken immediately after the finding of the body. plays the part of a little Brooklyn shopgirl, who brings cheer into the home of a wealthy nation, whose life is just one of boredom, superinduced by too much money. The story is good, and its chief conveyance is past expression. "Don't Marry for Money," the picture which fills out the bill, is a whole of a picture. The management describes it as a story that fills the heart and fills the eyes. That description fits it. Don't miss this combination! And remember that at the Merrimack Square one can find cleanliness and comfort, two much-to-be-desired conditions in these red-hot days and nights.

RIALTO THEATRE

Marjorie Daw, Edward Earle, Hedda Hopper, Charlie Murray, Betty Francisco and Lee Moran are but a few of the stars who appear in "Gambling Wives," a modern drama that is now being shown at the Rialto theatre. "Gambling Wives" tells how both husband and wife are addicted to gambling, he with "the boys," and she "at bridge" with her friends. He loses the family savings, and she in trying to win it back gets all tangled up in a serious affair. How they both find themselves before it becomes too late forms the basis of this story. The picture is elaborately staged with both settings and beautiful clothes. Neal Hart in "Butterfly Range," an entertaining western drama, is the Comedy and a new Fox News are also added attraction, while an "Our Gang" included in the program.

STEAM FREIGHTER GOES TO BOTTOM

NEWPORT, R. I., July 25.—Steam freighter Mabel L. The port tail shaft broke and in 20 minutes the vessel was sinking beneath the surface. The crew took to boats and were picked up by the steamer Stephen A. Hoyle, plying between Boston and New York, which transferred them to the Goffe, which landed them here in the clothes they stood in. The wreck report will be made at her home port. It was stated that the vessel carried no cargo at the time she foundered. She rates 133 net tons.

DRACUT LAWN PARTY WAS BIG SUCCESS

Dracut Centre was the gathering place for hundreds of men, women and children from the surrounding countryside last evening, the attraction being a lawn party provided by active members of the Men's club of the Centre Congregational church. Clark M. Chubb and ten young men comprised the committee in charge of the sales tables. Enjoyable music was given by the Salvation-Army band of Lowell. Seymour White, with an exhibition of "sawdaws," greatly amused the young folks.

The grounds were handsomely decorated with Japanese lanterns and electric lights, Vincent Hutton having charge of all arrangements. Many food and drink stands did a thriving business. The attractions and attendants were as follows:

Baptist Minister Gives Tanlac Full Credit

No greater praise can be accorded a medicine than the voluntary testimony of a minister of the gospel. The preacher's high calling puts a grave responsibility on his every word, and he will not jeopardize his reputation by commending a thing without first assuring himself it is all right.

Tanlac has been endorsed by numbers of prominent ministers. They have put Tanlac to the test of personal service and their words carry conviction because they say what they know to be the truth.

One of the latest to speak out in behalf of Tanlac is Rev. B. E. Bell, a retired Baptist minister, 207 Elm St., San Antonio, Texas, who says:

"Before taking Tanlac I had suffered from stomach and nerve troubles for over 30 years and there were times when my condition was such that it required almost superhuman effort for me to prepare my sermons and go through with my Sunday services. Indeed, my work seemed like some great obstacle across my pathway—a burden too big to carry in my weak physical condition.

"But in six weeks' time Tanlac transformed my entire outlook, giving me what seemed like a new set of nerves and a brand new digestive system. My appetite became ravenous, my nerves steady, my liver action regular and I could sleep sound for the first time in years. Whenever I have the slightest symptoms of trouble now I always resort to Tanlac."

FATHER BRINGS SUIT AGAINST DAUGHTER

John Gidas, represented by Attorney F. C. Zacherer, claims that his daughter and her husband fraudulently took away his farm for their own occupancy and use. Stephen and Helen Bentas, represented by Attorney Albert S. Howard, deny the allegations and say they purchased the farm from Gidas in good faith and that they paid more for it than it was worth.

MANY UNEMPLOYED

Fewer Employed in June Than in May and for Lower Wages

(Special to The Sun)
BOSTON, July 25.—That there was no improvement in employment conditions in June, as compared with May, but that there was rather a less number of persons employed, and at lower average weekly wages, is indicated by reports submitted to the state department of labor and industries.

In accordance with its custom, the department collected from employers in Massachusetts statistics concerning their pay-rolls, taking in each month the figures for the pay-roll week ending nearest the 15th day. Eight hundred and fifty establishments, employing about one-third of all the workmen in the state, reported in both months, and upon their figures the department bases its conclusions.

During the June week, there were employed in these establishments 193,234 persons, whose earnings aggregated $4,403,580, an average of $22.79 per person. For the May week, the total number employed was 199,014, their aggregate wages were $4,537,658, and the average wage per person was $23.10.

Hence it will be noted that the number of employees dropped 5,780, or 2.9 per cent; the aggregate pay-rolls were reduced $133,798, or 2.9 per cent; and the average weekly earnings fell off 31 cents, or 1.3 per cent.

In June, as compared with May, there were decreases in the number employed in 27 of the 36 industries reporting, and increases in nine. Average weekly earnings decreased in 20 industries, and increased in 16.

In the boot and shoe industry there was a decrease of 4506 employees, not confined to the principal centres, this figure representing 3.3 per cent. of the total number of employees in the establishments reporting. In cotton goods, there was an increase of 1474 employees, or 4.3 per cent., due to the resumption of operations in a large mill in Fall River. In woolen and worsted goods, there was an increase of 562 employees, or 4.3 per cent., due principally to increased activity in several of the smaller localities.

Fluctuations of more than $2 per week in earnings occurred in three industries, and there were four others in which the change was between $1 and $2. The largest increase was $1.84 per week in cars and general shop construction; the largest decrease was $2.87, in musical instruments.

Of the 850 establishments reporting, 240, or 28.3 per cent., were reported as operating on full time and at full capacity. The remaining 610, or 71.3 per cent., were not operating up to normal capacity. Of these, 244, or 28.7 per cent. of the total, were operating on full time, but at part capacity, and 336, or 39.5 per cent., were operating on part time and at part capacity. Thirty establishments were reported idle, these including eight in the boot and shoe industry, and seven in the cotton goods industry.

Normal operating schedules, it will be noted, continued to be the exception; in only six of the 36 industries included in the report did the number of establishments operating normally exceed the number operating below normal. These included bread and other bakery products; printing and publishing, book and job; printing and publishing, newspapers; rubber goods; slaughtering and meat packing; and tobacco manufacture.

For some of the leading cities, the statistics are as follows:

	Establishments Reporting	Employed June, 1924	Employed May, 1924	Average Earnings June, 1924	Average Earnings May, 1924
Boston	176	25,544	27,544	$26.14	$26.28

Worcester	56	11,891	11,609	27.28	25.73

Comparing the month of June with the same month one year ago, it is found that the decrease in the number employed has been nearly 20 per cent.

Several of the leading industries, in fact, showed a decrease in excess of 20 per cent., these including cotton goods, boots and shoes, foundry and machine shop products, rubber products, and electrical machinery, apparatus and supplies. Those which reported decreases ranging between 10 and 20 per cent. were woolen and worsted goods, dyeing and finishing textiles, and paper and wood pulp.

Of the establishments reporting in June, 1924, 382 submitted figures showing separately the wages of male and female employees. In these establishments the average weekly earnings of male employees were $27.08, and of females $15.91.

Average weekly earnings in excess of $20 were paid to males in these industries: Women's clothing; printing and publishing, book and job and newspaper; furniture and metal clothing. For females, average weekly earnings in excess of $20 were noted only in printing and publishing, those in day, he said, when Gendreau, after accusing him of killing a pet dog, diverting water on his farm in Wiganville and erecting road blockades in the same locality, threatened to shoot him with a revolver. "For the sake of safety first," said Laporte, "I ran away from him."

Threatened to Kill Him

Other witnesses who corroborated Laporte's testimony were Andrew Jones, Joseph Lamonte, Joseph Langlois, while the defense introduced as material witnesses, Mrs. Gendreau, defendant's mother, his brother, Arthur Gendreau and Arthur Barber.

Upon hearing both sides of the case, Judge Enright said he felt satisfied that the whole affair was the outcome of family difficulties. Laporte and Gendreau own adjoining tracts of land in Wiganville, one which there has been considerable dispute. The case will be re-heard in superior court, defendant being released today in $300 bonds.

SOME PRANKS A TORNADO PLAYED

LA FOLLETTE BOOMERS HAVE MEETING

WASHINGTON, July 25.—The national executive committee of the La Follette presidential campaign was called together for its first meeting here today. Ten men and women, to whom the Wisconsin senator yesterday delegated practically complete authority, were summoned for the meeting, which promised to be prolonged. Among the committee's problems were questions affecting the selection of presidential electors, the endorsement of candidates seeking to run with the general La Follette endorsement for officers in several states, and plans for financing the campaign.

FRANK RIGGS GAVE THE COPS A RIDE

Visions of an early-morning holdup in the vicinity of the Middlesex street depot confronted the police today when a telephone message at 3.30 a. m. conveyed the news that a man giving the name of Frank Riggs of Lincoln street, had been robbed of $50 in cash, and a Boston and Maine railroad pass. Officers Charles Sharkey and Wilfred McDonald were detailed to investigate. While proceeding to the scene in an automobile, they picked up Sergeant Frank Maloney, but upon arrival at the depot, the hold-up theory was exploded by Riggs himself, who stated that everything was all right, and that he knew the man who had his money. As he stated that he did not want further police assistance, the cops returned to the station.

NEW YORK, July 25.—Two sets of congressional, state senatorial and assembly candidate to run on the presidential ticket, headed by Senators La Follette and Wheeler, will be placed in the field within the next fortnight following conventions of the two parties. The second will be that of the American labor party to be held here early in August. In order to have a place on the ballot, the American labor party will use the emblem of the socialist party, the latter party being the only group affiliated with the American labor party which has legal standing in the state.

Reports that earnings of the Standard Glass company were at the rate of $7 a share have given strength and activity to the stock, much of the buying for out-of-town account being based, it was said, on belief that the directors probably would increase the annual dividends rate to $1 or $5 a share.

A dispatch from the governor of Macao to the Portuguese consul general here says the aviators are sailing from Hong Kong to Seattle.

COOLIDGE READY TO START ON SPEECH

WASHINGTON, July 25.—President Coolidge is gathering considerable information on the presidential situation in West Virginia, the home state of John W. Davis, his democratic rival in November election.

Republican leaders generally regard West Virginia as one of the battlegrounds of the campaign because it is Mr. Davis' home state. Hughes carried the state by about 3,000 against Wilson in 1916, and Harding had a plurality of about 60,000 votes over Cox four years ago.

Mr. Coolidge continues to devote the odds and ends of his time to working on his acceptance speech. He has not started actual dictation of the address but is engaged in assembling his material and in drafting the outline. He hopes to have it completed ten days in advance of the notification ceremonies on August 14.

TWO MAYORS RUNNING FLINT'S AFFAIRS

By N.E.A. Service
FLINT, Mich., July 25.—This is a city with two mayors.

And both are trying to run its affairs.

David R. Cuthbertson, recalled at a special election July 15, refuses to abdicate the mayor's office to Judson Transue, elected, with the aid of the Ku Klux Klan, to serve out the unexpired term of eight months.

With Cuthbertson still holding down the mayor's easy chair and still riding in the mayor's big limousine, Transue, duly sworn in, is walking to work and conducting the city's official business from the city clerk's office.

Betty Sturdivant, official secretary to the mayor, is having the busiest time of her career.

When anybody drops around to see the mayor, she is compelled to ask, "Which mayor?"

Transue, immediately after being sworn in, went to the mayor's sanctum to take charge. Cuthbertson, however, still sat in the big easy chair at the mahogany desk. And he refused to budge a foot.

He asked Transue if he personally would undertake the putting out job. Transue replied he might. If it wasn't for the fact that he was suffering from sciatic rheumatism.

"You couldn't put me out, anyway," retorted the husky Cuthbertson, once a lumberjack.

"I don't be too sure about that," replied his rival. "I used to be a pretty good boxer."

Cuthbertson was swept into the mayor's office in April, 1923, largely through the women's help. But soon after he took up the reins recall rumblings began to be heard.

They materialized this spring. And after the recall had carried, Cuthbertson became a candidate to succeed himself. He received 10,054 votes against 11,483 polled by Transue.

Cuthbertson, however, contends there were irregularities in the election. In one precinct, more votes were cast than there were voters, he insists.

And he'll stay in office, he declares, until he is "thrown out."

SUMMER ACTIVITIES AT GIRLS' CITY CLUB

A meeting of the executive committee of the Girls' City club under the chairmanship of Miss Helen Ryan, was held last evening at which time several matters of importance were discussed and disposed of. Since the acquisition of the new property known as the Green Lantern, various policies and methods of procedure in conducting the establishment have been tried. That a set program of activities with regular dates was needed was clearly seen by the management and last evening a tentative program for August was drawn up. September will mark the beginning of the winter for both clubs and recreation hall, and initial plans were made last evening and programs arranged.

Among the more important rules compiled last evening was the dancing schedule including admission price. During the month of August, dances at the Green Lantern will be held on Friday evenings only. The subscription for both gentlemen and ladies will remain the same. Club members whose dues are paid up to date will be admitted for fifteen cents, the regular amount charged at winter parties. The charge becomes effective this evening.

Monday evening the ukelele and song clubs will meet at the Green Lantern.

Extensive plans are being made for the annual convention of the State League of Girls' clubs which this year meets in Lowell. Programs of sports, songs, cheers and other entertainment are being arranged. Following a sumptuous banquet the entertainment will be enjoyed at the Green Lantern. The Green Lantern is open every evening for members desiring to enjoy the restful atmosphere and invigorating breezes of the Merrimack.

STATE'S CASE AGAINST CHICAGO YOUTHS NEARLY CONCLUDED

Every Indication That Prosecutor Crowe Will Sum Up On Monday—Thirty More Witnesses to Be Heard Before Confessions Are Read in Court

CHICAGO, July 25 (By the Associated Press)—Prospects of completing by Monday the introduction of evidence against Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb, loomed today as more witnesses added their stories to those already told in the judicial hearing which is to determine the penalty to be meted out to the two slayers of Robert Franks. Thirty witnesses were scheduled to take the stand today and tomorrow. If there is no delay, the confessions of the two millionaires' sons and university students who said they killed for an experiment, will be read.

Monday is expected to see State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe close his case and the defense open its testimony, designed to mitigate the punishment. Technicalities of presenting evidence have been swept aside and the usual obstacles and objections interposed by the opposition have been taken form during the proceedings, which are merely to inform Judge Caverly of the full details of the crime. Forty-seven of less than 100 state witnesses had been examined at the conclusion of the second day's hearing yesterday.

DROWNING TRAGEDY NARROWLY AVERTED

A drowning tragedy was narrowly averted at Long pond, in Littleton, Wednesday afternoon, when Beatrice Bond of Wright street, North Chelmsford, a young girl, got beyond her depth and called for help. Lucy Potter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Justin Potter of Princeton street, North Chelmsford, a youthful swimming companion, came to the assistance of the helpless girl and managed to bring her ashore after a hard struggle.

The girls had gone out on a raft some distance from shore where the water was over their height. The Bond girl became exhausted on the return journey.

HARVARD SPAN IS TO REMAIN OPEN

BOSTON, July 25.—The metropolitan district commission decided yesterday that the Harvard bridge will be kept open for one-way traffic while repairs are made. The commission had voted previously to close the bridge entirely during reconstruction work, provided the commissioners of Boston and Cambridge concurred.

The metropolitan commission met on July 12 and discussed with the commissioners of public works of Boston and Cambridge, constituting the commissioners of the bridges between the two cities, the question of closing the Harvard bridge for repairs.

At yesterday's meeting, which was held at 1 Ashburton place, the officials from Boston and Cambridge made it plain to the commission that they were opposed to closing the bridge. The following vote was then adopted: "That the commissioners of the Boston and Cambridge bridges not having concurred in the vote of July 17, 1921, to close the Harvard bridge to travel, said bridge be kept open for one-way travel in accordance with the first vote of the commission and in accordance with the terms of the contract, dated July 10, 1924."

Moss-Picker Thought He Stepped on a Log But Learned Differently

Brother's Rifle Shot Kills 16-Footer and Saves Man's Life

MARKSVILLE, La., July 25.—Thomas Briggs of Little River, near here, was recovering today from attack yesterday of a 16-foot alligator he encountered while picking moss in the swamp.

In crossing a swamp containing about four feet of water Briggs stepped on something he thought was a log.

The "log" proved to be an alligator which caught Briggs above the knee, cracking the bone of his leg. After a struggle the alligator let go and made a vicious and unsuccessful attempt to catch Briggs' body. Briggs' cries attracted attention of a brother nearby who shot and killed the alligator.

HELD BOX PARTY

The barn of St. John's parish house in Chelmsford was the scene last evening of a highly enjoyable box party and entertainment, largely attended by young and old, who gaily participated in numerous festivities of the season and also partook of box luncheons "for two." Daniel E. Haley once more acted as auctioneer, arousing eager competition and securing good prices for the delectables sold in this manner. General dancing was enjoyed all the evening. During intermission, a splendid musical program by pupils of Guilbault's academy of pianoforte was given. There were also solo dances by Miss Lelandre. The committee in charge included Mrs. Emily L'Houreaux, chairman; Mrs. Robert Donahue, Mrs. H. L. WIFE WANTS DIVORCE DECREE SET ASIDE

NEW YORK, July 25.—An interlocutory decree of divorce obtained against James McVickar by his wife, the former Mrs. William Dilation of Philadelphia, has been set aside at her own request. It is announced by Edward W. McMahon, her counsel.

The decree, obtained in an uncontested action on May 7, was to become final on Aug. 7. Mr. McMahon said he appeared for Mrs. McVickar in the supreme court at Nyack, N. Y., on July 11, and when he gave reasons for not desiring the decree to become final, the court set it aside.

Mr. and Mrs. McVickar, who are both socially prominent, were married in December, 1922, in Jersey City. Mr. McVickar previously had been divorced, his first wife having been Mrs. Daisy Emerson Horner McVickar, daughter of a millionaire manufacturer of Baltimore. The present Mrs. McVickar's daughter is the wife of John Wanamaker, 2d.

A summer exhibition of paintings under the auspices of the Lowell Art association has been opened at the Whistler House and until further notice the house will be open daily to visitors. The canvases now hanging are by Boston artists and in the group are many striking compositions, some of them more or less familiar to those persons who follow exhibitions of the Guild of Boston Artists and the Boston Art club. On the whole it is a showing that well depicts the work of some of the best known Boston painters and allows Lowell people to become more intimate with them.

Among the artists who have pictures in the exhibit are John Lavalie, W. A. Kirkpatrick, Leslie P. Thompson, Marjorie Danforth Paxe, Harley Perkins, Philip L. Hale, William W. Churchill, Stanley Woodward, H. Dudley Murphy, Mary Hart Wood, Rosamond Smith, J. H. Emerson and Jean Nutting Oliver.

The exhibition will at least continue through August and September.

RUSSIA PREPARES TO MEET FAMINE

MOSCOW, July 25.—(By the Associated Press) The soviet government has appropriated $2,000,000 for the purpose of coping with the threatened famine in Russia according to an announcement just made by the central committee of the communist party. Of this amount, $1,500,000 will be used for seed and the rest for the direct assistance of the peasants in the worst affected areas. The central committee's announcement says that this year's shortage of grain will be 150,000,000 pounds. A good represents 6113 pounds.

ASKS ACTOR TO SUPPORT CHILD

Mrs. Martha Farrell has arrived in Chicago to insist that Billy Farrell, vaudeville headliner, who she says is the father of her son, aid in the boy's support. She had learned, she declares, Billy had married again because he thought she had obtained a divorce. He since has divorced his second wife. Farrell contends he was forced into marrying Martha, at the point of a revolver, when she was 16 and he was just 14. Martha says she will free him so he can wed his dancing partner, Nancy Reed.

Little Gifts From Conscience-Stricken, Add $600,000 to Uncle Sam's Coffers

He made a bet when a boy, That he could send a letter without his conscience hurt him So he returned two cents to the Government

By LARRY BOARDMAN
N. E. A. Service Writer

WASHINGTON, July 25.—Most people, at heart, are honest. Their conscience won't let them be otherwise. So believes Frank J. Thiel, assistant United States treasurer, who has charge of the federal conscience fund, now totaling more than $600,000.

The fund is made up of money sent to the government by individuals who have at one time or another defrauded the government. And their conscience will not give them peace.

Fear is in no way a factor, for in almost every case the money is mailed in long after possibility of detection has passed.

Started Fund
The fund was started in 1911. A contribution of $5 was sent in by a man who gave no name, but explained he owed the money to the government.

Treasury officials pondered long over the entry, finally deciding to put it down as "conscience."

Since that time anonymous contributions have totaled nearly $600,000, the largest item being a contribution of $50,000 in gold certificates.

Frank J. Thiel, assistant United States treasurer, keeps a watchful eye on the fund, partly because of official duty and partly because of personal interest.

"The conscience fund shows a wholesome condition," he says. "It indicates that people aren't so bad after all."

"A man will defraud the government. That, of course, is wrong. But the point is he knows it's wrong, and the thought won't let him rest. Years later, even after chance of discovery is past, his 'still small voice' moves him to restitution.

"We receive many remittances from ministers, who forward them in behalf of penitents. Once we received $14,250 from St. Paul's church in London.

"Once we published the fact that the fund's smallest remittance was 2 cents. Shortly afterward, we received a long letter from a Chicagoan, saying he was the individual who had sent it.

"It was conscience money, he explained, for a bet he had made when a boy that he could send a letter through the mail without using a stamp.

"He won the bet and his conscience hurt him ever since."

Another man once sent half of eight $1000 bills, which he had cut in two, explaining he owed the government $8000 and would mail the other half when he saw a notice in the newspapers that the first half had been received. He did.

FINE MAN WHO POSED AS MOVIE MAGNATE

Edward Moran, the self-styled chef who posed as a movie magnate and rode around town in a taxicab all day Wednesday, free of charge, was fined $25 in district court this morning when he was adjudged guilty of the larceny of $5 from Eldora Mongrain, owner of the cab. A charge of drunkenness was placed on file.

TAIL-END MACKS BOAST TRIO OF THIRD BASEMEN

PHILADELPHIA, July 25.—While several major league clubs are sadly in need of a competent third baseman, the tail-end Athletics boast three good players at that position.

Jimmy Dykes, regarded as a coming star at the position about three years ago, stands about third in the line.

Evidently Connie Mack has decided that Dykes isn't cut out to be a third sacker, despite the fact that he has a great arm, a wonderful asset to a player at that position. He is used at second.

A year ago Sammie Hale was purchased at the reputed cost of about $50,000. He failed to live up to advance notices and was soon derelicted in favor of Dykes.

Meantime, Mack has apparently decided that Hicenden, who has been playing substitute roles, is superior to the other two. He has the call at present.

CANDLERS AGAIN HALED TO COURT

ATLANTA, Ga., July 25.—Asa G. Candler, Jr., and Walter T. Candler, were made defendants in a $25,000 suit filed by attorneys for Clyde K. Byfield yesterday in Decatur, Ga. It was learned today.

The suit asked damages for alleged humiliation and damage suffered when the Candlers made an attempt to take forcibly a note for $20,500 from Byfield. The suit grew out of an incident alleged to have occurred aboard the steamship Berengaria, when Mr. Byfield was alleged to have been attacked in her stateroom by Walter T. Candler.

PHAROS WINS RICH LIVERPOOL STAKES

LIVERPOOL, Eng., July 25.—Lord Derby's Pharos, by Phalaris, out of Scapa Flow, today won the Liverpool cup with stakes of 2000 pounds. Somerville Tattersall's Baton Rouge was second, and P. Nelke's Cockpit, third. Pharos won by six lengths and a half separated second and third. Twelve ran. The better was 2 to 1 against, 100 to 9 against and 11 to 2 against.

CONSTANTLY IMPROVED BUT NO YEARLY MODELS

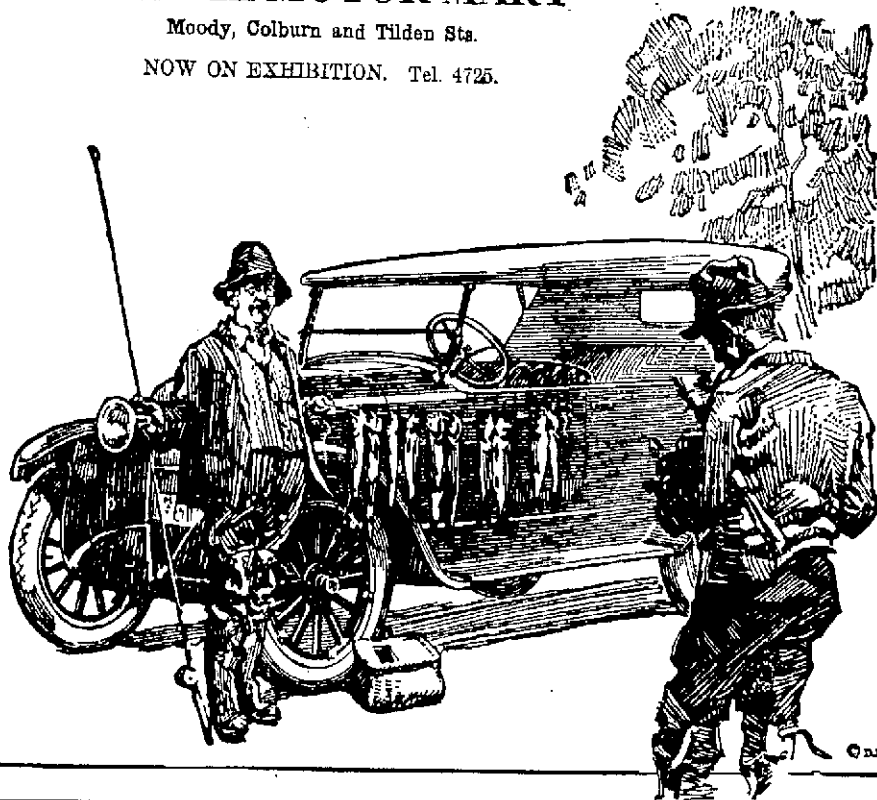

There are obvious benefits to the purchaser in Dodge Brothers policy of making constant, gradual refinements in their product instead of changing from one design to another year after year.

Chief among these is the fact that the car may be operated throughout the full limit of its usefulness without the extra depreciation loss which results from a rapid succession of radically different models.

TUNNEY DENIES FOUL

Carpentier Wants Return Match With American Light Heavyweight Champ

NEW YORK, July 25.—Gene Tunney today denied that the blow which crippled Georges Carpentier in the 14th round of last night's battle was foul, as alleged by Carpentier and his manager, Francois Descomps.

"It was an uppercut to the pit of the stomach," said Tunney. Carpentier has declared that he was struck low.

"I had been laying for that blow all through the fight," continued Gene. Carpentier, for whom a defeat in last night's match had been expected to mean retirement from the ring, said he could not give up his career until he had avenged himself on Tunney.

P. A. C. TEAM TRIMS THE VICTORIAS

In one of the fastest and hottest games ever played on the old North common, the P.A.C. baseball team last night defeated the Victorias by the score of 3 to 2.

Each team played a superb brand of ball. The winning runs of the P.A.C. crowd were set up in the first frame by Belanger, McBurnough and Smith. From then until the end of the game neither a hit nor a run was gathered by the winners.

The Victorias managed to connect with four hits during the fray but were able to score only two of them. The first Victorian run came over in the fifth when with three men on. White managed to get home on an out to first, Lemieux crossed the platter on a one-bagger and a pair of outfield errors in the seventh. Noel drove a hot one to Koponakos who threw to Gagnon, catching Arcand out at second and ending the game.

Another Junior Twilight League game is scheduled for this evening when the Emeralds meet the St. Joseph Cadets, league toppers, at 8:15, on the North common.

There is a touch of yesterday in the ice barges that are tugged into New York these summer days. There is not enough artificial ice manufactured to meet demands and ice, taken from lakes in the Catskill mountains last winter and stored in ice houses, is shipped into New York on the ice barges every day.

Capt. Kidd, the famous pirate, lived on Pearl street in lower New York. Many of his descendants are said to reside in the neighborhood today.

SECRET SPIRAL STAIRS IN COURTROOM

LONDON, July 24.—In the central hall of the law courts there are staircases which wind round large pillars which are various court rooms. Few leading to corridors and galleries in the huge pillars also contain specially people climbing them are aware that built secret staircases for bringing down people who make themselves objectionable in court. They have been used on various occasions. Once when a man flourished a revolver in court, reinforcements were hurried up by the spiral stairway and the man brought down in the same way. On other occasions disturbers who chained themselves to the gallery have been brought down quietly by the secret way.

IN NEW YORK

By Stephen Hannagan

NEW YORK, July 25.—Chinatown is wearing gala attire these nights.

The greatest Chinese grand opera company in existence is playing at Minner's Bowers theatre, where Weber & Fields once held sway and where persistent villains were thwarted from capturing the heroine every night by some hero of melodrama.

Chinatown is enjoying the sensation of its own theatre. Prices range from $1 to $5 and there are no vacant seats.

It has been ten years since the last Chinese company played in a theatre on Boyers street, played to a drama enacted in the audience while the paid performers watched in terror from the stage.

One night members of the Hip Sing and on Leong tong staged a pistol battle in the midst of a performance. The Hip Sings occupied seats in the front and rear of the theatre. When the fight broke the On Leongs were the Sings.

Three died in the first volley and centre targets for the strategic Hip six more were dying before the reign of long terror subsided within the ghastly play house.

But today all Chinatown is serene as the inhabitants turn out to hear tunes written 1000 years ago. Princess Chan Wei Fong, the prima donna, is a direct descendant of the Manchus.

There are 35 principals and an orchestra of six, which plays native instruments, in the organization that has come from China to delight the colony in New York a colony of liberty workers slaving to make the fortune that will enable them to live in comfort when they return across the sea.

GIRL DROWNS AT ROSELAND

Miss Marjorie M. Moore, 21, of Lawrence, Loses Life
in Merrimack

Makes Third Drowning Accident in That Vicinity in
As Many Days

LAWRENCE, July 25.—Marjorie M. Moore, 21-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Moore of 14 Wendell street, was drowned late yesterday in the Merrimack river, the third drowning in this district in the last three days. According to the Methuen police, Leonard Lagrosse of 235 Broadway, Lawrence, told them the girl and her sister, Alice, 18, were swimming with him in the river, just over the Methuen line, near Roseland, a summer resort. Suddenly and without warning, he said, both girls seized him. He said he had great difficulty in making them off, but finally did so and then brought Alice to the shore. About 15 feet away. He then dived into the river to get Marjorie, but she had disappeared. The Methuen police and volunteers dragged the river for a considerable time and were getting ready to use dynamite when the body of the girl was recovered by George Clark and Wilfred Lacourse of this city.

"BOB" BARBERS THINK THEY ARE UNFAIRLY PAID

CHICAGO, July 25.—Bobbed hair is given as the cause of wage increase demands being made by the journeymen barbers' union, which threatens a strike vote next week if an agreement is not reached.

"With hobs ranging in price from $1 to $1.50 with the prospect of curling, marcelling and shampooing, with the barber having to go to school to learn how to do it, we want more money," W. S. Leidy, union president said. The present scale is $26 a week, with sixty per cent of all checks over a total of $38. The demand is for $38 salary and the same percentage of all over $50.

BRYAN'S TRIUMPHAL RETURN

NEW MEXICO EDITOR IS GIVEN FREEDOM

SANTA FE, N. M., July 25.—More than two days after he was sentenced to jail at Las Vegas for contempt of court and after Sheriff Delgado twice had refused to honor pardons for him issued by Governor J. P. Hinkle, Carl Magee, is at liberty under $2500 bond. The Albuquerque editor was released last night following hearing on a writ of habeas corpus before the state supreme court. In a session replete with charges and counter-charges the state tribunal granted the editor temporary liberty pending the outcome of the court's deliberations regarding the power of pardon vested in the state executive in case of direct contempt. Attempts by O. O. Askren of Las Vegas, appearing as attorney for Sheriff Delgado, to inject the question of validity of the pardons granted Magee, met with failure and the court also refused to entertain his motion that Magee be forbidden to publish anything concerning the trial in his newspaper, the New Mexico State Tribune.

BAY STATE CIRCUIT RACES ATTRACTIVE

GREENFIELD, July 25.—Billy Flemming drove two winners on the second day of the Bay State circuit meeting yesterday, showing in front in straight heats with John Kyle in the 2:20 pace over the three-quarter-mile route and coming home in front with Guess work in the 2:15 pace, a $2000 stake.

Flemming also won this race in straight heats. Sayde Worthing, in the money only once in her two previous starts, out-trotted the field in the 2-year-old trot and won, handily, after dropping the first heat to Clover Guy.

Canners of fruit and vegetables use great quantities of all kinds of boxes for shipping their products.

LAWRENCE BOY MISSING FOR HIS 20TH TIME

LAWRENCE, July 25.—Nine-year-old Stanley Sobolowski of 13 Archer street has just established a record with the police of this city that they say will be hard to beat. For the 20th time within the last year Stanley's wanderlust got the best of him and he is reported as having wandered away again. His last escapade of this character came on Saturday of last week. He was found on Sunday morning wandering around Lawrence common. Neither punishment nor kind words have had any effect on him, and the boy has been unable to offer any explanation for his desire to wander.

NEW CENTRAL BRIDGE NEEDED

We are glad to find the Centralville Improvement Association taking up the question of a new Central bridge and the widening of Bridge street from Amory street to First street. That would call for a wider bridge; and if we are to have a new bridge, it must be at least as wide as Bridge street at Kearney Square so as to afford space for double car tracks and an auto driveway and sidewalk on either side.

This would necessitate the removal of a section of the Boot mill building on the west side and part of the Massachusetts company's building on the east side. It is not exactly determined by what right either company encroached upon the original roadway which was evidently laid out on the line of Bridge street from the square to Amory street, thus providing a street 65 feet in width. From Amory street to the bridge, the width is only 50 feet and the bridge itself is 55 feet wide. This is entirely too narrow to meet the demands of traffic over this route which is a section of the state highway through the Merrimack Valley to New Hampshire. The double car tracks are laid close to the easterly sidewalk on the bridge and the driveway on the other side is much too narrow to accommodate the great stream of traffic that is daily crossing the bridge in either direction.

The Sun nearly a year ago, pointed out the need of widening Bridge street from Amory to First street and the construction of a new and a wider bridge as part of the improvement. Some months ago the city council appointed a committee to investigate and report upon plans for a new bridge and the alternative proposition of repairing the old. As Engineer Kearney is a member of this committee, it is expected that the report soon to be submitted, will contain some very valuable information on the whole subject. It will then be incumbent upon the city council either to take steps to provide for the widening of Bridge street and the construction of a new bridge, or else to repair the old structure and leave the main task to some future city government.

The present bridge is wholly inadequate to the needs of our city and should, therefore, be torn down and a new structure provided in its place. It would be necessary to construct a temporary foot bridge across the river for public convenience during the work of constructing a new bridge, but all the vehicular traffic would have to detour to the Aiken street bridge. This improvement is practically imperative and the sooner it be undertaken the better for all concerned.

While it would be a costly proposition to widen Bridge street and construct a new bridge, yet most people who have studied the question, will admit that it would be a waste of money to repair the old bridge and that the widening of Bridge street and the construction of a wider and more substantial bridge to take the place of the present shaky, dangerous, inadequate and antiquated structure, offers the only proper solution.

DEMOCRATIC VICTORY INDICATED

Already some of the republican dopesters are figuring that President Coolidge will carry New York state, their chief reason for such a claim being that with the La Follette defection, President Coolidge cannot be elected without the vote of New York. But there is absolutely no reason for assuming that he can carry the Empire state. Governor Smith is the recognized leader of the democracy in New York. He is extremely popular, and as he will stump that state and others for Davis, it is difficult to see where Coolidge will gain the strength which his adherents claim for him. With the loss of republican states, to La Follette, it is plain that the republicans cannot win without New York, nor, making every concession to their claims, could they win with New York if La Follette carries even one-fourth of the states he claims to be favorable to his candidacy.

Despite the fact of Senator Wheeler's appeals, the main strength of the La Follette candidacy will be drawn from the republican party; and for this reason the defeat of that party is already a foregone conclusion. All the talk about a sweeping victory for Coolidge is sheer hot air. The people are tired of the dull business they have had under the republican administration and they want a change. The choice is between Davis and La Follette; and we do not believe the electorate will have any difficulty in deciding between a real statesman and a political insurgent in the role of dictator.

FREE STATE BOUNDARY

The Irish Free State has thus far carried out its part in the observance of the treaty under which the government of the United Kingdom was founded. That treaty provided for the settlement of the boundary line between the Free State and Ulster by the appointment of a commission in which the parties concerned would each be represented by a commissioner, and the British government by a third. Ulster refused to appoint a commissioner as provided for in the treaty and now the question of compelling her to comply with the provisions of the treaty is being considered by the privy council in session in London. Premier MacDonald wishes to know whether the provision of the treaty requiring Ulster to appoint a representative on the boundary commission is legal. If the privy council so decides, he will then proceed to enforce the treaty against the protests of Ulster.

Should Ulster be allowed to have her way in this case as she did in 1914, when she set up a form of dictatorship and denied the empire to give Ireland home rule, the result would be that the republican movement in Ireland would receive a great impetus, inasmuch as it would appear that the imperial government refused to enforce the provision of the treaty affecting Ulster in relation to the boundary question. The matter is a very serious one and unless the British government takes a stand in favor of enforcing the treaty, her attitude will be denounced as another betrayal of Ireland; and this epithet as applied to the situation would be fully justified.

It was provided in the treaty that within the first 30 days Ulster would have the option of voting herself out of the Irish Free State. That she did very promptly, but the treaty at the same time provided that certain counties of Ulster would have the privilege of deciding by a referendum vote, whether they should be under the government of Ulster or that of the Free State. In refusing to take any part in the settlement of the boundary question, Ulster is denying the people the right thus granted them under the treaty.

PITTSBURG PLUS

The Federal Trade Commission has issued an order against the Pittsburgh Plus method of fixing the price of the steel products of the United States Steel corporation. The "Pittsburgh plus" means that the price of steel shall be fixed at the price prevailing in Pittsburgh, plus the freight necessary to carry it to its destination. It would seem that the abolition of this rule will accomplish nothing as the company will have only to change its rule and adopt the Pittsburgh price rule, and let the purchaser pay the freight to the point of delivery. The matter will probably go to the courts for final decision.

LABOR IN POLITICS

It is to be regretted that Samuel Gompers on account of illness is unable to take any part in the present political campaign. If he were out and active, he would advise the labor men to hold their independence by refusing to endorse any political party. That is the policy by which the labor organizations can exert their greatest power in favor of their friends and against their enemies.

If the youthful Chicago murderers escape the death penalty, it will be said that it was because of the use of money by their wealthy parents. It seems that the cause of justice, law and order, not only in Chicago and Illinois but throughout the country, demands that these two criminals be sent to the gallows.

It is now stated that New York city has the cheapest taxi service, the charge being 20 cents a mile as measured by the taximeter. That seems to be a fair method of arriving at what the passenger should pay, as it is equally fair to all parties.

The bench reports on the eastern coast of New England, from Old Orchard to Boston, will have an opportunity to see the grand welcome to be tendered by the companies of the navy department on the return of the world flow about August 21. The planes will be equipped for alighting in the water until after the welcome demonstration, when they will be put on wheels to operate on terra firma.

The Net Weavers

Business men of Franklin, N. H., who used to sell great quantities of hair nets are getting a ray of hope for a revival in the big demand for that article since they have seen among the motor tourists reaching that place quite a few men wearing hair nets. The tourists claim that the nets preserve the "part" while motoring.

Scrap Iron Armor

A great tournament was being held. The field was gay with silken banners and costly regalia. The flower of the kingdom's chivalry slowly rode past the king. Suddenly he espied a knight whose ancient armor contrasted strangely with the splendor of the scene. "Sir knight, prithee tell me of what that marvelous shaggy and rusty-looking armor is made?" "O, king," answered the knight, "seeing that we are about to engage in a big fight, I would call it scrap iron armor."

Fishless Outlook

It was very cold, but still the angler sat patiently by the side of the stream waiting for the bite that did not come. An aged man approached and took up a strategic position behind him. "Are these nice little fish?" asked the angler, looking over his shoulder. The aged man shook his head. "No," he said. "Then it won't be a crime if I land a fish," pursued the sportsman. Again the aged man shook his head, till his gray locks fluttered in the breeze. "No," he said. "It would be a miracle!"

In the Hymnbook

The superintendent of a Sunday school in the East End of London tells the following story. Each Sunday a scholar is invited to select his favorite hymn to be sung by the whole class. One small Cockney, when asked to make his choice, surprised the teacher by announcing that he wanted the hymn about "the little Yiddisher boy pinching the old man's watch." On being asked for an explanation he turned up his hymnbook and pointed out the line, "the little Yiddisher boy pinched the watch of the old man." He slept, his faithful watch the little Hebrew kept."

The Ingenious Freddie

Teacher glanced at the clock and saw that the hands pointed to five minutes before 10 o'clock. Looking around the class she noticed that Freddie Franks, the bad boy, was late, as usual. "Has anybody seen Freddie this morning?" she inquired, and at that moment the teacher, looking rather flustered, entered the room. "Why are you late again, Freddie?" asked the teacher in stern tones. "Well, ma'am," replied Freddie, the ingenious, "just as I was coming along to school I saw a policeman shouting out to me: 'Hi, sonny, mind that steamroller!' So, of course, I stayed there and did as he told me."

Had Plenty of Wind

There is nothing shiffling about having a reasonable pride in one's belongings, and estate, but when a man has not the sense to keep his mouth shut about them he becomes a general nuisance. A farmer of this order had met a few of his acquaintances on the market day, and as usual soon monopolized the whole of the conversation. Talking about his steam thrasher, his reaping machine, his barns, his this and his that, until they were all heartily tired of listening to him. He was the first to go, however. "Aye," says one of them, "and has ye a winmill?" "Na, that's what ah hae nae," "Well, man, it's a pity ye had nae, for ye could blow it ye self!"

The Old Story

"Tomorrow," he promised his conscience, "tomorrow I mean to be good; tomorrow I'll think as I ought to; tomorrow I'll do as I should; tomorrow I'll conquer the habits that hold me from heaven away." But ever his conscience repeated one word and one only, "Today."

Tomorrow, tomorrow, tomorrow—thus day after day it went on; Tomorrow, tomorrow, tomorrow—till youth like a vision was gone. Till age and his passions had grown, and forth from the shadows came Death with the pillus syllable, "Now."

MAN ABOUT TOWN

Statistics concerning Henry Ford are always interesting, because the man has in less than 20 years risen from an ordinary small-business man to the richest man in the world, and his name has become in the same period, known in every book and cranny on the face of the earth.

Henry Ford is a very large employer of labor, having 162,732 names on his payroll. They do not all work in Detroit, however, as 121,214 are employed in manufacturing plants of the company at Detroit and elsewhere in the United States; 21,325 in the foreign lands. In addition to these employed by the Ford company—a total of 184,059—there are 32,575 men employed on Ford's D. T. and L. mill road, 2252 workers in Fordson coal mines, 729 men at work at the Henry Ford trade school and 769 employed at the Henry Ford hospital at Detroit, according to the latest available figures.

Just think what these figures mean. Henry Ford, a man and nothing more, having in his employ as many persons as live in the cities of Lowell and Haverhill, imagine for a moment how the lives of these 182,732 depend upon Ford—and the influence which he has upon them!

And then, reflect upon Ford's financial status. He has an income, in so far as is known, of over $1,000 a minute, day and night, $144,000 for every day of the year. With all this money, he does not do much, or he wants a bank or a manufacturing plant or any sort of an industry he has the money to purchase or build one to suit himself. Nothing that money can buy is beyond his reach, for he is the richest man the world has ever known. And the end is not yet—day by day he is spending his money wisely. It is not dead capital stored away in a safe deposit box, and wisely

Since there's no help, come, let us kiss and part;
Nay, I have done, you get no more of me,
And I am glad, yea, glad with all my heart,
That thus so clearly I myself can free;
Shake hands forever, cancel all our vows,
And, when we meet at any time again,
Be it not seen in either of our brows,
That we one jot of former love retain.
Now, at the last gasp of love's latest breath,
When, his pulse failing, Passion speechless lies,
When Faith is kneeling by his bed of death,
And innocence is closing up his eyes,
Now, if thou wouldst, when all have given him over,
From death to life thou mightst him yet recover.

—Michael Drayton.

Undoubtedly the semi-convertible type of electric car now in general use is an improvement over types of other years, but do you ever wish for another ride on the old type "open car" that annually made its appearance in May or June and stayed on the rails until some time in September? Memories are very fresh of headlong rushes for a place on the front seat or preferred "end" positions. A car ride to Tewksbury Centre was a treat, yes, a real treat on a hot evening and it did not cost much more than a nickel to go all the way to Tyngsboro square. New methods of transportation are an improvement, we have no doubt, but the old ways were pretty good and pretty cool and pretty much of a treat to youngsters 15 or 20 years ago.

Automobilists who have viewed the completed section of the new Princeton boulevard in the vicinity of Time street express great satisfaction with the pavement being laid there. Where the shoulders of the road have not been laid, motorists have an opportunity to see a cross section of the new road, which is over a foot in thickness and appears to be solid cement. This section of the road is of the new plastic block-paving type and from appearances it would seem that it would be many years before any appreciable wear would show. If the road is as good as it appears to be, the state will not have to worry about it once it is completed for many, many years. The spirit of automobilists will be assured, during a like period, of splendid travel artery to New Hampshire and the White mountains.

BETTER WIVES AND MOTHERS

The emancipation of women as evidenced by the evolution in dress from steel stays that made a twenty inch waist and the long street sweeping skirts to the simple clothes of the present day has certainly had its effect upon the health of women. With proper attention to diet and exercise a race of better wives and mothers is assured by it. If, however, ailments develop as evidenced by irascibility, backache, headaches, nervousness and irritability, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound may be depended upon to overcome them. Thousands of women testify to its success.—Adv.

COTTAGES BURNED AT NABASSET POND

Fire, believed to have been set by children playing with matches, destroyed two cottages at Nabasset pond, owned and occupied by George C. Moore, Jr., yesterday afternoon and threatened other cottages nearby.

The fire was discovered shortly before 5 o'clock and an alarm sounded which summoned the West and North Chelmsford fire apparatus and the Westford apparatus. The cottages in which the fire originated was a mass of flames when the apparatus arrived and the fire quickly spread to the one adjoining. Both cottages and their furnishings were completely destroyed. Camps located nearby were saved by the firemen, assisted by campers.

Trash

Consider the things that are packed in a trunk. No doubt, you would call them, just trash. The junkman might purchase the outlay for junk, yet he couldn't buy them for cash.

A wee pair of shoes that are brownish with age are packed in some cotton, with care. They've rested since time has turned many a page; since a wee baby's Mom put them there.

A box full of lace that has never been used. Another that's packed full of braid. Just memories sweet that must not be abused; just things that a grandmother made.

An old photo album that's faded and torn, with pictures of Dad, as a lover. It may be all crumpled, but ne'er can be shorn of the mem'ry that's held neath its cover.

Just trash, you may say. Things away out of date. But, after their story is told, you'll know that, to someone, they're well worth their weight, a hundred times over, in gold.

GIST OF RUSSO-JAP PACT MADE KNOWN
TOKIO, July 25 (By the Associated Press)—The conditions under which Japan will be willing to recognize the Soviet Russia decided upon by the cabinet yesterday. Include, it is authoritatively stated, a 55-year concession for oil, coal and timber on the island of Sakhalin and the exploitation by a Japanese company of the oil of the island, Russia sharing in the profits the percentage to be decided later.
 It is confirmed that Japan will not ask for any concessions on the Siberian mainland for the present.
HEIRESS WANTED AT ONCE IN IRELAND
KILLARNEY, Ireland, July 24—An American heiress with a large income and a few million dollars for the restoration of the mansion on the estate of the Earl of Kenmare would be highly appreciated by the entire population of the village of Killarney.
 The Kenmare mansion was destroyed by fire many years ago and the village sighs for the return of the days when the dwelling ranked as one of the most magnificent in the British Isles.
 Killarney has had lean years since the opening of the great war but now tourists, the source of the chief income of the village of 5,000 which is better known abroad, perhaps, than any other scenic spot in Ireland, are beginning to come again.

VACATIONS
 When Mr. Mann of Anglowa arrived with the Mrs. and youngsters at the vacation resort, there sat the usual assortment of fat kents playing pinocchie, and uncomfortably garbed women, playing bridge or such pongs.
 "What the dickens do they go on a vacation for?" Mr. Mann queried of Mrs. Mann.
 And yet the pinocchie-bridge scene may be found at countless thousands of resorts. Grown men and women go on vacations and do little more than play cards or similarly dodge boredom.
 These people could well take lessons from their children, who use this opportunity to let loose pent-up suppressions of the year and run about shouting and playing.
 Of course every fat paunched Gent can't play Indian or tag, but he can learn the lesson of letting his mind get into beautiful paths. He can get away from the hotel steps and hike along tree-covered trails, or across sweet-smelling country meadows.
 There are a thousand things he can do that would reduce his girth and put him in far better condition when the vacation ends—that is, unless he is an invalid.
 If a card table and a hotel porch is

SEVERAL FAST BALL GAMES ON CARD FOR LOCAL FANS TOMORROW

Abbot Worsteds, Crack Graniteville Outfit, Meets Dilboy Post at Alumni Field—Silesia Clashes With Ware at Ware—Other Games

Choose your ball park tomorrow afternoon and then go to it. For the entertainment of local fans, an interesting list of games is scheduled for this city and vicinity, foremost of which, perhaps, is that between the Abbot Worsteds and Dilboy Post, Greater Boston Twilight League parties, at Alumni field. This clash will get under way promptly at 4.15 o'clock, with Eddie Boyce as the probable Abbot pitching selection, and the strongest available Abbot lineup to counter the expected heavy attack of the visitors.

Encouraged by the success of the venture of last week in holding Saturday afternoon Class B baseball at Alumni field, the Abbot management booked the Dilboys for tomorrow. The Boston gang rhymes steadily to several of the classic performers in the circuit and will endeavor to prove their contention against the Abbot in their Alumni field party.

There is a great amount of rivalry existing between the Graniteville and Hub aggregations because of the fact that both clubs are fighting a nip-and-tuck race in the league standing, only a few fractional points separating them in the official rating of the league clubs. For this reason, they go at it hammer and tongs tomorrow and a record-breaking crowd is expected to look on.

The Abbot will probably use the following classy lineup: E. Crandall, 1b; J. Williams, 2b; St. Angelo, cf; Walker, rf; Damerra, 3b; G. Crann, lf; Cronin, 2b; Dee, c; Boyce, p. The Dilboy lineup will be: Marquette, 2b; Freeman, cf; O'Leary, 1b; Weaver, lf; Gregg, rf; Traynor, ss; McElrath, 3b; Carigan, c; O'Connor, p.

RED SOX BEAT CLEVELAND NINE

Win By 10 to 9 in 10-Inning Game—Detroit Still Tops Standing

Walter Johnson Blows Up But Senators Take Fourth From Chicago

NEW YORK, July 25.—Detroit, New York and Washington change positions so rapidly in the American league that they scarcely can keep tabs on their own standing. The Tigers' faraway victory over the Yankees yesterday elevated them to the head of the list again, half a game in the van of the world champions and Senators, who today are tied for second place.

In another game Detroit put over the deciding tally just in time to annex a 5 to 4 finish before hostilities were stopped at the end of eighth inning to enable the Yanks to catch a train for the west.

In spite of Walter Johnson's blow-up in the 8th inning Washington finally emerged victorious over Cleveland for the fourth time in the five-game series by a score of 7 to 5.

Russell held the White Sox safe during the remaining four sessions.

St. Louis dropped last game of the series with Philadelphia 2 to 0. Baumgartner twirled heady ball for the Athletics.

Boston staged a successful offensive against Cleveland in the battle for sixth place and drew up on even terms with the Indians by virtue of a 10 to 8 triumph in ten innings.

Baseball in the National league was confined to Pittsburgh, where Broncklyn lost the last game of its western trip to the Pirates by 8 to 1.

RAZE ANCIENT WALLS FOR PLAYGROUNDS

COLOGNE, Germany, July 25.—Some of the ancient walls of Cologne, which date back to the days of the modern Romans, are to give way to modern sport fields which are provided for in the city's plans for expansion as announced recently by Dr. Max Adamauer, chief burgomaster. A great sports stadium, built chiefly by men classed as unemployable, and already been completed, and 25 football fields, golf links, and space for other games have been provided for in the rearrangement of the districts on the edge of this ancient city.

Preliminary steps have been taken to enclose Cologne with a great green strip some 25 miles in length and averaging five-fifths of a mile in width. It is within this strip that space will be left for sport grounds of various kinds.

CITY TWILIGHT LEAGUE GAME THIS EVENING

Mario's Americans and the Bellevue, veteran City Twilight League rivals, will clash on the South common at 8.15 o'clock this evening. The game should be one of the best of the season, as both teams are anxious to annex the verdict and will put their best lineups on the field. Suburban Trask of one-hit fame, will work in the box for the Bellevues, while Herb Munro or Wayne Peterson will receive the pitching assignment for the Americans.

The City league has two games scheduled for next week. Tuesday night, the Centralville East Bids will meet the Americans, and on Thursday night, the bir Pawluetot A.A. Bellevue classic will be staged.

KNOCKS FRENCH IDOL TO RANKS OF PUGILISTIC SECOND-RATERS

Technical Kayo for American Fighter in Final Frame of 15-Round Mill—Carpentier, Groggy But Game Takes a Terrific Lacing

NEW YORK, July 25 (by the Associated Press).—Georges Carpentier, colorful French light heavyweight, war hero and idol of France, stands today, a retired pugilist, figuratively knocked out of the ring by the stinging left hand of Gene Tunney, American light heavyweight champion. Taps was rounded on Carpentier's career last night at the Polo grounds when he was technically stopped by Tunney in the 15th round of a scheduled 15-round match.

Knocked down four times in that hectic 10th round, battered into virtual submission, Carpentier stood up to his punishment as only a game man can, displaying the white flag of defeat only after a blow, which he alleged was foul, doubled him to the floor in writhing pain and made further participation impossible. The goddess of victory never once smiled upon the plucky brow of Carpentier during those 14 furious rounds of milling. Yet, even in the face of certain defeat, Carpentier kept on, making his last endeavor to be remembered.

The fight was a comparatively tame affair up to the 10th round, when it opened furiously. The American poured rights and lefts at the groggy Frenchman, who groped around with arms outstretched, endeavoring to catch Tunney's body and hanging up till the storm had abated.

During the 11th, 12th and 13th rounds Carpentier's combat was amazing. He traded punches with Tunney, fought at long range with him and appeared in the end of the round to recover from the hectic 10th round.

In the 15th round he tried to get from a semi-crouched position but the effort was too great and he sank to the floor, completely out.

If Carpentier keeps his pre-fight promise, his days in the ring are over. It was to beat Tunney or retire. In his last fight, and his defeat leaves no path for him.

C. M. A. C. WINS TWILIGHT LEAGUE GAME

In a Lowell Twilight league game on the South common last evening, the C. M. A. C. (trounced the Centralville Princeton by a count of 8 to 2. Umpire Abe Buckley called the game off in the sixth after the C.M.A.C. had gone on a hitting rampage and registered 13 or more runs. As the final half of the inning was not played, however, the score reverted to even innings, making the count 9 and 2.

In an effort to stem the relentless onslaught of the C.M.A.C., the Princetonians used three pitchers, McKenzie, Moylan and Noel. All met with unwelcome receptions, while Cornellier was holding his own for the C.M.A.C.

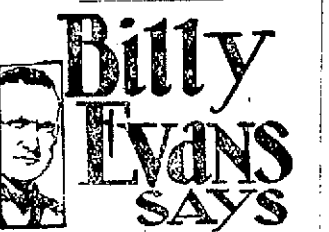

13 kinds of hits excused from C.M.A.C. bats. There were several of them in a row, and these, added to a few conspicuous errors on the part of the Centralville gang, aided materially in piling up the huge score.

The feature of the game was a pretty one-hand stop by Lavoie in left field. The score:

Apparently football and baseball have nothing in common as far as the college athlete is concerned.

A goodly number of the college gridiron stars also dabble in baseball. In late years the majors have been giving the college fields much consideration.

During the fall months the football practice of certain star athletes causes them to become national characters in this world of sport.

In all probability football fame has had more to do with a number of college stars getting a big bonus baseball trial than natural ability.

Of course, there are exceptions to every rule. Two of the game's greatest second basemen, Eddie Collins and Frankie Frisch, started in college football.

Collins won fame in the old days when the forward pass was unknown, when football was a survival of the fittest. Frisch won his children's honors at Fordham.

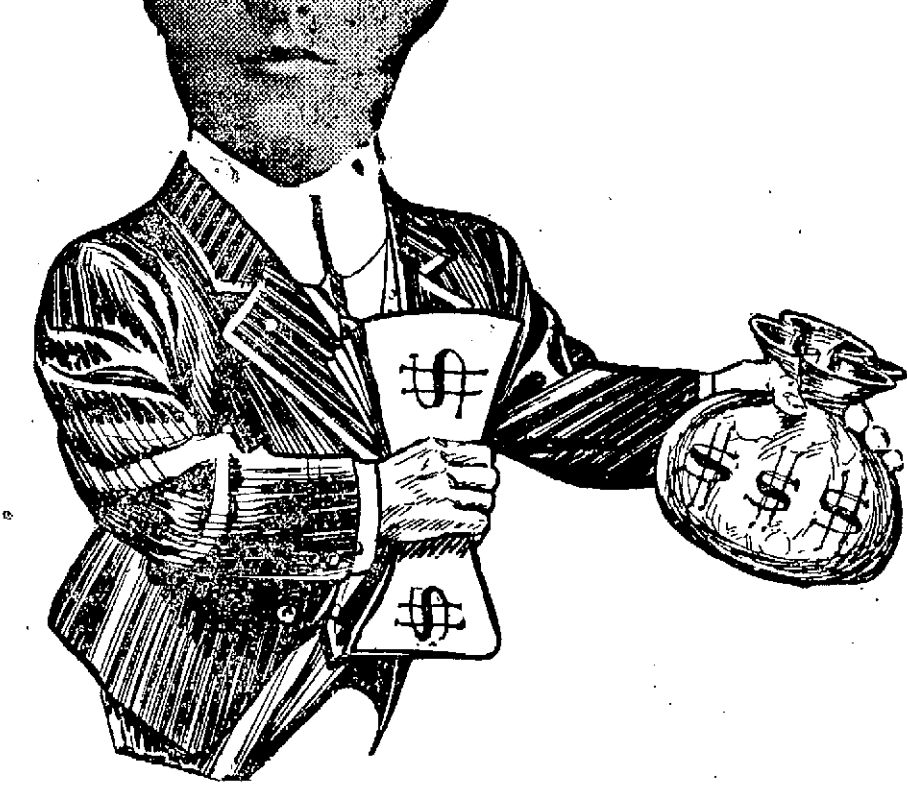

For these two who have become major league stars, it is possible to point out any number of failures.

It seems a decree of fate that only a very few athletes are permitted to become outstanding stars in more than one sport.

Football is a strenuous game. It takes a lot out of a player physically. It is possible that football so uses up the contestants that many are fatigued who would have starred in baseball if seriously handicapped.

The recent decision of Hank Haines, former member of the New York Yankees, to give up baseball and go into the tobacco business, with his father, is the latest example of the college football star to fall at baseball.

I've Made the Best Purchase in Years and I've Got the Goods to Prove It

SAMPLE LINE FROM THE RIVERSIDE MILL of R. I., AROUND THIRTEEN HUNDRED YARDS and over a hundred different styles, as the term samples would imply. These goods are principally suit lengths of different patterns, and in no case does the yardage contain more than four or five samples.

Bought through the Commission House of Schiller & Sons, 52 Chauncy St., Boston. I had first pick on this line and I don't mind telling you it wasn't through any friendship for me that I was honored by first choice. It's because I paid spot cash for goods purchased, and have them on my tables and win dows.

This mill catered mostly to high-class tailors, who get anywhere from $45 to $75 for a tailored made garment. Being a critical trade they handle only the finest woollens money can buy. The patterns and fabrics are really excellent. They were made by one of America's best mills. I have secured choice patens. In fact a complete tailoring woolen stock, as you know this is my dull season—yet I made this purchase because I know a real honest-to-goodness saving of hard-earned dollars is welcomed by the best of us. During the dull season this sale is the best advertisement I could give to a business that has stood the acid test for fifteen years in Lowell and is hale and hearty and growing to manhood.

Riverside Mills Sample Ends, $40 to $65 Value Made to Order . . . $27.50

This is an excellent opportunity for my old customers to take advantage of these values which I consider to be the best ever offered in this city. MAIL ORDERS to old customers only, whose names appear in our card index.

Big League Recruit Pines for Sand-Lots Back Home

George Connolly

CHICAGO, July 25.—In the Chicago White Sox have not only a great twirling prospect but a most unique character.

With every chance to become a big league star, Connolly doesn't get the slightest thrill because he is in the big show.

"Send me back to Texas, to good old Galveston town," is Connolly's favorite song, words and music by the same Mr. Connolly.

His Remarks of Star

Connolly has already proved that he is of big league caliber. He needs only a little more seasoning to make him a finished pitcher, a consistent winner.

It would seem that a "busher" could ask no more, but Connolly is far from satisfied. Here is his line of reasoning:

"This big league stuff is all right, but I'll take the small towns.

"When I go out to pitch for the Sox, the first thing I hear the fans say is, 'Who is that busher?'

"In the Texas league, where I played last season, it was always 'There goes Connolly. He's tough to beat.'

"When I walk down State street or Michigan avenue in Chicago, I don't get a rise out of the thousands who pass me.

"Now in Texas it was different. I had friends in every town in the circuit, and when I walked down the street lots of people spoke to me just as if I was a regular human being.

"Pay day is the one happy day in the majors. Every day was Christmas in the Texas league.

EVANS ELIMINATED IN CHICAGO GOLF

CHICAGO, July 25.—Chick Evans having been eliminated from a chance of winning the western amateur golf championship this year, the semifinals of the event were played at Hinsdale today with James Manion of St. Louis and Albert Seckel of Chicago constituting one match and H. R. Johnston of St. Paul, Minn., and Burton Mudge of Chicago making up the other.

Manion was the favorite in his match, not only because of his 8 to 1 victory over Evans yesterday, when he shot unbeatable golf, well under par, but because he has been scoring well all week including qualifying rounds of 71 and 73.

FAMOUS FOR QUALITY

McCloskey IS DADDY OF THE CATCHERS

NEWTON, Kas., July 25.—The man who introduced the padded mitt is still active in professional baseball—John J. McCloskey, now owner and manager of the Newton (Kas.) club of the Southwestern league. The "grand old man of the minors" has been in the game since 1887 and it keeps him young, though he's past 55.

He was born in Louisville in 1869 and won prominence as the "father of the Texas league," which he organized in 1888.

The years before he was catcher on the Houston Independents and it was that year he introduced the catcher's mitt, which at the time, brought down the wrath of the country. But in due time the padded mitt was generally adopted. Eventually it did much to speed up the game.

McCloskey organized the Union association and owned and managed the Butte team of that circuit. He has been connected at various times as player or manager with St. Joseph, Austin, Sacramento, Houston, Montgomery, Savannah, Louisville, Dallas, Great Falls, Tacoma, San Francisco, Vancouver, St. Louis and Milwaukee.

Truly he is one of the old war horses of the game—and he is still going strong.

This is a bad year for white Indians in America. . . . Look what a rough time Mr. Speaker's white Indians are having in the American league.

What boxing needs is someone, like Mr. Ford, to get the boys out of the clinches by Christmas.

WARE TEAM TOO GOOD FOR THE SILESIA

Harry Muldowney was meat for the Ware team at North Chelmsford last night, the Silesia Mills moundman being nipped for eight hits in five innings and giving the visitors an opportunity to win an early lead on Silesia, and later win by a 12 to 5 count. Silesia plays in Ware tomorrow afternoon and not in North Chelmsford as previously stated. The score:

BIG GAME HUNTING MAY BE BANNED

TUCSON, Ariz., July 25.—The American big game hunter may find himself barred from Mexico, it was stated by Ben Tinker, who guards Mexico's game by appointment of the Mexican government and is back at his home here.

Tinker said there was a growing sentiment in Mexico against foreign hunters. He attributed this to the slaughtering of deer and other game. He declared Mexican officials are determined to prevent Americans from enjoying the big game hunting afforded in the mountains and plains of the northwestern states. Tinker predicted that with the opening of the hunting season no hunters would be allowed to cross the border.

Big game has been diminishing rapidly in Mexico, Tinker said, and President Obregon has determined to put a stop to wanton and senseless destruction. A ten-year closed season on the horn and sheep was started more than a year ago. At the next session of the Mexican congress it is expected that a measure will be passed limiting the killing of all classes of game to a few months each year, with bag limits on deer, turkey and local birds.

SKELTON OF FAMOUS LOWELL JERSEY WILL BE MOUNTED IN SMITHSONIAN INSTITUTE

WASHINGTON, July 25.—When Massachusetts' famous Jersey cow, Sophie Nineteenth, of Blood farm, closed her career as an active producer of dairy products, her owner, Mrs. C. I. Blood of Lowell, preferred that instead of allowing her to be sold at auction and falling into unfeeling hands when the herd of which she was a member was dispersed a year ago in April, she should continue to add to the world's good through her contribution to scientific research and, accordingly, donated her to the United States department of agriculture.

On May 13 Sophie Nineteenth was received at the department experiment farm and on June 19 she was chloroformed and prepared for study. Outward measurements were made of her body while she was still alive; and afterward the size and weight of her various internal organs were secured. Her wonderful record in production of milk and butterfat over

NEW YORK, July 25.—Permission to board vessels of rum row to search for narcotics and aliens to be smuggled into the country will be sought by the agent of the treasury department, it was announced today, following the seizure of a letter on a prisoner, indicating their presence on vessels anchored off shore.

The letter, written by a man on one of the boats to Robert Wylie, 3 Clay-born St. Glasgow, Scotland, stated that aboard the boat and also that an airplane was making six trips daily from the fleet with illicit cargoes of liquor. The letter bearing this information fell into the hands of the officials through the capture of a power boat carrying 200 cases of liquor.

INDICT 36 ON RUM SMUGGLING CHARGE

TAMPA, Fla., July 25.—A federal grand jury returned indictments involving 36 persons from Jacksonville to Washington, including railroad officials, police officers, and government officials at the capital, on charges of liquor law violations. A capias for their arrest has been issued.

According to United States District Attorney Guber, the indictment breaks up a well organized gang, which he said had been responsible for a large part of Washington liquor supply. The liquor, it is said, was landed on the east of Florida and taken to Jacksonville, whence it was shipped into Washington in small case lots. It is alleged in the indictment that transportation by railroad was protected by police and government officials until arrival in the capital.

H. V. GREENE CO. IS BROUGHT TO COURT

BOSTON, July 25.—Shareholders of the H. V. Greene company and some of its subsidiaries filed a bill in equity in the state supreme court today, against Henry V. Greene and others connected with the management of the company, asking that they be ordered to refund the money paid by the plaintiffs for voting certificates and that a receiver be appointed to take charge of the funds of the various companies.

The bill alleges that the defendants conspired to defraud the plaintiffs, made large secret profits and illegally withdrew from the treasuries of the different organizations money belonging to the plaintiffs.

Greene was indicted two years ago on charges of larceny and conspiracy to steal, but the case has not come to trial. A year ago the supreme court dismissed a suit of shareholders to recover $4,000,000 from the Greene concerns.

STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, July 25.—Bar silver, 68; Mexican dollars, 52 1/2.

The main price tendency continued upward during the morning, with good buying power developing in rail, oil and public utility stocks. A brisk inquiry developed for the earlier shares, Pittsburgh and West Virginia extending its early gains to 3 points and Lackawanna and Lehigh Valley to 2 1/2 each. The Erie issues fell back on profit-taking, but most of the other coalters were strong. Steel shares were sluggish in reflection of the omission of the Bethlehem dividend. Bethlehem sold well above its low of 4 1/2 established last week. Higher commodity prices, reports of increased employment in the automobile centers and continued ease of money rates provided the ground work for the buying movement in the general list.

Call money opened at 2 per cent. 1:30 p. m.—Continuance of the recent remarkable exhibition of strength in shares which though ordinarily inactive have come into prominence in the market for new loans caused many advances of 2 to 5 points in the afternoon. The high priced coalters such as Delaware and Hudson and Jersey Central were buoyant, while Nickel Plate, Western Union, Standard Milling and Texas Gulf Sulphur also rose extensively.

Contrasting price movements took place at the opening of today's stock market. Omission of the quarterly dividend on Bethlehem common brought a flood of selling orders into the steel shares, crushing dropping a point and U. S. Steel common 1/2. The first sale of Bethlehem was 4500 shares at 42 1/2 against last night's close of 45. Oil and sugar were firm, but coppers were heavy. American Smelting dropping a point.

Bethlehem Steel rallied about a point from its low after the first batch of selling orders had been absorbed. Wilson Co. issues were in supply on reports that regularly received proceedings were to be instituted against that company, the common dropping 1 1/2 and the preferred 3/4. Realizing sales caused recessions of 2 1/2 in Union Tank Car and 1 1/2 in Pan American. Rails continued under accumulation, new 1924 highs being recorded by Lackawanna, Baltimore & Ohio, Pittsburgh and West Virginia, Chesapeake & Ohio preferred, Erie first preferred and Pere Marquette preferred. American Express and Famous Players also touched new tops. Public Utilities common preferred jumped 3 points and the common proved fractionally on a heavy turnover. Foreign exchanges opened steady.

The closing was irregular. Confused movements took place in the late trading. General Electric, Cabot Gas preferred and the chemicals and tobacco recording substantial gains while the steel and oil continued reactionary.

Apparently disregarding the omission of the dividend in Bethlehem common, speculators for the advance continued to bid up prices in today's stock market. Most of the eastern railroad shares touched new high prices for the year on gains of 1 to 4 points. Sales approximated 1,000,000 shares.

KILLS WIFE ON DAY OF TRIAL

Divorce Action Scheduled for Court Today Halted By Husband's Bullet

Turns Revolver on Himself With Fatal Results After Shooting Wife

WATERBURY, N. Y., July 25.—Henry Leroy Adams of this city today shot and killed his wife, Anna, and then shot himself through the heart, inflicting a fatal wound. The authorities were informed that Adams fired at his wife from a vantage point in the Seven Oaks Camp Prayer meeting grounds as she was waiting to take a trolley car to Troy and that he then pursued her to the home of Mrs. Marjorie Corcoran, where he shot her to death, through the door of a clothes closet in which the woman had taken refuge.

Mrs. Adams was on her way to visit a Troy attorney relative to obtaining a divorce when her husband fired upon her, the woman's friends said. The couple's domestic difficulties had been before courts several times, and the divorce case was expected to come up today.

Adams was a World War veteran who had been invalided in service and was still receiving government compensation.

After he had shot his wife, Adams turned his revolver upon Mrs. Corcoran, but she stepped behind his invalid mother and was spared.

EVERETT TRUE

WASHINGTON, July 25.—The committee which will have final authority in conducting the independent La Follette campaign for the presidency perfected its organization here today and tackled its first major problem.

Robert M. La Follette, Jr., chosen vice chairman of the committee, and Mrs. Edward J. of Colorado, secretary.

A canvass of the requirements of the various states as to ballot designations disclosed that the La Follette ticket in 20 states must be designated by some other name than "Independent." In these states, and all others where the election laws require adoption of a political designation, the uniform designation of "progressive" will be adopted.

In states where the names of the candidates for president and vice president do not appear on the ballot, the committee is to use the designation "La Follette-Whelan" or where two words cannot be used, the word "La Follette." Where an emblem is required, it was agreed, the Liberty bell will be used.

MOM'N POP

Jack Daw's Adventures. Chapter 5

After a few moments more, the little adventurer realized he had reached the level place. He put out his hands and feet and gradually brought himself to a stop. Then he stood up on the ice and, putting his hands to his mouth, called out loudly so the sailors would know where he was.

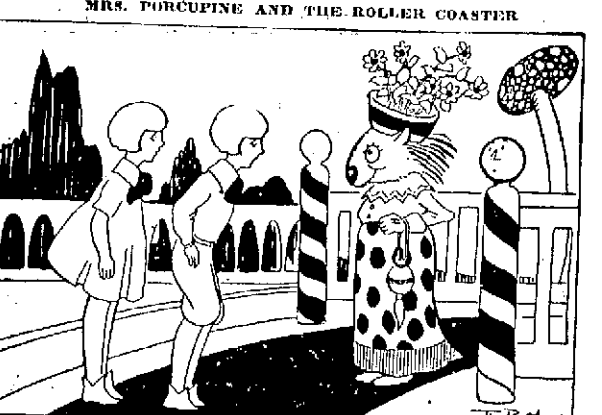

Jack waited but a short time when he heard a reply to his call. Then, very cautiously, the two rescuers appeared. They had long sticks with them and with these they had managed to stay on their feet. Jack was mighty glad to see these two members of the good ship "Betsy Claire."

"Well, sonny," said one of the men, "do you want to go right back to the ship, or would you rather explore around on the ice for a while?" "Oh," replied Jack, "let's look around and see if there are any polar bears here. I have heard that polar bears live wherever there are icebergs." (Continued.)

"HELLO, MRS. PORCUPINE," CALLED NICK

Mrs. Prickles Porcupine came to Happy Go Lucky Park one day all dressed up in her Sunday best. "Hello, Mrs. Porcupine," called Nick. "How nice you look!" "I should say so," remarked Nancy. "Why, I got it at the store," said Mrs. Porcupine modestly. "But really, I couldn't make up my mind whether to take it or not. Yellow never was becoming to me and these brown-eyed Susans on the hat make me look awful, I think." "Oh, no, they don't," said Nancy. "They look lovely on your straw hat. Really they look exactly as though they were growing right out of a flower pot." "Well, I'm glad of that," said Mrs. Porcupine. "I do hope it won't rain, for I came without an umbrella and I'd hate to get my best hat spoiled." "How do you do, Mrs. Porcupine," said Mister Zip, the fairyman. "Welcome to Happy Go Lucky Park. We haven't seen you here much." "No, this is my first visit," said Mrs. Porcupine, looking around. "I didn't want to come until I got my new hat. I just got it this morning." At that Mister Zip said how becoming it was "I do hope she had added to herself, "I do hope she

IDENTITY OF CORPSE PUZZLES POLICE OF THREE CITIES

All Ready for Burial as Herman Peterson When Herman Advises Family Over Phone That He Can't Attend the Scheduled Funeral

CHICAGO, July 25.—Police of Chicago, Cleveland and New York are endeavoring to identify the body of a man, sent Tuesday to New York by Charles Peterson, chief petty officer at the Great Lakes Naval Training station, who thought it was his brother Herman, since found here alive and well.

Last Sunday, Charles Peterson was notified by telephone from Cleveland that his brother Herman was dead and the body was being sent to Chicago. When the coffin arrived he recognized it to his parents in New York, where it arrived yesterday.

The relatives were about to remove it from the station when a young woman, cousin of the supposedly dead Herman, telephoned a hotel here, where Herman and a vaudeville partner were registered to inquire regarding the manner of Herman's death. Herman himself answered the call. One theory of police working on the mystery is that the body is that of a highwayman who held up Herman several months ago in Cleveland and took from him a letter written to him by his brother at the naval training station. They believe that the body was erroneously identified through the stolen letter.

WAS BURNED TO DEATH

Edward Cunningham Pinned Between Trap Door and Heavy Beam

Was Employed as Clerk in Near-Beer Establishment in Bridge Street

Edward Cunningham, 30, of 182 Chapel street, was burned to death in a fire last night in the near-beer establishment at the corner of Bridge and French streets, for many years known as the Andrew F. Roach saloon. Firemen found Cunningham pinned between a trap door and a heavy ceiling beam in the cellar and while death may have been due to suffocation, his body was badly burned when extricated.

Cunningham was employed as a clerk in the establishment. What led him to go to the cellar when fire was discovered is not known and no explanation could be given of why he should have been astride a ceiling beam several feet above the floor level. His body was so tightly wedged in the narrow space that firemen were forced to chop away considerable woodwork before being able to take it out. The trap door was resting on his back and he was lying prone on the beam with his legs hanging down on either side.

Although the fire was discovered at 8:15 o'clock, it was three-quarters of an hour later that Cunningham's body was removed from the building and was taken in charge by undertakers James F. O'Donnell & Sons.

While the fire burned fiercely in the basement and threw off heavy clouds of smoke, it soon was washed out by hose lines. Persons in the saloon discovered the fire when smoke was seen seeping up through cracks in the plank on the main floor. An alarm from Box 26 was turned in by Patrolman Owen S. Conway.

The victim of the tragedy had been a resident of Lowell for the past 13 years and was much respected by those with whom he came in contact. He leaves a wife, Helen (Moran) Cunningham; his parents, Bernard and Margaret (Nicholl) Cunningham; four brothers, Henry of Lowell, John of New York, Patrick of New York and Bernard of Lowell; two sisters, Mrs. John Brian of Boston and Miss Mary Cunningham in Ireland. Deceased was a member of Lowell Aerie of Eagles and Div. 8, A.O.H. The body will be taken to his home, 132 Chapel street, by undertakers James F. O'Donnell & Sons.

SUPERINTENDENT WILL GET PAY INCREASE

The salary increase of $1000 a year, voted Superintendent Hugh J. Molloy at a meeting of the school committee Wednesday evening, is legal and went into effect at that meeting despite Committee member Thomas B. Delaney's notice to ask reconsideration, according to men who have studied the present committee rules of procedure.

Their belief is based on Part 4 of Section 4 of the rules adopted only recently which reads as follows: "When a question has been decided, any member voting in the majority may move reconsideration at the same meeting, and any members voting in the minority may at the next meeting. Such notice on a given question shall be in order only at the meeting at which the question was first decided."

Delaney was among the members who voted in favor of the increase Wednesday evening and immediately gave notice that he would ask reconsideration at the next meeting.

From the above rule it is seen that the only way he could secure reconsideration would be to ask for it at the same meeting at which the question was first decided.

Following the vote Wednesday evening Superintendent Molloy said the increase was legal and he would collect it, regardless of the motion to reconsider, and it is believed it was on the above rule that he based his decision.

As the city solicitor was not in his office, no opinion could be had from him concerning the question but attorneys cognizant with the rules of the department believe his decision will be in favor of the superintendent.

PUBLIC SERVICE BOARD

Busy Meeting Held Yesterday—Much Routine Business Transacted

Board Takes Vote on Gorham & Street Paving—Middlesex Street Work

The public service board, at a meeting yesterday afternoon, voted unanimously to have the section of upper Gorham street from Cosgrove street to the city line, paved between the car tracks as well as from the car tracks to the gutters, as previously voted.

At the present time a street department crew is working on this street and residents of the district have opposed the proposition of only paving the part of the street outside the car tracks. At yesterday's meeting, Councilor Thomas McFadden brought the matter to the attention of the board and on motion of Chairman Denis J. Murphy it was voted unanimously to do the whole width of the street.

It was also voted that the section of Middlesex street used as a detour by Lowell-North Chelmsford traffic, be patched and oiled. This matter has been before the board several times, proponents of the plan, residents of the section claiming that their houses are filled with dust from the street.

The meeting was long and a considerable amount of routine business was transacted. Chairman Murphy called the meeting to order at 4:10 o'clock, all members being present.

Several requests for abatement of water bills were made and taken under advisement.

C. L. Cushing appeared before the board in connection with a request by Middlesex street residents for repair and oiling of the upper part of the street. The board voted that the section in question be patched and oiled at once.

Supt. Moynahan of the lands and buildings department requested the street department be instructed to lay edgelines about the Oaklands firehouse, his department to pay for such work. This was voted.

Councilor McFadden asked that the section of Gorham street from Cosgrove to the city line be related between the rails as well as from the rails to the gutters. On motion of Chairman Murphy, the board voted to have this work done.

Edward W. Trull asked that a light be installed in Arbor road and that the road be accepted. The matter was referred for view and survey.

A salary increase for James McGreevey, an engineer working as fireman at the West Sixth street pumping station was requested by Michael Ready, representing the steam and operating engineers' local. McGreevey is receiving $32.50 and asks for the union wage for firemen, $35. The matter was taken under advisement.

A number of light and pole petitions were read and disposed of. Among the light petitions favored was one requesting that type A white lights be installed in Middle street and in Market street from Central street to Cardinal O'Connell parkway.

A report on the Lowell Electric Light corporation's work in preparing to change over the lights on main arteries from incandescents to type B white was submitted by City Engineer Kearney and he was instructed to go ahead with the work.

A communication from Theodore Parker asking for the repair of Chestnut street from Nesmith to Park streets was referred to the superintendent of streets. A similar request concerning Whitney avenue, from E. L. Kimball, was also referred to the superintendent.

A communication from Councilor Arthur Gernest concerning lights in Pawtucketville was received and acted upon favorably.

The board found fault with the method of removal of snow from the downtown streets, especially Central street, and requested the superintendent of streets to have the matter remedied.

The board favored going ahead slowly in regard to granting a contract for a 34 ton truck for the water department, for which bids were opened yesterday. It was voted to ask the purchasing agent to make no award until the board considers the bids and makes a recommendation.

Adjourned at 8:20 to next Thursday afternoon at 1:45 o'clock.

Saved From Drowning

ventured out in the stream and walking behind a large rock slipped into a "man-hole" which is about ten feet deep. She immediately disappeared. None on the shore noticed her plight because of the rock that obstructed the view of the river at that point.

Young Connolly was swimming far out in the stream with a smaller companion when he noticed the disappearance of the girl. Shouting for help and commanding his friend to go for assistance he swam with all speed to the spot where he had seen the girl go under. The water had closed over her head and she was not to be seen. Without a moment's hesitation Martin dove and found the girl resting on the bottom of the river in 10 feet of water. Although the young lady is three inches taller and several pounds heavier than himself, the boy seized her by the shoulder and fought valiantly to get her to the surface. Miss Gargan, who was half conscious, made no struggle, but allowed her rescuer to bend all his efforts toward reaching safely.

As soon as his head broke water, Connolly called desperately for help. He was almost spent.

The shallows of the river were thronged with bathers, but none dared to go to the couple's assistance. Frank Evans, of 20 Saratoga street, was sitting on the bank when he heard the cry for help. Kicking off his shoes, but otherwise fully clothed, he dove into the water. Mr. Evans is an experienced swimmer and he reached the boy and girl when they were half-way ashore. He bore the girl to the bank, while young Connolly came in unassisted.

Under the direction of Mr. Evans the girl's lungs were emptied of water and in a short time she was able to proceed to her home. This morning when interviewed by a Sun reporter, she declared that she suffered no ill-effects from her narrow escape. Miss Gargan said that she had a rather hazy remembrance of stepping into a hole and of someone diving after her. She did not know who it was that had saved her for she remembered nothing from the time that young Connolly seized her shoulder until she opened her eyes and found herself stretched on the bank with somebody working over her.

When the Sun reporter visited the Connolly residence this morning it was the first that any of the family knew that young Martin had played the role of hero. Mrs. Connolly was in complete ignorance of the fact, and it was not until Martin was questioned that she learned of it.

Martin Connolly is 14 years of age and weighs about 110 pounds. He is a member of the O.M.L. Cadets of the Sacred Heart church and a pupil of the Sacred Heart parochial school. He declared that he had been the only one about, except his young swimming companion and he allowed it was up to him to save the girl.

Mr. Evans disclaimed all credit for the rescue, attributing everything to the heroism and ability of Martin Connolly.

"I had nothing to do with the rescue," he said. "I simply carried the girl ashore. The boy deserves all honor because he saw her go down, dove after her and brought her to the surface. If it hadn't been for him, she would have drowned surely. Don't mention me at all."

Speculators are urging that young Connolly be awarded a medal for heroism. All are loud in their praise of the coolness and courage of the young cadet.

near me to go over to the other side of the deck. I stepped back and then the crash came. It was not a terrific impact, but more in the nature of a muffled crash, a grinding, dull thud.

"Orders began to issue immediately and everyone went to work. Almost at once the ship began to list perceptibly to port and the engine room was flooded. Our lights did not go out until about 40 minutes later."

Asked whether most of the passengers were in bed at the time, Mr. Lawson said quite a few were still up, but that the majority had retired. When they appeared, ready to take to the boats, practically everyone was dressed.

"I heard of one man who was running around in a suit of pajamas, but I did not see him," he said.

"As I said before, the boats were lowered at once and as far as I know, and personally I inspected six of them, they all were in perfect condition, with sea cocks or plugs in place."

"On a dark, foggy night, in such an emergency, some persons will show signs of nervousness and hysteria, but there were no marked cases and the passengers and crew both handled themselves admirably."

"Once a decided list to port was apparent, a heavy consignment of pig iron in the hole was moved over to the starboard side and later as much of the cargo as possible was moved to correct the list."

"The Swift Arrow, with a big slit in her bow, backed away from us and stood by and eventually took our passengers. Some later were transferred to other ships as we already know. The New York, our sister ship, had passed us earlier in the evening, Boston-bound, but on receiving our radio calls for help turned around and sped back to us at an average speed of close to 22 knots an hour, better than her trials last June. I think the New York and the Princeton, the latter of the Fall River line, were the first ships to reach us after the crash, but all our passengers had been transferred before they arrived alongside."

"There is not much more I can say about it. The Boston will be towed from Newport to New York tomorrow and ought to be back in service before the end of the season. Once they get her in drydock they will make short work of her repairs."

"How far did the Swift Arrow plough through us? About one-quarter of the way through and almost exactly at midships. The Swift Arrow was heavy and had a tremendous amount of forward momentum despite the fact that her skipper reversed his engines when he saw us ahead of him."

"Our watertight compartments undoubtedly kept us afloat and at no time after the crash was the Boston in any danger of going down."

Mr. Lawson has been transferred as purser of the Calvin Austin which will take the place of the Boston on the New York run until the latter is ready for service again. He made his first trip on her last night and will go back to New York tonight at 5 o'clock.

of about 25 hundred feet, an elephant of sausage observation balloon drifted over this city just before 8 o'clock this morning. It was moving in a direction well north of east and disappeared in the haze to the eastward about 8:20.

Observation through glasses failed to show signs of life, although the rigging under the balloon and the observers' basket were clearly visible. The balloon did not appear to be losing any altitude.

Its flight was steady.

The Saltona coast guard reports the lost balloon going northeastward out to sea. It passed to the northeast of Nantuxet Ledge at an altitude of about 2000 feet. She was marked "U. S. Navy" but no other distinguishing marks could be observed. The mooring cable, basket ladder and other rigging were hanging down, but no signs of life on board were observable.

LAKEHURST, July 25.—Naval air station officers said today that the drifting balloon which went out to sea at Saltona, Mass., doubtless was the observation craft which broke away from early today, while unoccupied. The craft was trailing about 1500 feet of rope when it disappeared into the darkness and bore the identification "U. S. Navy."

The craft was 150 feet long and valued at about $50,000.

Percy Van de Bokart, a clerk in the drug store where two telephone calls were received May 25, asking for Mr. Franks' father of the victim, told of that incident, which was part of the attempt to collect ransom from Franks senior.

Howard Mayer, a university of Chicago newspaper correspondent, testified he had known Leopold for a year.

"I was to pick up whatever I could on the Franks case," said Mayer. "I met Richard Loeb on the campus, and we talked about the case."

Mayer said he and Loeb found a porter who remembered the drugstore call for Mr. Franks. "There I told you we could find this. Now you have a scoop!" Mayer testified Loeb said.

Mayer said he explained this would not be ethical and they called the others in, questioned the clerk and porter and telephoned the stories to their newspapers.

Thomas L. Chadbourne, New York Lawyer, Maine Visitor—Former Mayor Peters of Boston Gives Candidate First-Hand Information on Police Strike

DARK HARBOR, Islesboro, Me., July 25.—John W. Davis, democratic presidential nominee, had an engagement today to confer with Thomas L. Chadbourne, New York lawyer, who was one of the principal backers of William Gibbs McAdoo for the nomination at the New York convention.

Mr. Chadbourne, who is visiting at Bar Harbor, 50 miles away, told Mr.

Davis that he would arrive at the Gibsons home on Seven Hundred Acres Island early in the day. It was understood that one purpose of his call was to move his personal assurance of support of the national ticket.

Although Mr. Davis has made no political engagements since he arrived here last Saturday for a two weeks' stay, he is expected to leave for New York Saturday.

Government Communique Asserts Federal Troops Are Improving Position

SANTOS, Brazil, July 25.—An official government communique issued last evening says:

"Since yesterday our left wing has made an appreciable advance, taking many prisoners. Advantageous positions at Villar Mariana and Pariso have been occupied. Our artillery, preparing for infantry action, dislodged redoubts of the rebels who are losing ground."

An officer told of the defendants leading a searching squad to Heaverville, Ind., where shoes, belt, buckle and class pin, all previously identified by the parents as the belongings of Robert, were found.

Fourteen state witnesses were examined at the morning session, bringing to 61 the total called in two days and a half of court procedure.

They moved so rapidly through the witness stand that luncheon hours came half an hour ahead of schedule to permit the state to prepare more witnesses for the afternoon session.

James Mulroy, another reporter for the Daily News, told how Loeb had introduced the subject of the Franks case and offered to get Mayer and his car for the trip to the drug store.

"Dick and Howard went into the store," said Mulroy, "Alvin and I were arguing over some theory in the case and Loeb came running out. When I started to telephone the office, Loeb said 'Don't use my name.'"

PLAN BEST OUTING EVER

Lowell Advertising Club Holds Meeting to Discuss Annual Outing

William H. Bruce is Named Chairman of the General Committee

Lowell Advertising club members, inspired by the success of two previous outings—1923 and 1922—met today in Cole's Inn to perfect plans for the current season's affair, which will be held at Willow Dale on Sept. 25. Last year, the outing was held at Merrimack park and proved one of the gala events in the history of local organizations.

William H. Bruce has been named chairman of the general committee and has resolved to give his colleagues "the time of their lives."

With the assistance of an enthusiastic group of co-workers, the chairman has tackled the job in earnest and looks forward to a memorable event. Other members of the general committee include, Fred Nevery, J. P. Meaney, Miss Irene Matthews, William C. Carter, Edward Braverman, J. T. Tounisment, Edward Cooney, Ralph Smith, John Moloney, Dr. Charles L. Sweetser, Frank Ricard, Arthur Picard, Lewis Balfe and Thomas A. Atkinson, the latter being president of the organization.

Considerable outing business was transacted at today's special committee meeting. Announcement was made that tickets would sell for $2.50 each and that they will be on sale shortly in the following establishments:

F. W. Webb Co., Palmer and Middle streets; John Moloney, Bristol, Prescott street; Lowell Sunday Telegram, Central street; A. J. Roux, Market street, and Tower's Corner Auto Supply shop. Mr. J. P. Meaney was named chairman of the ticket committee. The prize committee consists of John Moloney and Frank Ricard; transportation, Ralph J. Tounisment; refreshments, Edward Braverman; sports, Ralph Smith; dinner, Dr. Sweetser; program, Edward J. Cooney; public relations, Balfe. The official announcer will be William Carter.

Chairman Bruce read a letter from the Lowell Driving and Agricultural Club, Inc., congratulating the Ad club for its decision to postpone the date of its outing so as not to conflict with the Lowell fair, scheduled to begin on Sept. 11. The Ad club had originally decided to conduct its outing on that day, but acquiesced to the driving club's wishes when the conflict became known.

Judging by the interest already manifested in this year's Ad club outing, it will eclipse the many stellar functions accredited to this organization in the past. While many matters yet remain to be completed, the preliminary spirit exemplified augurs well for success. Willow Dale, with its many convenient amusements, including a spacious and comfortable grove, art-class restaurant, dancing pavilion, swimming place, athletic field and several other features, should witness its biggest 1924 event on Sept. 25 next.

WATER CONSUMPTION REACHES NEW LEVEL

Water consumption in this city reached a new high level yesterday when a total of 7,700,000 gallons was recorded as passing through the city's mains. The average consumption is six million gallons, the amount varying slightly according to weather conditions.

The reason for the increase was the extreme heat, for in many houses the water was allowed to run steadily all day so that residents might have a cool drink when they pleased. A large amount was also used watering down property adjoining houses in an attempt to defeat the heat wave.

While the amount consumed yesterday is way above the average, there is no danger of a water shortage even if similar amounts were drawn for several days. Supt. Gardner has great faith in the city's sources of water supply and believes there is plenty of water to serve the city's needs for a long time to come.
